HOUSE MEETS FIERY END

A two-story frame cottage goes up in flames in San Anselmo, killing two dogs and leaving only four walls standing. Mrs. Stanley Williams, who said she and her husband had rented the cottage about a month from Grant Perkins of San Anselmo, reported a cat also missing. Mrs. Williams was returning from her teaching job at Indian Valley Colleges at 10:25 a.m. today even as three fire trucks were responding to the blaze at 75 Essex Avenue. Cause of the fire was not known but she said she thought it might have been started by the furnace. No damage estimate was available, but she reported many antiques destroyed. Fire hose laid across Red Hill Boulevard forced rerouting traffic and tied up traffic along the Miracle Mile all the way to Alexander Avenue in San Rafael.

Unseen Downtown Plan Will Be Unveiled Soon

By REBECCA LARSEN

A massive development plan for downtown Tiburon, which supposedly is a mirror image of a downtown plan approved by the city in 1970, is to be unveiled soon by a subsidiary of Southern Pacific Railroad.

But without even having seen the plan, a group of citizens is organizing to oppose the proposal for the 36 acres which the railroad holds in the city's downtown area. Opponents argue that the plan was prepared in a secretive manner. They also say they are not sure the city's downtown plan prepared three years ago is still acceptable to residents.

Both the city's downtown plan and the railroad company's plan were prepared by the same man, Tiburon architect Philip K. Buskirk.

The project is tentatively set to be aired before the planning commission on Oct. 24 by Sequoia Pacific of Santa Ana, Orange County.

According to Mayor Branwell D. Fanning, "the plan follows the general form which the city presented to Sequoia Pacific but with a few refinements."

Fanning said the developer, the planner and the city council have cooperated in development of the plans over the past year, during which he and Councilman Allan N. Littman, representing the council, have been in regular touch with all parties.

Neither the mayor nor anyone else connected with the project will report details. The architect for the project, Philip K. Buskirk has refused to comment, and representatives of the developer also have told Buskirk they do not wish to reveal their plans.

If, as Fanning says, the proposal follows the city's adopted downtown plan, it possibly will include:

1. A developed harbor area with boat yard, shops, a marine railroad museum and a restaurant.
2. An inn-conference center

Ban On New Parking Lots Sought By Federal Agency

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A ban on virtually all new parking facilities has been proposed by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Parking could be built or expanded with a permit from the agency, but its proposed regulation automatically bars a permit for parking which would increase motor vehicle use in areas which fail to meet all federal air quality standards. (Another air pollution control story, page 9.)

This means no new parking could be built in most metropolitan regions, including most of the Bay Area — which does not conform to the all federal air standards.

The unnoticed proposal, part of a far-reaching EPA regulation to take effect on Oct. 15 and be retroactive to Aug. 15, was disclosed yesterday by the attorney for the Air Pollution Control District, David Self. He said he learned of it thorugh an attorney for a worried developer.

The EPA issued the proposal on July 16 as part of its announced plan to restrict use of motor vehicles. The regulation, which could be modified by the time it is issued formally, cuts motorists' mileage by 20 per cent by 1977, cuts off two-thirds of gas sales during peak smog periods, limits the number of all types of motorcycles to the number registered in 1973, and bans use of two-stroke motorcycles during daylight hours from May through October.

It also calls for making commuting by car far more expensive and inconvenient by improving transit and cutting back public parking by 20 per cent. This is separate from the proposal to prevent new parking facilities.

Self said the regulation could extend even to a garage for a single-family home, as well as to all commercial and apartment parking.

He noted the EPA regulation was proposed under an order issued by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals in a suit against the EPA by the Resources Defense Council.

Self said the regulation would allow the agency to designate the state or district to handle permits for parking facilities.

The district's air pollution control officer, D. J. Callaghan, pointed out that local government ordinances require parking for all commercial or residential projects, thus the proposed regulation could halt virtually all new construction.

The regulation also requires applicants for permits to predict areas from which people will be drawn to their parking facilities. Such predictions must include data on the availability of public transit from such areas.

It also requires public hearings on every permit, unless no one asks to participate in a hearing more than a week before it is scheduled.

Drop In Wholesale Food Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices for major food products dropped by 6 per cent in September and the overall index went down by 1.8 per cent, the greatest monthly drop in more than a quarter century, the government reported today.

Food industry spokesmen expressed hope the substantial decline at the wholesale level might be reflected in the retail prices for consumers in a short time.

Although the September decline for farm products was the sharpest since February, 1948, it did not come anywhere close to offsetting a record high increase of 23.1 per cent in August.

Similarly, economists noted that the September drop in overall wholesale prices compared to a 5.8 per cent increase in August, the steepest climb since 1946.

The administration expressed high gratification at the new report. Herbert Stein, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said the decline was "a welcome sign that the worst of the 1973 big surge of inflation is behind us."

The declines in food prices were led by drops of 16 per cent for live poultry, 14.8 per cent for livestock, 13.5 per cent for processed poultry and 13.1 per cent for grains.

In addition, fresh and dried vegetables fell 12.9 per cent while there were declines of 8.6 per cent for eggs, almost 5.5 per cent for meats and 0.2 per cent for fresh fruits.

On the other hand, milk prices increased 10.7 per cent, cereal and bakery product prices went up 8.4 per cent and sugar and confectionery prices rose 0.9 per cent.

John Trotman, president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, cited a 30 per cent drop in beef prices on wholesale markets and said if packers, wholesalers and retailers pass on the lower prices, consumers may see their meat bills go down soon.

Gordon Van Vleck, first vice president of the association, predicted beef prices might drop by 10 cents a pound or more by the end of the year. Both cautioned that the price levels would rise again at the outset of next year because of normally anticipated market shortages.

The government report showed that wholesale prices for processed foods and feeds fell 6 per cent in September—an all time record for any month—after a record 13.4 per cent jump in August.

The report of lower wholesale prices, with their prospects of dropping consumer prices or at least preventing higher retail prices, was welcome news to consumers.

Tapes Said Nixon Innocence Key

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Watergate committee argued today that a "prima facie case" involving the "possible criminality of the President" has been made at its hearings and could be resolved only through release of presidential tape recordings.

Lawyers for President Nixon refused to respond to that argument, asking U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica instead to uphold what they called the historic view that presidents may not be compelled to surrender anything to Congress.

Sirica ruled previously in a similar suit involving special prosecutor Archibald Cox that Nixon should turn over the tapes to him for review. The White House refused and the case is now before an appeals court.

After hearing final arguments from the Senate committee and Nixon's lawyers, Sirica took the second case under advisement this afternoon. He did not indicate when he would rule.

No matter how he rules, the case—like the Cox case—is bound to wind up in the Supreme Court.

Samuel Dash, chief counsel of the Watergate committee, argued:

"Here we have a unique situation...This is the first case in which the President himself may be involved.

Nixon Sets Long Florida Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon arranged to fly to Key Biscayne, Fla., today for a long weekend of relaxation and some work on his legislative program.

Before departing, Nixon met with his Cabinet and covered a number of subjects in an "open agenda." Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson were on hand.

Grand Jury Indicts Successor To Agnew For Evading Taxes

BALTIMORE (UPI) —The federal grand jury investigating Vice President Spiro T. Agnew today indicted N. Dale Anderson, his Democratic successor as Baltimore County executive, on four counts charging evasion of $67,832 in federal income taxes.

The grand jury had indicted Anderson Aug. 23 on 39 counts involving charges of extortion, bribery and conspiracy. Anderson, who pleaded innocent, is scheduled to go on trial Jan. 7.

A new indictment incorporating the previous counts was returned as the grand jurors heard 45 minutes of testimony from Joel Kline, a land developer who allegedly funneled up to $100,000 to Maryland government officials including Agnew, who was governor from 1967 to 1969.

Kline's lawyer, former U.S. Attorney Stephen Sachs, told reporters the 34-year-old developer from Chevy Chase, Md., a Washington suburb, answered all the jurors' questions. He refused to say what the questioning concerned.

The new indictment against Anderson alleged that he actually received $241,057 in income in the four years 1969 through 1972, but reported only $110,572 on his federal income tax return.

The original indictment charged that Anderson received $46,420 in kickbacks from architectural and engineering firms in Maryland.

The Washington Star-News reported last month that Kline told federal prosecutors he served as a conduit for cash payments to Maryland officials, including Agnew. Unlike four of the five witnesses who testified yesterday, Kline was not granted immunity from prosecution to induce him to testify.

Another witness summoned to testify today was Ormsby "Dutch" Moore, who served as Agnew's executive secretary when Agnew was Baltimore County executive from 1962 to 1966.

The grand jury, which began hearing evidence involving the vice president last Thursday, has been meeting since January investigating allegations of kickbacks to state officials from architectural and engineering consultant firms in exchange for contract awards. Agnew was informed Aug. 2 that he was under criminal investigation for possible tax, bribery, extortion and conspiracy violations.

Kline was named in an involuntary bankruptcy suit filed in U.S. District Court here last month by creditors seeking $50,000. The Star-News quoted one source as saying Kline's financial empire "collapsed with his criminal troubles."

Bathurst Assistant Is Selected Manager

Harlan Barry, Larkspur assistant city manager, was promoted last night by the Larkspur City Council to succeed City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst when the latter's resignation takes effect in March 1974. (Another Larkspur City Council story, page 6.)

Until last night selection of a city manager required advertising a vacancy and interviewing candidates.

Councilmen told Barry he will receive no more than a $100 raise on his $1,475 monthly salary and nothing will be done at this time to name a new assistant city manager.

The ordinance change — first introduced a few weeks ago — to allow direct promotion was on the council's written agenda but appointing Barry was a last-minute agenda addition by Councilman Neil R. Brixon.

"We would be foolish now to tell him (Barry) he would have to apply with 38 others," said Brixon.

Ronald L. Hilty of 441 Holcomb Avenue warned the council that it might set a precedent with the promotion but he said he thought Barry was a good man for the job.

HARLAN BARRY
Next city manager

Barry was hired in March 1970 as administrative assistant to Bathurst and was promoted to assistant city manager by the council in June 1972.

Bathurst indicated in June he would leave his $22,601 a year job because of "a very good opportunity in a private business" which he declined to outline. He became city manager in 1966.

Eban Decries The Closure Of Transit Camp For Jews

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel told the United Nations yesterday "the world stands with bowed head" because of Austria's decision to close a way station for Soviet Jews emigrating to Israel.

President Nixon said in Washington he hoped Austria would reconsider the move and not bow to "blackmail by terrorist groups." But in Vienna, Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky refused to budge "no matter who demands it."

Kreisky pledged Friday to close the Schoenau Castle transit camp near Vienna as the price for the release of three Soviet Jews and an Austrian official taken hostage by Arab gunmen.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban went before the U.N. General Assembly yesterday to brand the two Arabs "brutal gangsters" and said Kreisky's decision to meet their demands "has a terrifying meaning."

"The world stands with bowed head," Eban said. "What is the future of a world in which two pirates and criminals can bring a proud nation to the acceptance of their terms?"

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir met with Kreisky in Vienna Tuesday in an abortive attempt to get him to change his mind. The Austrian leader agreed, however, to let the camp stay open if the United Nations took command of the facility.

ABBA EBAN
Addresses U.N.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim rejected the plan yesterday saying the Jews were not refugees and failed to fall under U.N. jurisdiction.

Nixon told a news conference he hoped Kreisky "would reconsider his decision. We simply cannot have countries— small or large—give in to blackmail by terrorist groups."

The camp, meanwhile, was still processing Jews and Kreisky would not say when it would be closed.

"I will not cancel my government's decision, no matter who demands it, from the President of the United States on down," Kreisky said yesterday.

He said the camp was "an absolute security risk," his gendarmes had discovered several recent Arab plots against it and he would have taken the decision sooner or later anyway.

In Jerusalem, a communique issued following a three-hour cabinet session headed by Mrs. Meir said Kreisky's explanation for closing the camp was unsatisfactory.

"The cabinet is of the opinion that the explanations offered by the chancellor of Austria concerning his government's decision...do nothing to correct the injustice that has been wrought," the communique said.

Baboon Escapes For A Short Freedom Romp

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (UPI) — A 65-pound baboon led Friendship Airport workers on a frenzied chase yesterday when it escaped from a cage for a brief period of freedom.

Officials said the baboon bolted from his cage at the airport freight area where he was awaiting shipment to Johns Hopkins Hospital. Authorities in New York had sent the animal for a research project.

No one was injured in the incident, though scores of frightened air travelers scurried to nearby phone booths and washrooms as the monkey charged by.

The beast was finally cornered after it ducked into an airport ladies room.

Once cornered, the animal was administered a tranquilizing drug and returned to its cage.

Two U.N. Diplomats Engage In A Shouting And Shoving Match

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — U.N. diplomats, shouting "fool" and "liar," engaged in an undiplomatic shoving match yesterday on the General Assembly floor over a Soviet appeal for the life of a Communist leader imprisoned in Chile.

The fracas erupted when Soviet Ambassador Yakov A. Malik asked U.N. officials to intercede with Chile's military junta to prevent the execution of Luis Corvalan, head of the Chilean Communist party.

As soon as Malik made the appeal, Chilean Ambassador Raul Bazan approached the dais with an objection. Malik cut him off, contending Bazan was not, as the rules require, confining himself to a point of order.

Saudi Arabian Ambassador Jamil M. Baroody, who has a long reputation of moving into such situations, then asked the assembly to drop the dispute without hearing the 10 Soviet bloc speakers before the Chilean's turn came.

Bazan stood at the side of the rostrum while Baroody talked. When the Saudi Arabian referred to conditions in Chile after the coup, Bazan was heard to say, "Fool!"

Baroody, who is over 70, pushed his way over to Bazan at the side of the speakers' stand and, thrusting his body toward the younger man, vigorously shook his finger at him.

"Say you apologize," Baroody said. "Nobody has ever called me a fool."

"You are a liar," Bazan retorted.

Then the shoving started and F. Bradford Morse, the U.S. undersecretary of state in charge of General Assembly affairs, left his seat on the high dais to intercede, acting like a boxing referee.

BART Planning To Reduce Staff

OAKLAND (UPI) —The Bay Area Rapid Transit District plans to act on a consultant's recommendations and eliminate 176 projected staff positions by Jan. 1, 1975.

A BART spokesman said yesterday that the reduction and another recommending that another 143 people not be hired over a five-year period would save the railway $2 million annually.

The $72,000 study by Arthur D. Little, Inc. recommended that the projected staff of 2,199 be cut to 1,943 by 1976 and once the system is in full operation, pared to 1,800.

Reagan Compares Self To Scarlet

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan has compared his present noncommittal attitude about running for President in 1976 to Scarlet O'Hara's continual procrastination in "Gone With the Wind."

Reagan was asked yesterday during a question-and-answer session with a group of high school students: "Are you going to run for President?"

"I don't even want to think about it," the governor replied. "I know a lot of people are talking about it. I'm a little like Scarlet O'Hara — "I'll think about it later on.'"

Motorcycle Stolen

A 1972 blue Suzuki motorcycle, license number 4F9933, was taken from the 1300 block of San Anselmo Avenue at 1:50 a.m. today, owner Robert W. Lawson of 72 Oak Springs Drive, San Anselmo, told officers.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Fierce Battle

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese troops, backed by big artillery guns, killed 80 Communists in a fierce battle at the edge of the Mekong Delta close to the Cambodian border, it was reported today.

The military command said government soldiers captured 13 Communists in the clash yesterday eight miles south of the Cambodian Parrot's Beak region, which juts into South Vietnam.

A government spokesman said the Communists started the battle by launching an intensive attack against a South Vietnamese outpost near Kien Binh, 105 miles southwest of Saigon.

476 Deaths

SANTIAGO (UPI) — The ruling military junta said yesterday 476 persons have been shot to death in Chile since the armed forces overthrew the late Marxist President Salvador Allende three weeks ago.

The four-man junta released the casualty figures in an apparent attempt to counter reports published abroad of thousands killed in the aftermath of the Sept. 11 coup.

Desertions

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — The Cambodian army was reported plagued today by desertions as Communist forces tightened their squeeze on Phnom Penh with a series of actions near the suburbs. President Lon Nol appealed for volunteers to bolster the capital's defenses.

Col. Hang Yive, governor of Kompon Tralach province, said he has issued orders to military police manning barricades behind government lines along Highway 5, 27 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, to shoot deserters who refuse to return to their posts.

Feels Inflation

ROME (UPI) — Severe inflation has forced a U.N. food agency for the first time to drop plans for new aid programs to poor and disaster-stricken countries.

Francisco Aquino, executive director of the World Food Program (WFP), said yesterday spiraling prices have sliced the agency's purchasing power in half.

He said the agency will not submit new aid projects for the first time since it was founded and will have to cutback some existing programs.

Gas Well Capped

NEW NORWAY, Alta. (UPI) — Gas company experts today said they capped a runaway natural gas well that spewed out deadly hydrogen-sulfide fumes and forced 500 persons to flee their homes.

A spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said there was no danger of the well re-erupting and added, "Everything's safe now."

To Destroy Gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All 2,250 tons of lethal nerve gas stockpiled at Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Denver will be destroyed, says Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway.

His announcement yesterday followed by two weeks an Army declaration that it will produce a new type of nerve gas in Arkansas, composed of two relatively harmless chemicals that become lethal only when they are mixed together on the battlefield.

The gas stored in Denver is lethal, although about 15 per cent of the 21,000 containers have leaked, none of the gas has been exposed to the air, the Pentagon said.

Attack Near?

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — Syria's state-run news media said today that Israel is planning a large-scale attack and Syria is ready to repel it.

Damascus Radio and newspapers referred for the first time to reports that have appeared in the Beirut press over the past 10 days of an Israeli troop buildup in the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights.

Death Toll Rises

BELFAST (UPI) — Militants killed a mailman and a soldier yesterday in a wave of Northern Ireland shootings, bombings and arson attacks that spilled over into the early hours today.

Gunmen murdered the mailman as he made his rounds in Lurgan, 17 miles southwest of Belfast, and the army said the soldier died when he apparently opened a parcel bomb at his Londonderry barracks.

The deaths raised to 890 the number of persons killed in four years of strife among minority Roman Catholics, majority Protestants and security forces in Northern Ireland.

Eban Decries The Closure Of Transit Camp For Jews

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel told the United Nations yesterday "the world stands with bowed head" because of Austria's decision to close a way station for Soviet Jews emigrating to Israel.

President Nixon said in Washington he hoped Austria would reconsider the move and not bow to "blackmail by terrorist groups." But in Vienna, Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky refused to budge "no matter who demands it."

Kreisky pledged Friday to close the Schoenau Castle transit camp near Vienna as the price for the release of three Soviet Jews and an Austrian official taken hostage by Arab gunmen.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban went before the U.N. General Assembly yesterday to brand the two Arabs "brutal gangsters" and said Kreisky's decision to meet their demands "has a terrifying meaning."

"The world stands with bowed head," Eban said. "What is the future of a world in which two pirates and criminals can bring a proud nation to the acceptance of their terms?"

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir met with Kreisky in Vienna Tuesday in an abortive attempt to get him to change his mind. The Austrian leader agreed, however, to let the camp stay open if the United Nations took command of the facility.

ABBA EBAN
Addresses U.N.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim rejected the plan yesterday saying the Jews were not refugees and failed to fall under U.N. jurisdiction.

Nixon told a news conference he hoped Kreisky "would reconsider his decision. We simply cannot have countries— small or large—give in to blackmail by terrorist groups."

The camp, meanwhile, was still processing Jews and Kreisky would not say when it would be closed.

"I will not cancel my government's decision, no matter who demands it, from the President of the United States on down," Kreisky said yesterday.

He said the camp was "an absolute security risk," his gendarmes had discovered several recent Arab plots against it and he would have taken the decision sooner or later anyway.

In Jerusalem, a communique issued following a three-hour cabinet session headed by Mrs. Meir said Kreisky's explanation for closing the camp was unsatisfactory.

"The cabinet is of the opinion that the explanations offered by the chancellor of Austria concerning his government's decision...do nothing to correct the injustice that has been wrought," the communique said.

Baboon Escapes For A Short Freedom Romp

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (UPI) — A 65-pound baboon led Friendship Airport workers on a frenzied chase yesterday when it escaped from a cage for a brief period of freedom.

Officials said the baboon bolted from his cage at the airport freight area where he was awaiting shipment to Johns Hopkins Hospital. Authorities in New York had sent the animal for a research project.

No one was injured in the incident, though scores of frightened air travelers scurried to nearby phone booths and washrooms as the monkey charged by.

The beast was finally cornered after it ducked into an airport ladies room.

Once cornered, the animal was administered a tranquilizing drug and returned to its cage.

Second Quake Shakes People In East Bay

OAKLAND (AP) A light earthquake shook the San Francisco East Bay area early this morning — the second tremor felt here in two days.

There were no immediate reports of damage.

The quake occurred at 5:24 a.m. and measured 2.0 on the Richter scale at the University of California Seismographic station station here. Seismologists placed the quake's epicenter five miles south of Berkeley in the Oakland area.

Oakland and Berkeley police departments reported receiving a few telephone calls from residents.

"My feet kind of went back and forth," said Oakland Police Sgt. Bernie Matthews. "I thought a truck was going by outside."

An earthquake measuring 4.6 and causing some slight damage was felt along a 70-mile strip from Santa Cruz to San Francisco early yesterday morning. Seismologists said the quake was centered about 20 miles southeast of San Jose along the San Andreas fault.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion with an increase of one number equaling a tenfold increase in magnitude.

Phone Calls Push Tax Limit Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California voters can expect to get a telephone call from Gov. Ronald Reagan between now and Nov. 6.

Perhaps a million California homes will receive such calls from Reagan in a unique effort to persuade voters to approve the governor's proposed tax limitation initiative, Prop. 1, on the Nov. 6 ballot.

The calls aren't live, personal messages from Reagan but tape-recorded messages.

"Hello, this is Gov. Reagan," says the governor's voice. "I wish I could talk with you in person but I'm trying to reach almost every Republican home in California in a very short time so I have to do it this way, by telephone and tape."

If the resident is a Democrat, he will hear a version of the tape with the word "Democratic" substituted for "Republican," according to Terry Eagan, a Prop. 1 campaign aide.

Volunteers are playing copies of the 90-second tape to thousands of residents in the most populated cities in Alameda, Contra Costa, Los Angeles, Marin, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara and Ventura counties.

Eagan said campaign workers are using voter registration lists to call as many Californians as possible before the special election.

After introducing himself to voters, the governor tells them his proposition will "put a limit on the amount of your personal income the state can take from you in taxes."

Reagan promises that "no current state or local programs will suffer—new ones can be added and still we can cut your taxes."

John Cabot and his son, Sebastian, reached the North American continent on the east coast of Canada June 24, 1497.

One-Way Toll Plan Due On Bridge To Richmond

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A one-way system of collecting tolls will be started Nov. 1 on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

The California Toll Bridge Authority yesterday ordered that a $1 toll be collected from westbound vehicles on the bridge instead of the current practice of collecting a 50-cent toll from motorists going in both directions.

An authority spokesman said the Richmond-San Rafael structure is the last toll bridge in the San Francisco Bay Area to be converted to the one-way collection system.

The spokesman said the authority decided on the change because the bridge's toll was recently reduced to 50 cents in either direction. When the other Bay Area bridges were converted to a one-way toll system in 1968-69, he said, the Richmond-San Rafael toll was 75 cents and the authority felt a $1.50 one-way toll would be too high for motorists.

Students Plan Chamber Music

Sonoma State College Music students will present a chamber music concert Oct. 12 at 8 p.m. in Ives Hall.

The program directed by senior Ruth Siegel will include Brahms "Quintet in F Minor for Piano and Strings," Beethoven's "String Quartet in C Minor" and Telemann's "Sonata in C Minor."

Musicians will include David Kossoff, oboe; Holly Maximov, flute; Judy Klose and David Newton, piano; Dorianne Cotter and Ruth Siegel, violin; Marie Karr, viola; and Ann Martin, cello.

Eligibility For GI Home Loans

World War II and Korean War veterans are still eligible for GI home loans, Marin County Service officer James V. Burdick said today.

Burdick said many veterans believe they are no longer eligible since originally they had only a limited time to obtain a GI loan.

Money Pledged For Medical Research Unit

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The National Muscular Dystrophy Association, headed by comedian Jerry Lewis, has pledged $1.5 million to help finance a proposed new state medical research center.

Gov. Ronald Reagan announced the cash pledge yesterday a day after he signed a $1 million bill to establish the muscular dystrophy research center at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The bill (AB139) by Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, was developed in the final days of the 1973 session by Reagan administration officials, Priolo and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

6. Several parks and new streets.

7. Several small housing developments scattered throughout the downtown area with a total of about 170 units.

Buskirk said city officials had recommended that the developer seek him out for advice. He said he had been concerned about whether there would be a conflict of interest involved in such an arrangement but decided there would not be as long as he made recommendations to Sequoia Pacific which were consistent with plans he already had prepared for the city.

Fanning rejected citizen complaints that the councilmen's sessions with the developer were held in secret, but said he doubted he would have admitted any member of the public to them because they were called by the developer and not by the city.

It is these meetings which have aroused some residents who believe that the development plans should be made public.

"The council did appoint Fanning and Littman to review the development, but word of that didn't get around to many people," said Charles E. Bassett, planning commission chairman. "A lot of people think the plans have been drawn up in secret. Maybe having more comment about the proposal would have been more appropriate."

"We don't think we've been apprised of things enough about the downtown plan," said Charles Patterson, president of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

As a result of some of these opinions, the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee is organizing a special meeting for some time this month at which residents can raise questions they have about the downtown plan.

Gerald Coles, committee chairman, said he hopes Sequoia Pacific and city officials will attend the meeting to provide answers.

He noted that some residents believe the three-year-old downtown plan itself should be junked because it calls for far more development than residents want today.

"Many people are concerned that the plan shows too much parking and too many streets for a city the size of Tiburon," said Coles.

He and others think that the plan should include more green land downtown than first proposed.

Planning commission chairman Bassett had urged that his commission overhaul the downtown plan before the developer comes in with his proposal, but other commission members vetoed his idea at a meeting last month.

"I don't really think the downtown plan goes along with what the community wants today," he said. "In three years, attitudes may well have changed as indicated by the open space bond issue."

Mayor Fanning disagrees. "There's no reason to review the downtown plan when we're two weeks away from getting the developer's proposal. The planning commission eventually will spend plenty of hours on the plan."

Fanning said most opposition to the development proposal was coming from a disappointed few whose alternative suggestions were turned down when the city first wrote its downtown plan in 1970.

Getting city approval for the project is only a small part of the difficulties which will face Sequoia Pacific.

The developer will have to get special water connections from the Marin Municipal Water District which now has a ban on new connections. J. David Dawson, representing Sequoia Pacific, has applied to the district through its variance procedure to have a 16-inch water main run into the downtown area to supply the development.

Officials of the Tiburon Sanitary District said they were approached about providing sewer hookups for the plan, but said they had no idea how many the developer wanted. "We told him he'd have to pay for a $4,000 or $5,000 consulting study to see how his plans might affect our capacity for treating sewerage," said James Murray, district board president.

Perhaps most crucial of all is the requirement that the City of Tiburon launch its proposed redevelopment agency for the downtown area.

Under California law, the agency could freeze the assessed value of land and improvements for all taxing districts inside the redevelopment area. The Tiburon agency then could sell bonds to finance capital improvements in the area such as lights and sewers which would mean a big financial break for the developer. The agency collects the increased property taxes attributable to the increase in the area's assessed valuation and uses them to pay off the redevelopment bonds. When all bonds are redeemed, the freeze on assessment for other taxing agencies in the community ends.

Without the redevelopment agency, according to several city officials, Sequoia Pacific would probably find the project unfeasible.

The city council should appoint a special committee to pick a firm to prepare an environmental impact report for the controversial downtown development, the city's planning commission recommended last night.

and replaced them with the more lenient Phase III controls, and still later Phase IV regulations.

The decline in the WPI in September was the second in the third quarter of the year. There was a 1.3 per cent decline in July, which government economists warned at the time was something of a fluke.

Quarterly figures released by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that the rate of increases in wholesale prices has been declining since a big bulge following the end of Phase II.

In the quarter that ended with September, the WPI rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 13.2 per cent compared with 23.4 per cent in the quarter ended in June and 21.1 per cent in the quarter before that.

It usually takes a few weeks for downward—or upward—trends in wholesale prices to trickle down to the consumer level. The consumer price index, which registers storelevel price trends, is issued toward the end of the month.

While wholesale food prices were dropping last month, industrial commodity prices rose 0.5 per cent. Three quarters of this was due to higher prices for crude petroleum, bituminous coal, electric power, textile products, clothing, metals and lumber.

Wholesale prices were lower for motor vehicles, crude natural rubber and some nonmetallic mineral products.

The index for consumer finished goods—roughly comparable to the consumer price index—went down 0.7 per cent last month because of a 1.6 per cent decline for consumer finished goods.

Drug Analysis Delays Charges

A delay in analysis of suspected marijuana, illegal pills, heroin and cocaine found in a Garberville couple's car has held up the filing of formal charges in Marin Municipal Court.

The district attorney's office said it will not charge Ronald Phillip Sabo, 33, and Virginia Lee Sabo, 30, until the analysis is complete.

The couple was arrested Sunday after a California Highway patrolman stopped their car on Highway 101 in Lucas Valley and reported finding the suspected drugs.

Lippmann Improves

Woman, 85, Is Found Unconscious

She was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Jane Barrette of 108 Harbor Drive, object of a widespread search, was found about 9:15 p.m. by John Buttimer at the rear of his home at 115 Harbor Drive, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder. The fire department was summoned to free her as she was wedged between a steep hillside and a shed. Apparently she had fallen and rolled down the hillside, Kidder said.

Buttimer returned home from a vacation and heard some moaning in his back yard and found Mrs. Barrette, the chief said.

Her daughter, Mrs. William R. Hall of 15 Manzanita Drive, Novato, said that someone reported to San Rafael police that her mother had been seen about 11 a.m. yesterday on Fourth Street near H Street in San Rafael. Mrs. Hall did not know for sure whether or not it was her mother, nor how she got from San Rafael to her home.

Broken Neck Victim Out Of Intensive Care

Robert Talbot, a Novato High School junior who broke his neck Tuesday during football practice, was reported out of the intensive care unit and in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital, according to hospital spokesmen.

Talbot, son of Chief M/S and Mrs. Robert N. Talbot of 775 Sunset Parkway, Novato, was tackling in football practice about 3:45 p.m. when the accident happened, according to Principal Stanley Onderdonk.

The youth was taken to Novato General Hospital and placed in traction in the intensive care unit. He never lost consciousness and retained all the use of his muscles, Onderdonk reported.

Sirica asked Nixon's attorney, Charles Alan Wright, if he would like to respond. Wright shook his head and Sirica ended the hearing.

Wright had argued that Sirica "ought to honor long standing tradition" of keeping presidential communications confidential "rather than be caught up in the spirit of Watergate in establishing a precedent that would be very damaging to the presidency" by ordering the tapes released.

The tapes involve conversations by Nixon with aides and others involved in the Watergate investigation.

Another federal judge in Dallas refused today to subpoena tapes between Nixon and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell sought in a Texas fraud case.

Dash argued that the tapes were needed as part of congressional efforts to devise legislation to prevent future presidential campaign abuses. Wright contended the committee was pursuing criminal rather than legislative goals.

Citing Dash's statements with respect to "criminality of the President," Wright said they showed that the aim was "criminal not legislative."

"This is the work of the grand juries rather than the Senate," Wright said. Sirica asked Wright at one point if Nixon had not waived executive privilege where the tapes were concerned by allowing some former presidential aides to testify about the conversations he had with them on Watergate.

"If it is established that criminality of the President existed, this would call for drastic legislation," Dash argued.

"Our responsibility is to take the investigation as far as we can take it. . . to prove who was involved. And if the President was involved, support for drastic legislation might be heightened."

Store Landscaping Plan Wins Approval

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved plans for the landscaping of a Goodyear store on the northeast corner of Highway 101 and Vallejo Avenue.

It denied plans to add a parapet roof of wood shakes around the perimeter of the Cinema II Theater at 5400 Redwood Highway.

How to sell your home in a tight-money, and high interest-rate market.

With the real estate market today it takes a special kind of knowledge and sophistication to sell your home at the best possible terms.

Interest rates are constantly fluctuating. Sometimes changing from day to day. This situation may call for "creative financing" to handle your sale (or purchase) of property. The importance of knowing sources of money and ways of arranging private financing that safeguards the interests of both buyer and seller can hardly be overestimated.

When you deal with a Realtor; a member office of the Marin County Board of Realtors, you are in the best possible hands. They are professionals at finding alternative methods of buying or selling a home during a tight money market. Selling a home today is too complex to take any chances. Always work through a Realtor and you'll never be sorry.

He said he had been concerned about whether there would be a conflict of interest involved in such an arrangement but decided there would not be as long as he made recommendations to Sequoia Pacific which were consistent with plans he already had prepared for the city.

It is these meetings which have aroused some residents who believe that the development plans should be made public.

"A lot of people think the plans have been drawn up in secret. Maybe having more comment about the proposal would have been more appropriate."

"We don't think we've been apprised of things enough about the downtown plan," said Charles Patterson, president of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

As a result of some of these opinions, the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee is organizing a special meeting for some time this month at which residents can raise questions they have about the downtown plan.

Gerald Coles, committee chairman, said he hopes Sequoia Pacific and city officials will attend the meeting to provide answers.

He noted that some residents believe the three-year-old downtown plan itself should be junked because it calls for far more development than residents want today.

"Many people are concerned that the plan shows too much parking and too many streets for a city the size of Tiburon," said Coles.

He and others think that the plan should include more green land downtown than first proposed.

Planning commission chairman Bassett had urged that his commission overhaul the downtown plan before the developer comes in with his proposal, but other commission members vetoed his idea at a meeting last month.

"I don't really think the downtown plan goes along with what the community wants today," he said. "In three years, attitudes may well have changed as indicated by the open space bond issue."

Mayor Fanning disagrees. "There's no reason to review the downtown plan when we're two weeks away from getting the developer's proposal. The planning commission eventually will spend plenty of hours on the plan."

Fanning said most opposition to the development proposal was coming from a disappointed few whose alternative suggestions were turned down when the city first wrote its downtown plan in 1970.

Getting city approval for the project is only a small part of the difficulties which will face Sequoia Pacific.

The developer will have to get special water connections from the Marin Municipal Water District which now has a ban on new connections. J. David Dawson, representing Sequoia Pacific, has applied to the district through its variance procedure to have a 16-inch water main run into the downtown area to supply the development.

Officials of the Tiburon Sanitary District said they were approached about providing sewer hookups for the plan, but said they had no idea how many the developer wanted. "We told him he'd have to pay for a $4,000 or $5,000 consulting study to see how his plans might affect our capacity for treating sewerage," said James Murray, district board president.

Perhaps most crucial of all is the requirement that the City of Tiburon launch its proposed redevelopment agency for the downtown area.

Under California law, the agency could freeze the assessed value of land and improvements for all taxing districts inside the redevelopment area. The Tiburon agency then could sell bonds to finance capital improvements in the area such as lights and sewers which would mean a big financial break for the developer. The agency collects the increased property taxes attributable to the increase in the area's assessed valuation and uses them to pay off the redevelopment bonds. When all bonds are redeemed, the freeze on assessment for other taxing agencies in the community ends.

Without the redevelopment agency, according to several city officials, Sequoia Pacific would probably find the project unfeasible.

The city council should appoint a special committee to pick a firm to prepare an environmental impact report for the controversial downtown development, the city's planning commission recommended last night.

Wright had argued that Sirica "ought to honor long standing tradition" of keeping presidential communications confidential "rather than be caught up in the spirit of Watergate in establishing a precedent that would be very damaging to the presidency" by ordering the tapes released.

The tapes involve conversations by Nixon with aides and others involved in the Watergate investigation.

Another federal judge in Dallas refused today to subpoena tapes between Nixon and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell sought in a Texas fraud case.

Dash argued that the tapes were needed as part of congressional efforts to devise legislation to prevent future presidential campaign abuses. Wright contended the committee was pursuing criminal rather than legislative goals.

Citing Dash's statements with respect to "criminality of the President," Wright said they showed that the aim was "criminal not legislative."

"This is the work of the grand juries rather than the Senate," Wright said. Sirica asked Wright at one point if Nixon had not waived executive privilege where the tapes were concerned by allowing some former presidential aides to testify about the conversations he had with them on Watergate.

"If it is established that criminality of the President existed, this would call for drastic legislation," Dash argued.

"Our responsibility is to take the investigation as far as we can take it. . . to prove who was involved. And if the President was involved, support for drastic legislation might be heightened."

Store Landscaping Plan Wins Approval

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved plans for the landscaping of a Goodyear store on the northeast corner of Highway 101 and Vallejo Avenue.

It denied plans to add a parapet roof of wood shakes around the perimeter of the Cinema II Theater at 5400 Redwood Highway.

How to sell your home in a tight-money, and high interest-rate market.

With the real estate market today it takes a special kind of knowledge and sophistication to sell your home at the best possible terms.

Interest rates are constantly fluctuating. Sometimes changing from day to day. This situation may call for "creative financing" to handle your sale (or purchase) of property. The importance of knowing sources of money and ways of arranging private financing that safeguards the interests of both buyer and seller can hardly be overestimated.

When you deal with a Realtor; a member office of the Marin County Board of Realtors, you are in the best possible hands. They are professionals at finding alternative methods of buying or selling a home during a tight money market. Selling a home today is too complex to take any chances. Always work through a Realtor and you'll never be sorry.

Three Charged With Violating Animal Skin Law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three Polk Street boutiques were accused yesterday of selling items made from the skins of endangered animals protected by state law.

Douglass filed civil suits against the Boot Hook Corp. and Fancy Pants, Inc., which owns Sayzaar's Boutique and the Town Squire. Douglass charged the stores with unfair competition and asked the courts to fine the firms $2,500 in civil penalties for each violation of the law.

Skylab Astronauts May Add Fourth Space Walk

HOUSTON (UPI) —The Skylab 3 astronauts may add a fourth walk in space to the busy orbital research schedule they'll have when they're launched Nov. 11, and are hopeful of staying in the 100-ton space station for a record 70 days.

Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue declared yesterday in a news conference they are thoroughly trained in the operations of the lab and the Apollo ferry ship they'll ride into orbit, and are now learning about comet Kohoutek.

The final trio of astronauts, none of whom have ever flown in space before, will miss Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's with their families, but will feast on turkey and gravy to celebrate the holidays.

Pogue said in an interview "there's a lot of interest" in making a fourth spacewalk to repair an antenna on one of the spaceship's Earth resources sensing devices.

"I feel like we're going to do it, but it remains to be seen," the Air Force lieutenant colonel said. "There's a lot of interest there."

The pilots were to make three other spacewalks to replace film in their array of solar observation instruments.

Carr said he and his crewmen will be exercising at least an hour a day to stay in good physical shape during the voyage, which if extended to 70 days, would break the Skylab 2 record by 11 days.

"We're extremely interested in the idea of extending it to 70 days," said Carr.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three Polk Street boutiques were accused yesterday of selling items made from the skins of endangered animals protected by state law.

Assistant District Attorney Wallace P. Douglass charged the stores were offering belts of cobra skin and boots made from skins of sea turtles.

Douglass filed civil suits against the Boot Hook Corp. and Fancy Pants, Inc., which owns Sayzaar's Boutique and the Town Squire. Douglass charged the stores with unfair competition and asked the courts to fine the firms $2,500 in civil penalties for each violation of the law.

Skylab Astronauts May Add Fourth Space Walk

HOUSTON (UPI) —The Skylab 3 astronauts may add a fourth walk in space to the busy orbital research schedule they'll have when they're launched Nov. 11, and are hopeful of staying in the 100-ton space station for a record 70 days.

Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue declared yesterday in a news conference they are thoroughly trained in the operations of the lab and the Apollo ferry ship they'll ride into orbit, and are now learning about comet Kohoutek.

The final trio of astronauts, none of whom have ever flown in space before, will miss Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's with their families, but will feast on turkey and gravy to celebrate the holidays.

Pogue said in an interview "there's a lot of interest" in making a fourth spacewalk to repair an antenna on one of the spaceship's Earth resources sensing devices.

"I feel like we're going to do it, but it remains to be seen," the Air Force lieutenant colonel said. "There's a lot of interest there."

The pilots were to make three other spacewalks to replace film in their array of solar observation instruments.

Carr said he and his crewmen will be exercising at least an hour a day to stay in good physical shape during the voyage, which if extended to 70 days, would break the Skylab 2 record by 11 days.

"We're extremely interested in the idea of extending it to 70 days," said Carr.

DESTRUCTIVE CRASH IN NOVATO

Two young Novato men walked away uninjured from this crunching crash of an auto into a power pole in the 2500 block of Novato Boulevard at 4:50 p.m. yesterday. After the auto swerved off the road into a ditch it flipped once completely before knocking over 60 feet of fence and two mailboxes. It then slammed into the pole, knocking out power to dairies west of the city until after midnight and causing four grass fires that blackened a half-mile strip. Driver Michael A. Peters, 19, told officers he swerved to avoid a bicyclist and lost control. Passenger Michael R. Rundle, 22, also was unhurt. Damage to the car totaled $1,700.

Independents To Shut In Los Angeles Area

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Most gas station operators on New York's auto-clogged Long Island closed down for the second day today to protest the government's freeze on the price of gasoline.

In Los Angeles, some 2,500 independent gasoline dealers said they would close down tonight and stay closed for the weekend.

The Long Island Railroad said it had an unusually high number of commuters riding into New York City today, apparently because many drivers could not find gasoline for their cars.

A police spokesman said the few filling stations that stayed open on Long Island attracted long lines of would-be customers. About 80 per cent of the 3,000 filling stations on the island were closed Wednesday.

In Los Angeles, organizers of the boycott said more than half would be closed for three or four days starting tonight.

There were a few shutdowns in Houston, Tex., and other cities, but dealers in California's San Joaquin Valley said they would not take part in a nationwide closedown proposed for this weekend. About half the filling stations in the area closed for three days at the start of the week.

The protests came in the wake of a one-time Cost of Living Council decision to permit gasoline retailers to pass higher wholesale prices along to the consumer. The dealers want to be able to pass on any increases automatically.

"This intolerable situation is the direct consequence of the council's failure to provide retail dealers with an adequate profit margin and its corresponding failure to impose price controls on wholesalers in the gasoline industry," Nevada Gov. Mike O'Callaghan said in Carson City.

Most service stations in the Las Vegas area will close midnight today while most in the Reno area will close at 8 a.m. tomorrow.

Ferry Site Channel Dredging, Bike Paths Draw No Protests

Dredging a channel and plans for bike paths in open space portions of the Larkspur ferry terminal site were reviewed without objection last night by the Larkspur City Council. (Another Larkspur City Council story, page 1.)

The Larkspur City Council Also:

PETALUMA — Voted 3-2 (Lee and Sestak opposed) not to give Petaluma $250 to support its court test of regulations providing for controlled growth. Council voted unanimously, however, to ask the League of California Cities to support Petaluma's position.

SIGN — Named businessmen Gil Dubuc, Brian Hutcherson, Robert Busse, Jim Niven and Theodore Scudder as representatives of the chamber of commerce to work with an existing committee on the city's proposed sign ordinance.

ORDINANCES — Adopted ordinances governing regulation and licensing of bicycles at a fee of $3 for first license and $1 for annual renewal. Also adopted an ordinance allowing park dedication fees to be used in city sections other than the subdivision which paid the fees.

DRAINAGE — Approved a $22,407.20 bid by William R. Ford for drainage improvements on Stanford Court. The accepted bid excluded some curb and gutter work in Ford's original $23,607.20 bid and was within the estimate of the city engineer for the project. Only other bid was $29,698 by McGuire and Hester of Oakland.

SIGN — Approved a four-way stop sign for intersection of Monte Vista and William Avenue on 90-day trial basis.

PARKING — Prohibited parking on the westerly side of Frontage Road between Rich Street and the Highway 101 on-ramp.

APPOINTMENTS — Decided appointments to city boards and commissions would be made after ascertaining 90 days before vacancy if a person wishes to be reappointed and on the basis of report by the city manager on member's performance 60 days prior to vacancy.

OPENINGS — Announced openings in Larkspur's representative to the City-County Planning Council Environmental Quality Committee and liaison representative to the Human Rights Commission. Applications for the openings will be received at city hall until Nov. 2.

BRIDGE — Supported Coast Guard plans to change regulations governing opening of North Western Pacific Railroad bridge over Corte Madera Creek with the request that the opening hour be changed from 8 a.m. to 5 a.m.

DESIGN — Removed the probationary status of the Larkspur Design Review Board by 2-1 vote with Brixon opposed.

PARK — Appointed Sandra Pack as a youth member to the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved employment of a University of California graduate student to do geologic mapping for the city for a salary of $155 per month for a period of nine months.

BUS — Requested more information from the bridge district about its proposed bus shelters, one to be located in Larkspur. Councilmen were especially concerned about what kind of glass would be used in the shelters. Councilmen also voted to locate a shelter at intersection of Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue if a second shelter becomes possible.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Monday at 7:30 p.m. in city hall to continue hearing on the proposed general plan.

The district's request is to dredge 1,514,000 cubic yards of materials from 5,000 feet southeast of San Quentin Prison to the mouth of Corte Madera Creek adjacent to Wood Island.

The council had no technical data on the dredging, but requested the corps to authorize dredging which has the least detrimental effects to the environment.

Councilmen also saw plans by the bridge district to construct bike paths in open space areas encircling the terminal site and voiced approval for the preliminary plans.

District representatives were asked to submit the plans to the city's park and recreation commission for its review.

FIVE DIE IN TOWER CRASH

Five construction workers are dead and another 20 hurt in a television tower crash. The 2,000-foot tower buckled and collapsed yesterday into a twisted tangle of steel at Walker, Iowa. Four of the victims were working on the tower at the 500-foot level and were thrown off the tower. Also in the path was a motorhome camper. The tower belonged to KCRG-TV.

Contract Is Awarded For Treatment Plant

The North Marin County Water District board has awarded a $337,445 contract to C. R. Fedrick Inc. of Novato, lowest of five bidders, to modernize the Stafford Lake treatment plant.

When the work is completed next June, it will not only improve the quality of water but will increase the capacity of the plant from 3.75 to 6.2 million of gallons per day, said Mgr. John O. Nelson. "It will make it one of the most modern treatment plants in California," he said.

The board also approved a $10,000 sampling and studying program for the Stafford Lake watershed, Nelson said. This includes animal waste from dairies and the Indian Valley Golf Course and county park, he said.

North Marin County Water District Board Also:

WASTE WATER — Approved a $5,000 study of waste water reclamation with part of the work to be done by the district staff and part by Ed Nute, engineer. The original study will be to determine the feasibility of the use of water from the Novato Sanitary District plant to water a golf course proposed by Richard Hanna.It will also study the possible use of the reclaimed water for irrigation of landscaping on the freeway.

CONTRACTS — Awarded a $35,140 contract to P. E. O. Hare of Santa Rosa for pipe, the only bid received, and a $15,441 contract to Coast Pump Association of Berkeley, lower of two bids, for a sewer lift pump for Point Reyes Station area of the district.

PETALUMA — Authorized giving the City of Petaluma $250 in its legal fight on limiting growth to 500 units a year. The water board felt that any limiting growth in Petaluma would mean more water available from the aqueduct, Nelson said.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m., Oct. 16, at the district office.

About 25 of the 38-member citizens committee appeared at the meeting, he said.

The board next meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the administration building.

Helen Douglas's Watergate Views

NEW YORK (UPI) —Helen Gahagan Douglas, who lost to Richard Nixon in a 1950 race for a U.S. Senate seat from California, said yesterday she was surprised by the Watergate revelations.

"The pervasiveness of criminal activities and malfeasance revealed by the Watergate hearings was a surprise to me and in no way pleasurable," she said.

Mrs. Douglas also said she "sincerely wished Nixon had been a great president."

Liberals Gain In Opinion Poll

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's third-ranking Liberal Party today swept into second place in a national opinion poll, forging ahead of the governing Conservatives and creating a neck-and-neck race between all three parties.

It was the first time in more than 11 years a governing party had been reduced to third place in a British opinion poll.

Elderly Woman's Purse Is Snatched

A youth grabbed the purse of an elderly lady behind the Bon Air shopping center yesterday and fled, police reported. It contained $100.

Larkspur police said Erna Spanier was returning to the Tamalpais Retirement Residence bout 2:20 p.m. when the boy grabbed her purse. She described him as 12-14 years old, five feet tall with medium length brown hair.

Priorities For School Study Set

The San Rafael Board of Education last night set priorities for study by the school system's citizen's advisory committee.

Top priority of the committee for 1973-74 will be a study of how best to utilize existing school facilities, according to board president Herman L. Childress. This study, which is already under way, will include an examination of district needs in the wake of declining enrollment, possible creation of a community center in an existing school, and possible rental of facilities not needed, as well as concerns of local neighborhoods, he said.

Among other items suggested by the committee and the board for study this school year were a probe of the school system's financial situation and an inventory of community resources available to the districts, he said.

FIVE DIE IN TOWER CRASH

Five construction workers are dead and another 20 hurt in a television tower crash. The 2,000-foot tower buckled and collapsed yesterday into a twisted tangle of steel at Walker, Iowa. Four of the victims were working on the tower at the 500-foot level and were thrown off the tower. Also in the path was a motorhome camper. The tower belonged to KCRG-TV.

Contract Is Awarded For Treatment Plant

The North Marin County Water District board has awarded a $337,445 contract to C. R. Fedrick Inc. of Novato, lowest of five bidders, to modernize the Stafford Lake treatment plant.

When the work is completed next June, it will not only improve the quality of water but will increase the capacity of the plant from 3.75 to 6.2 million of gallons per day, said Mgr. John O. Nelson. "It will make it one of the most modern treatment plants in California," he said.

The board also approved a $10,000 sampling and studying program for the Stafford Lake watershed, Nelson said. This includes animal waste from dairies and the Indian Valley Golf Course and county park, he said.

North Marin County Water District Board Also:

WASTE WATER — Approved a $5,000 study of waste water reclamation with part of the work to be done by the district staff and part by Ed Nute, engineer. The original study will be to determine the feasibility of the use of water from the Novato Sanitary District plant to water a golf course proposed by Richard Hanna.It will also study the possible use of the reclaimed water for irrigation of landscaping on the freeway.

CONTRACTS — Awarded a $35,140 contract to P. E. O. Hare of Santa Rosa for pipe, the only bid received, and a $15,441 contract to Coast Pump Association of Berkeley, lower of two bids, for a sewer lift pump for Point Reyes Station area of the district.

PETALUMA — Authorized giving the City of Petaluma $250 in its legal fight on limiting growth to 500 units a year. The water board felt that any limiting growth in Petaluma would mean more water available from the aqueduct, Nelson said.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m., Oct. 16, at the district office.

Helen Douglas's Watergate Views

NEW YORK (UPI) —Helen Gahagan Douglas, who lost to Richard Nixon in a 1950 race for a U.S. Senate seat from California, said yesterday she was surprised by the Watergate revelations.

"The pervasiveness of criminal activities and malfeasance revealed by the Watergate hearings was a surprise to me and in no way pleasurable," she said.

Mrs. Douglas also said she "sincerely wished Nixon had been a great president."

Liberals Gain In Opinion Poll

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's third-ranking Liberal Party today swept into second place in a national opinion poll, forging ahead of the governing Conservatives and creating a neck-and-neck race between all three parties.

It was the first time in more than 11 years a governing party had been reduced to third place in a British opinion poll.

Elderly Woman's Purse Is Snatched

A youth grabbed the purse of an elderly lady behind the Bon Air shopping center yesterday and fled, police reported. It contained $100.

Larkspur police said Erna Spanier was returning to the Tamalpais Retirement Residence bout 2:20 p.m. when the boy grabbed her purse. She described him as 12-14 years old, five feet tall with medium length brown hair.

Priorities For School Study Set

The San Rafael Board of Education last night set priorities for study by the school system's citizen's advisory committee.

Top priority of the committee for 1973-74 will be a study of how best to utilize existing school facilities, according to board president Herman L. Childress. This study, which is already under way, will include an examination of district needs in the wake of declining enrollment, possible creation of a community center in an existing school, and possible rental of facilities not needed, as well as concerns of local neighborhoods, he said.

Among other items suggested by the committee and the board for study this school year were a probe of the school system's financial situation and an inventory of community resources available to the districts, he said.

About 25 of the 38-member citizens committee appeared at the meeting, he said.

The board next meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the administration building.

Small Incomes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly three out of 10 families (28 per cent) headed by women had annual incomes of less than $3,000 in 1971, says the latest report on women workers from the U.S. Department of Labor.

Center Foe Will Run For Council

Joel Shawn, an attorney involved in two suits against the Town of Corte Madera, has announced his candidacy for a town council seat left open by the recall of the town's mayor and two councilmen.

Shawn, who practies law in San Francisco and is also a licensed professional engineer in California, took out nomination papers yesterday and said he will file his candidacy before the Oct. 11 filing deadline.

Shawn is the plaintiff in one suit and his law firm represents the plaintiff in a second over the proposed Hahn regional shopping center in Corte Madera. One suit challenges the project's environmental impact report and the other attacks the town's exercise of redevelopment powers.

Shawn, his wife and four children live at 219 Baltimore Avenue. He is a seven-year resident of Corte Madera.

Shawn is the second person indicating he will seek a council seat in the Dec. 18 election. Jana Haehl said Tuesday she will run.

Democrats Level New Tax Charges

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Two contenders for the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination have accused Gov. Ronald Reagan and promoters of the governor's tax limitation initiative of trying to deceive the voters.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, yesterday called the effort to promote the Nov. 6 ballot measure a "smokescreen" while Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. described it as a "deliberate deception."

Meanwhile, Reagan issued a statement saying his tax ceiling plan still would allow the state to increase its budget by $600 million to a record $10 billion next year. He said this refutes opponents' arguments that Prop. 1 would result in reduced state spending.

Moretti, in a copyrighted article for "Employee," the official publication of the California State Employes Association, said it was "preposterous" for supporters of the limitation measure to suggest the average citizen would enjoy a long-range tax savings.

"The governor and his friends seem to be saying if you walk to work instead of riding the bus, you haven't saved what you withheld from the fare box, but you have saved the price of the Cadillac you didn't buy."

Moretti called for more volunteers to work against the supporters' campaign.

Trio Is Facing Pot Case In Superior Court

A Marin Municipal Court judge has bound over three Santa Venetia residents to superior court to stand trial on charges of possessing marijuana for sale.

Judge Gary W. Thomas on Tuesday ordered the trio to appear Oct. 23 in the higher court.

The charges stem from a raid on their house March 20 in which San Francisco police and Marin Sheriff's deputies reportedly found two pounds of pot.

The three are Jason Keith Anderson, 24, David Fremon Witty, 23, and Eric Landon Rice, also 23.

Two women arrested in the raid, Jean Mira Kubicki and Lynda Rae Stefko, both 25, have been charged with a misdemeanor count of possessing marijuana and are due in municipal court tomorrow for a change of plea or to set a trial date.

Auditorium Boss Likes Present Job

Leon G. Kalimos, director of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, said today he is not seeking new employment as has been speculated by some.

Kalimos said confusion may have grown out of his being hired as a theatrical consultant to various groups and companies outside Marin.

He said his consulting jobs are done on his own time and have nothing to do with his job as auditorium director.

Kalimos added that he has been approached with job offers on a number of occasions but has rejected them, preferring to stay in Marin.

On Tuesday, county supervisors agreed to take a new look at the auditorium operation and consider reducing rental rates to local nonprofit groups.

According to County Administrator John F. Barrows, future discussions will focus on whether the building should become more a community theater than a commercial theater.

Past county policy has been to attempt to balance community and commercial use of the building.

Woman, 66, Is Struck By Car

A 66-year-old San Rafael woman was hospitalized yesterday after being struck by an automobile in a crosswalk at the Emporium parking lot.

Margaret T. Tavernetti of 223 Fourth Street was reported in satisfactory condition today in Marin General Hospital with a fractured knee, bruised leg and scrapes.

Police said a car driven by Paul A. Tanner of 2433 Topaz Drive, Novato, collided with the woman as she stepped from behind a passing car into a crosswalk in the Emporium parking lot.

Named Director

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gladys Dobelle was named today as director of public relations for the San Francisco Opera.

'Dirty Tricks' Goal Was Nomination Of McGovern

WASHINGTON (UPI) —One of Donald H. Segretti's political saboteurs testified today a main goal of a Republican dirty tricks campaign in 1972 was to assure that George S. McGovern would win the Democratic presidential nomination.

Martin Douglas Kelly, 24, of Miami, told the Senate Watergate committee that the Watergate break-in "and the heat of the investigations that followed" forced the abandonment of elaborate plans to disrupt the Democratic convention in Miami Beach.

In another Watergate development, Samuel Dash, chief counsel for the Watergate committee, opened arguments before Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica on whether the court should order President Nixon to turn over his secret tapes regarding the scandal.

Kelly was hired by Segretti at the promised salary of $700 a month to disrupt the Democratic primary in Florida in March, 1972.

One of Segretti's plans was to arrange appointments with the state delegations to the July convention on behalf of all the contenders for the nomination except McGovern, Kelly said. When the appointments were not kept the delegates would be angered, he said, and McGovern's chances would benefit.

"McGovern was the desirable nominee of the convention as far as we were concerned," Kelly said.

The scheme was dropped after the Watergate break-in, he said.

Kelly, a former president of the Florida College Young Republicans, said "no provocations, illegalities, or dirty pranks were carried out that summer because of the Watergate break-in and the heat of the investigation that followed."

Today's hearing was the first since the committee started May 17 which was not carried on live television—and a change in the atmosphere in the Senate Caucus Room was noticeable.

During most of the session, two to four senators were absent at various times and the press table had vacant seats. Spectators still filled every seat though and there were lines outside.

Kelly said he received a modest salary from Segretti for what he termed "negative campaigning" between December, 1971, and April or May, 1972.

In a brief statement, Kelly said he was first approached by Segretti, using the alias Donald Simmons, two years ago and was recruited as part of a team to carry out political "dirty tricks."

As a result, he said, "what political future I may have had has been virtually wiped out by what I did and what I was involved in."

Referring to "dirty tricks" that were carried out by a Segretti-recruited team against Democratic presidential aspirants — mostly Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Henry M. Jackson, and Hubert H. Humphrey — during the Florida primary campaign early last year, Kelly apologized.

Segretti did the same yesterday although Jackson, for one, refused to accept the apology, calling the tactics "filth, muck and slime."

Said Kelly:

"I very deeply regret the political and personal damage incurred by the senators, their families and staff members while running for higher office, as a result of my activities."

Kelly added: "Those who live by the sword die by the sword, and I feel that these hearings can serve no better function than to exemplify the necessity of keeping our political system free of the things that can make politics corrupt and eventually ineffective."

Segretti testified all day yesterday.

Jackson's criticism of the 32-year-old baby-faced Los Angeles lawyer was sharper than any addressed to Segretti during his appearance yesterday before the Senate Watergate committee, where he said he felt the "deepest regrets" for his activities. He said they "were wrong and have no place in the American political system."

Four more political sabotage agents were in line for questioning at today's session of the hearing if time permits.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Two contenders for the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination have accused Gov. Ronald Reagan and promoters of the governor's tax limitation initiative of trying to deceive the voters.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, yesterday called the effort to promote the Nov. 6 ballot measure a "smokescreen" while Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. described it as a "deliberate deception."

Meanwhile, Reagan issued a statement saying his tax ceiling plan still would allow the state to increase its budget by $800 million to a record $10 billion next year. He said this refutes opponents' arguments that Prop. 1 would result in reduced state spending.

Moretti, in a copyrighted article for "Employee," the official publication of the California State Employes Association, said it was "preposterous" for supporters of the limitation measure to suggest the average citizen would enjoy a long-range tax savings.

"The governor and his friends seem to be saying if you walk to work instead of riding the bus, you haven't saved what you withheld from the fare box, but you have saved the price of the Cadillac you didn't buy."

Moretti called for more volunteers to work against the supporters' campaign.

Trio Is Facing Pot Case In Superior Court

A Marin Municipal Court judge has bound over three Santa Venetia residents to superior court to stand trial on charges of possessing marijuana for sale.

Judge Gary W. Thomas on Tuesday ordered the trio to appear Oct. 23 in the higher court.

The charges stem from a raid on their house March 20 in which San Francisco police and Marin Sheriff's deputies reportedly found two pounds of pot.

The three are Jason Keith Anderson, 24, David Fremon Witty, 23, and Eric Landon Rice, also 23.

Two women arrested in the raid, Jean Mira Kubicki and Lynda Rae Stefko, both 25, have been charged with a misdemeanor count of possessing marijuana and are due in municipal court tomorrow for a change of plea or to set a trial date.

Auditorium Boss Likes Present Job

Leon G. Kalimos, director of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, said today he is not seeking new employment as has been speculated by some.

Kalimos said confusion may have grown out of his being hired as a theatrical consultant to various groups and companies outside Marin.

He said his consulting jobs are done on his own time and have nothing to do with his job as auditorium director.

Kalimos added that he has been approached with job offers on a number of occasions but has rejected them, preferring to stay in Marin.

On Tuesday, county supervisors agreed to take a new look at the auditorium operation and consider reducing rental rates to local nonprofit groups.

According to County Administrator John F. Barrows, future discussions will focus on whether the building should become more a community theater than a commercial theater.

Past county policy has been to attempt to balance community and commercial use of the building.

Woman, 66, Is Struck By Car

A 66-year-old San Rafael woman was hospitalized yesterday after being struck by an automobile in a crosswalk at the Emporium parking lot.

Margaret T. Tavernetti of 223 Fourth Street was reported in satisfactory condition today in Marin General Hospital with a fractured knee, bruised leg and scrapes.

Police said a car driven by Paul A. Tanner of 2433 Topaz Drive, Novato, collided with the woman as she stepped from behind a passing car into a crosswalk in the Emporium parking lot.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gladys Dobelle was named today as director of public relations for the San Francisco Opera.

'Dirty Tricks' Goal Was Nomination Of McGovern

WASHINGTON (UPI) —One of Donald H. Segretti's political saboteurs testified today a main goal of a Republican dirty tricks campaign in 1972 was to assure that George S. McGovern would win the Democratic presidential nomination.

Martin Douglas Kelly, 24, of Miami, told the Senate Watergate committee that the Watergate break-in "and the heat of the investigations that followed" forced the abandonment of elaborate plans to disrupt the Democratic convention in Miami Beach.

In another Watergate development, Samuel Dash, chief counsel for the Watergate committee, opened arguments before Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica on whether the court should order President Nixon to turn over his secret tapes regarding the scandal.

Kelly was hired by Segretti at the promised salary of $700 a month to disrupt the Democratic primary in Florida in March, 1972.

One of Segretti's plans was to arrange appointments with the state delegations to the July convention on behalf of all the contenders for the nomination except McGovern, Kelly said. When the appointments were not kept the delegates would be angered, he said, and McGovern's chances would benefit.

"McGovern was the desirable nominee of the convention as far as we were concerned," Kelly said.

The scheme was dropped after the Watergate break-in, he said.

Kelly, a former president of the Florida College Young Republicans, said "no provocations, illegalities, or dirty pranks were carried out that summer because of the Watergate break-in and the heat of the investigation that followed."

Today's hearing was the first since the committee started May 17 which was not carried on live television—and a change in the atmosphere in the Senate Caucus Room was noticeable.

During most of the session, two to four senators were absent at various times and the press table had vacant seats. Spectators still filled every seat though and there were lines outside.

Kelly said he received a modest salary from Segretti for what he termed "negative campaigning" between December, 1971, and April or May, 1972.

In a brief statement, Kelly said he was first approached by Segretti, using the alias Donald Simmons, two years ago and was recruited as part of a team to carry out political "dirty tricks."

As a result, he said, "what political future I may have had has been virtually wiped out by what I did and what I was involved in."

Referring to "dirty tricks" that were carried out by a Segretti-recruited team against Democratic presidential aspirants — mostly Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Henry M. Jackson, and Hubert H. Humphrey — during the Florida primary campaign early last year, Kelly apologized.

Segretti did the same yesterday although Jackson, for one, refused to accept the apology, calling the tactics "filth, muck and slime."

Said Kelly:

"I very deeply regret the political and personal damage incurred by the senators, their families and staff members while running for higher office, as a result of my activities."

Kelly added: "Those who live by the sword die by the sword, and I feel that these hearings can serve no better function than to exemplify the necessity of keeping our political system free of the things that can make politics corrupt and eventually ineffective."

Segretti testified all day yesterday.

Jackson's criticism of the 32-year-old baby-faced Los Angeles lawyer was sharper than any addressed to Segretti during his appearance yesterday before the Senate Watergate committee, where he said he felt the "deepest regrets" for his activities. He said they "were wrong and have no place in the American political system."

Four more political sabotage agents were in line for questioning at today's session of the hearing if time permits.

Air Board Refuses To Give Up Freeway, Land Use Jurisdiction

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Air Pollution Control District directors yesterday rejected a proposal by their staff that they give up jurisdiction over freeways and land use. (Another air pollution control story, page 1.)

The district's top administrator, D.J. Callaghan, unsuccessfully urged that review of freeway and road construction be delegated to the state Department of Transportation or Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

He also recommended that "land use decisions, which have been traditionally under the jurisdiction of local government, remain under local government."

Allied with the state and local government, he asserted, "we can mount a three-pronged attack on the problem of meeting and maintaining air quality standards." Callaghan offered his proposals as a way to prevent increased air pollution from shopping centers, amusement parks, major highways, airports, sports centers and large residential developments.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency has been pressuring the district to get into these touchy issues, and has vowed to crack down on such projects by Dec. 15 unless the district does so itself.

District directors unanimously rejected giving up their jurisdiction over highways, and avoided the issue of local government control over land use by dropping it from Callaghan's proposal. Only Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. objected to leaving land-use decisions entirely to local government.

The district would be abandoning its responsibilities if it failed to veto local government plans which would increase air pollution, Arrigoni said.

Callaghan's proposals, set for a board hearing on Nov. 7, also call for requiring district permits for certain apartments, hotels, motels, restaurants and office and commercial buildings. These categories were exempted from the permit requirements adopted earlier this year by the district.

Air Pollution Control District Directors Also:

VOTERS — Asked the staff to draft legislation to increase board representation from heavily populated counties in the district. Each now has two representatives on the 18-member board, regardless of population, a system being challenged in federal court by Santa Clara County Supervisor Dan A. McCorquodale.

VIOLATIONS — Received report that no violation notices were issued in Marin or Sonoma counties during the past month.

RESIGN — Received resignation of Edward Groth III, a member of the advisory council for the past three years and previously a persistent critic of the district. He has accepted a research position at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

OIL — Heard a plea by Standard Oil of California for a permit to build a $150 million unit in Richmond to refine produce low-sulfur oil needed to hold down air pollution as industry loses its supply of natural gas. The board, however, noted district regulations leave the decision entirely to the staff, and called Standard's presentation as effort to influence the staff.

Las Vegas Boy Is Poster Child

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Five-year-old Scott Hafen of Las Vegas has been named the 1974 March of Dimes National Poster Child, it was officially announced yesterday.

Golfer Arnold Palmer, honorary national chairman of the voluntary health organization, named young Hafen as poster child.

The youngster was born with multiple birth defects including an open spine, protrusion of the spine, and water on the brain. He will represent the children with birth defects during the March of Dimes appeal for funds to fight birth disorders.

Publicity Said Unfair To Calley

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Lawyers for 1st Lt. William L Calley Jr. today compared the pretrial publicity of the My Lai massacre case to that which arose later over Watergate and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's legal troubles.

Asking the Court of Military Appeals, highest military court in the land, to overturn Calley's conviction and 20-year sentence, his attorneys cited as grounds both pretrial publicity and Calley's contention that he was only following orders at My Lai.

In arguing that publicity kept Calley from getting a fair trial, George W. Latimer, his civilian attorney, said Calley and those involved in Watergate were "victims of undue publicity before the case," and added: "The same goes for Vice President Agnew."

Calley's military attorney, Capt. J. Houston Gordon, said the officer was only following orders to kill at the Vietnamese hamlet in 1968 and "he was attempting to the best of his ability to perform what he saw as his duty."

The three-judge civilian court is not expected to rule for several weeks—possibly months —Calley's appeal of his conviction of killing 22 Vietnamese civilians.

Energy Body, Smog Agency Vetoed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan, establishing a new personal record by vetoing 171 bills, has rejected legislation creating a statewide "energy crisis" commission and a super antismog agency in Southern California.

In all, the Republican chief executive vetoed 171 bills passed by the lawmakers for a new personal record. Last year, he rejected 168, his previous high.

The Legislature will return Jan. 7 and may attempt to override some of the vetoes —a task requiring two-thirds favorable vote of both houses. A veto hasn't been reversed since 1946.

One of the last bills vetoed was by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, and Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, which called for establishment of a five-member commission empowered to ration fuel, levy taxes and site nuclear electric generating plan.

Reagan acknowledged California faces an "energy crisis requiring a new process for expediting the location and construction of power plants," but said the measures "illconsidered" provisions wouldn't help solve the problem.

He termed many details "unacceptable" and noted in its final form the measure (SB283) never was heard by Senate committees. He also objected a tax on electricity consumers to help finance the commission's research and expressed hope the legislature would produce a "workable" bill next year.

The bill, bitterly opposed by utility companies and General Electric Co., among other things, would have empowered the commission to exclusively choose sites for nuclear plants, ration fuel during shortages and levy a coonsumer tax of about $1.25 a year per household.

He also vetoed major legislation (AB2283) by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti. D-Van Nuys, which would have established a regional air pollution control district in the smoggy South Coast Air Basin.

That agency, which would supercede existing local smog control districts, would have been financed by a tax on industrial waste dischargers and a one-tenth of a cent tax on each gallon of gas sold in the basin.

Reagan objected to the tax provision as well as to creating another layer of government, adding he wasn't convinced "the taxpayers will receive their money's worth in reduced pollution.

Moretti, a contender for governor next year, accused Reagan of joining up with "corporate polluters." He said that officials of the administration had supported the bill in legislative hearings.

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, another gubernatorial aspirant, also was the victim of a Reagan veto. The governor refused to sign a $27.8 million bill (SB1264) requiring every school district in the state to participate in providing free or low cost meals at school to needy children.

Reagan said he was sympathetic with the bill's intent but local districts should decide for themselves—as they now do—whether they want to furnish such meals and not have the state require it of them.

Legislation by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, aimed a reducing venereal disease among teen-agers by making condoms more available, including at vending machines, was vetoed.

"I believe it would permit an indiscriminate access to prophylactics which would not be in the public interest," Reagan said of the bill (SB1179).

Other major bills vetoed by Reagan included these:

INDIAN — Would have appropriated $1 million to provide financial and technical aid for Indian health care services (SB1212-Moscone, D-San Francisco). Reagan said the bill was "premature" because the federal government is developing a prepaid health care plan for Indians and said the measure would duplicate services already available.

NUTRITION — Would have spent $2 million through 1976 to develop a nutrition education program in California schools and hire personnel to carry it out (SB1302-Moscone, D-San Francisco). Reagan said a study is underway now to determine if such a program is necessary.

BART — Would have transferred $2.4 million in interest accumulated on a loan to the state by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District several years ago to BART, (SB66-Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek). Reagan said there never was an agreement to return the interest to BART and he saw "no compelling" reason to do so now.

LOANS — Would have created a state Housing Finance Agency with the power to issue revenue and general obligations to finance home loans to low and middle-income persons. (AB1152-Chacon, D-San Diego). Reagan, among other things, said when a "public agency enters the bond market it is not creating new capital, it is competing for it with other areas of demand."

MOURN — Would have included any day proclaimed by the President or governor a day of mourning as a state holiday. (SB1203-Stiern, D-Bakersfield). Reagan said the bill would have erased from the law books another bill already signed which makes Nov. 1 a Veterans Day holiday instead of the fourth Monday of October.

TRAINING — Would have required a training program for Youth Authority guards. (SB707-Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek). Reagan said the bill was too rigid in setting out training curriculum and would eliminate the Youth Authority's "flexibility" to keep the training program current.

CORRECTIONS — Would have established a new state commission to recruit, select and train local and state prison guards. (SB705-Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek). Reagan said this can be done without another state commission.

Two Are Named Cochairmen Of Rural Forum

Sue Jacob and Thomas Kruskal have been elected cochairmen by members of the Rural Forum, an organization of several West Marin groups.

Mrs. Jacob is chairman of Environmental Action Committee while Kruskal is a delegate from the Marin Conservation League, according to John F. West, a representative of Tomales Bay Association. Other groups sending delegates Monday night were the Marin Property Owners Association, Marin Farm Bureau and West Marin Chamber of Commerce.

In other business Forum members decided to ask the Marin County counsel's office for an opinion on the expanding populations at Synanon Foundation's Marin centers and set discussion of the topic for the next meeting on November 5. They also heard that appraisals are under way in the Olema Valley by the National Park Service for lands to be acquired for the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

Revision Asked On Delicatessen Plan

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee has asked for revision of the design of a delicatessen proposed for an old auto showroom at 244 East Blithedale Avenue.

Robert J. Hanna, associate planner, said that Ray Offenbach, who will run the delicatessen, was told Tuesday night to move the proposed entrance to an outdoor eating area at the delicatessen from the side to the front of his lot and asked to include more landscaping in the plans.

Stiff Campaign Donation, Conflict Bills Are Signed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Barely meeting a midnight deadline, Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed two landmark bills inspired by Watergate which are designed to help clean up politics by tightening conflict-of-interest and campaign contribution reporting laws.

The Democratic-sponsored measures were among scores signed by Reagan on Tuesday, the final day for acting on bills passed during the 1973 legislative session.

Most of the bills will take effect Jan. 1.

Other signed bills will give women equal rights with men in obtaining credit, require oil companies to cover sumps which kill 150,000 birds annually, and curtail the practice of courts treating motorists with prior drunken driving convictions as first-time offenders.

The conflict-of-interest bill (SB716), by Sen. George Moscone, San Francisco, was pushed through a Legislature mindful of the Watergate scandal during the final hours of the session. Moscone was helped by a fellow Democratic gubernatorial contender, Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti of Van Nuys.

The measure will require elected officials — state and local—to file yearly reports on their investments which exceed $1,000, and their income, gifts and loans over $250 if they pose a potential conflict of interest. An official will have to report any investment of more than $10,000.

Candidates will have to disclose holdings and income.

The campaign contribution bill (AB703), by Assemblyman Henry A. Waxman, D-Los Angeles, will require detailed identification of all donations exceeding $100. Now, identification is required only for contributions of $500 or more.

The State Board of Equalization will be required to audit expenditure statements of candidates who receive 15 per cent of the vote or who spend more than $25,000.

Cash contributions of $500 or more will be prohibited.

Reagan also signed these bills:

WOMEN — Prohibits businesses from discriminating because of sex and allows women to keep their credit if they divorce or their husbands die. (AB312— Waxman)

OIL — Requires oil companies to screen, cover or drain oil sumps that kill an estimated 150,000 waterfowl annually when they land thinking it is water. (AB2209—Karabian, D-Monterey Park)

DRUNKS — Restricts the authority of judges to dismiss a prior conviction when a drunken motorist is found guilty of a second offense. The second conviction now carries a mandatory five-day jail term but judges are reluctant to impose it. The sentence will be reduced to 48 hours. Judges threw out more than 25,000 prior convictions last year. (SB1264 — Deukmejian, R-Long Beach)

INJURE — Increases maximum disability payments under workmen's compensation from $150 to $119 (AB750); shortens waiting period for receiving benefits (AB751); boosts death benefits to widows and dependent children (AB752. All by Fenton.)

UNEMPLOYMENT — Increases unemployment benefits from a maximum $75 to $90 a week. (AB580 — Deddeh, D-Chula Vista)

DEALER — Permits auto dealers to protest and possibly block Detroit car manufacturers from granting franchises to nearby rivals. (AB225—Gonsalves, D-La Mirada)

BEER — Allows beer containers to have only 11 ½ ounces when the labels state the contents at 12 ounces. (AB948—Johnson, R-Chico)

GYM — Abolishes state-required physical education classes at community colleges. (AB1116 — Cory, D-Garden Grove)

BAY — Subjects violators of Bay Area Air Pollution Control District regulations to $500 fines. A court had ruled the district lacked this authority. (AB831—McAlister, D-San Jose)

HORSE — Grants the State Horse Racing Board exclusive authority to set racing dates. (AB1324—Ralph, D-Los Angeles)

LOVE — Makes it a crime to possess the so-called love drug methaqualone without a prescription. (AB2500—Fenton)

TRANSIT — Allows voters to impose a one-cent sales tax increase in the Southern California Rapid Transit District. (AB1727 — Gonsalves, D-La Mirada)

WATER — Places a $250 million bond issue for water quality control projects on the June, 1974 state ballot. (AB161— McCarthy, D-San Francisco)

DEAF — Appropriates $1 million for construction of a new school for the blind and a new Northern California school for the deaf. (SB1120—Grunsky)

SMOKERS — Requires commercial airlines and trains to prominently display notices advising passengers of space set aside for non-smokers. (AB1112—Mills, D-San Diego)

TRANSIT — Orders the Southern California Rapid Transit District to inform the legislature by Jan. 10 what its plans are for implementing and financing a rapid transit system. (SB205 — Walsh, D-Huntington Park)

Celebrities Not Exposed To Rabid Raccoons

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Henry Fonda, James Stewart and other celebrity guests at the "Beastly Ball", held last month to raise funds for the zoo, were not exposed to rabies after all, it was discovered yesterday.

An alarm was sounded Tuesday by county health authorities, who said that one of three raccoons displayed at the ball had been found to be rabid. Officials said the raccoon apparently was given rabies by receiving a faulty antirabies vaccine shot.

The county health department said yesterday that it was learned that only two baby raccoons were actually handled by guests at the ball, and not the adult animal. The baby raccoons did not have the disease, said Dr. Ralph Sachs.

Band Member Arraigned On Stolen Property

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — Toriano (Tito) Jackson, 19, of the Jackson Five singing group, was arraigned yesterday on two charges of receiving stolen property taken in a series of apartment burglaries.

Jackson, of Sun Valley, Calif., was ordered to enter a plea on Oct. 17.

Arraigned with him were Sanders Bracy, 24, of Van Nuys and John P. Jackson, 22, Reseda, who is no relation to the Jackson family singers. The three men were arrested last April in connection with burglaries at 50 San Fernando Valley apartments. John Jackson was charged with one count of receiving stolen property and Bracy with four counts of receiving stolen property and eight of burglary.

Folk Fair Will Be This Weekend

An old-fashioned mountain folk fair will be given by the Muir Woods Park Improvement Association on Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Ridge Avenue, just off Panoramic Highway.

According to fair organizers, it will feature for sale items of homemade cakes, pies and starter dough bread, pottery, puppets and weaving. There will also be pony rides, games for children, a flea market, folk dancing and a biergarten.

Instruction Set On 'Great Books'

A four-session course in which adults will learn how to conduct junior Great Books classes in Marin schools will be offered at Dominican College beginning Oct. 16.

Each session will be from 9:30 a.m. to noon in Guzman Hall. Additional information and registration may be obtained by contacting Lynn Blankfort at 274 Manor Drive, Mill Valley.

Stiff Campaign Donation, Conflict Bills Are Signed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Barely meeting a midnight deadline, Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed two landmark bills inspired by Watergate which are designed to help clean up politics by tightening conflict-of-interest and campaign contribution reporting laws.

The Democratic-sponsored measures were among scores signed by Reagan on Tuesday, the final day for acting on bills passed during the 1973 legislative session.

Most of the bills will take effect Jan. 1.

Other signed bills will give women equal rights with men in obtaining credit, require oil companies to cover sumps which kill 150,000 birds annually, and curtail the practice of courts treating motorists with prior drunken driving convictions as first-time offenders.

The conflict-of-interest bill (SB716), by Sen. George Moscone, San Francisco, was pushed through a Legislature mindful of the Watergate scandal during the final hours of the session. Moscone was helped by a fellow Democratic gubernatorial contender, Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti of Van Nuys.

The measure will require elected officials — state and local—to file yearly reports on their investments which exceed $1,000, and their income, gifts and loans over $250 if they pose a potential conflict of interest. An official will have to report any investment of more than $10,000.

Candidates will have to disclose holdings and income.

The campaign contribution bill (AB703), by Assemblyman Henry A. Waxman, D-Los Angeles, will require detailed identification of all donations exceeding $100. Now, identification is required only for contributions of $500 or more.

The State Board of Equalization will be required to audit expenditure statements of candidates who receive 15 per cent of the vote or who spend more than $25,000.

Cash contributions of $500 or more will be prohibited.

Reagan also signed these bills:

WOMEN — Prohibits businesses from discriminating because of sex and allows women to keep their credit if they divorce or their husbands die. (AB312— Waxman)

OIL — Requires oil companies to screen, cover or drain oil sumps that kill an estimated 150,000 waterfowl annually when they land thinking it is water. (AB2209—Karabian, D-Monterey Park)

DRUNKS — Restricts the authority of judges to dismiss a prior conviction when a drunken motorist is found guilty of a second offense. The second conviction now carries a mandatory five-day jail term but judges are reluctant to impose it. The sentence will be reduced to 48 hours. Judges threw out more than 25,000 prior convictions last year. (SB1264 — Deukmejian, R-Long Beach)

INJURE — Increases maximum disability payments under workmen's compensation from $150 to $119 (AB750); shortens waiting period for receiving benefits (AB751); boosts death benefits to widows and dependent children (AB752. All by Fenton.)

UNEMPLOYMENT — Increases unemployment benefits from a maximum $75 to $90 a week. (AB580 — Deddeh, D-Chula Vista)

DEALER — Permits auto dealers to protest and possibly block Detroit car manufacturers from granting franchises to nearby rivals. (AB225—Gonsalves, D-La Mirada)

BEER — Allows beer containers to have only 11 ½ ounces when the labels state the contents at 12 ounces. (AB948—Johnson, R-Chico)

GYM — Abolishes state-required physical education classes at community colleges. (AB1116 — Cory, D-Garden Grove)

BAY — Subjects violators of Bay Area Air Pollution Control District regulations to $500 fines. A court had ruled the district lacked this authority. (AB831— McAlister, D-San Jose)

HORSE — Grants the State Horse Racing Board exclusive authority to set racing dates. (AB1324—Ralph, D-Los Angeles)

LOVE — Makes it a crime to possess the so-called love drug methaqualone without a prescription. (AB2500—Fenton)

TRANSIT — Allows voters to impose a one-cent sales tax increase in the Southern California Rapid Transit District. (AB1727 — Gonsalves, D-La Mirada)

WATER — Places a $250 million bond issue for water quality control projects on the June, 1974 state ballot. (AB161— McCarthy, D-San Francisco)

DEAF — Appropriates $1 million for construction of a new school for the blind and a new Northern California school for the deaf. (SB1120—Grunsky)

SMOKERS — Requires commercial airlines and trains to prominently display notices advising passengers of space set aside for non-smokers. (AB1112—Mills, D-San Diego)

TRANSIT — Orders the Southern California Rapid Transit District to inform the legislature by Jan. 10 what its plans are for implementing and financing a rapid transit system. (SB205 — Walsh, D-Huntington Park)

Celebrities Not Exposed To Rabid Raccoons

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Henry Fonda, James Stewart and other celebrity guests at the "Beastly Ball", held last month to raise funds for the zoo, were not exposed to rabies after all, it was discovered yesterday.

An alarm was sounded Tuesday by county health authorities, who said that one of three raccoons displayed at the ball had been found to be rabid. Officials said the raccoon apparently was given rabies by receiving a faulty antirabies vaccine shot.

The county health department said yesterday that it was learned that only two baby raccoons were actually handled by guests at the ball, and not the adult animal. The baby raccoons did not have the disease, said Dr. Ralph Sachs.

Band Member Arraigned On Stolen Property

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — Toriano (Tito) Jackson, 19, of the Jackson Five singing group, was arraigned yesterday on two charges of receiving stolen property taken in a series of apartment burglaries.

Jackson, of Sun Valley, Calif., was ordered to enter a plea on Oct. 17.

Arraigned with him were Sanders Bracy, 24, of Van Nuys and John P. Jackson, 22, Reseda, who is no relation to the Jackson family singers. The three men were arrested last April in connection with burglaries at 50 San Fernando Valley apartments. John Jackson was charged with one count of receiving stolen property and Bracy with four counts of receiving stolen property and eight of burglary.

Court Backs Tiburon On Housing

A Tiburon ordinance temporarily banning apartment house owners from converting their units into condominiums is constitutional, Marin Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson has ruled.

Wilson Thursday dismissed a lawsuit filed by five men who own 24 apartment units. They had sought to prevent the city from enforcing the conversion ban passed July 23.

The four-month ban, renewable for another 20 months, was enacted to give the city time to prepare a housing element to its general plan.

Three of the five plaintiffs — Charles D. Kuhn, Alvin J. Harris and Richard A. Cerrutti — own eight apartments at 80 Lyford Drive. Edward H. Kuykendall and Jeffory S. Morshead own 16 units at 47 Lyford. They had applied to the city council to convert their holdings to condominiums.

"There can be little question", Wilson's ruling said, "that approval of the requested subdivision ... might conflict with the proposed housing element of the general plan."

Snake Charming Couple Is Freed

LONDON (UPI) —Two London street performers, in court accused of obstructing traffic, proved to the judge Tuesday that they still had something up their sleeve.

Their "act" was to charm a snake, and when the constable who arrested them told the judge the snake was "probably artificial," Dennis Carthy, 28, pulled the non-poisonous king snake from out of his shirt.

"It only eats one mouse a week," he told the judge.

Carthy and his partner, Anthony Gasson, 26, were released.

Reorganization Of Lambs Club Said Necessary

NEW YORK (UPI) —The president of the Lambs Club Tuesday said the venerable institution was forced to file for reorganization under the Federal Bankruptcy Act because of a general decline of the Broadway area and the death of a number of Broadway theaters.

The mens-only club, which has included Dwight Eisenhower and John Barrymore among its members in its 99-year history, was said to be $100,000 in the red.

Lambs president Thomas Dillon said the club was debating whether to break its century-old tradition barring women from membership.

A petition filed in Federal Court showed the club with liabilities of $567,011 and assets of $463,399.

Reorganization Of Lambs Club Said Necessary

NEW YORK (UPI) —The president of the Lambs Club Tuesday said the venerable institution was forced to file for reorganization under the Federal Bankruptcy Act because of a general decline of the Broadway area and the death of a number of Broadway theaters.

The mens-only club, which has included Dwight Eisenhower and John Barrymore among its members in its 99-year history, was said to be $100,000 in the red.

Lambs president Thomas Dillon said the club was debating whether to break its century-old tradition barring women from membership.

A petition filed in Federal Court showed the club with liabilities of $567,011 and assets of $463,399.

74TH ANNUAL

Grape Festival On Saturday

The Bay Area's longest running annual event, the Grape Festival, will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Marin County Civic Center Fairgrounds in San Rafael.

More than 1,500 volunteers are involved in the preparation and staffing of the 74th annual festival.

The flavor of an international wine festival will be added to the tradition, carrying out the theme "Vineyards of the World." Scheduled are day-long dance and musical entertainment, the crowning of a festival queen, the sale of wine, grapes and wine books and a demonstration of wine-making.

Heart of the charity festival will once more be the sale, from more than 50 booths, of handcraft items and homemade foods, prepared over a period of months by the 30 volunteer guilds of Sunny Hills. All proceeds from the festival go to Sunny Hills, a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed adolescents in San Anselmo.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Robert S. Phillips of San Rafael who has coordinated the efforts of guilds, 13 community organizations outside the guild structure, which are contributing booths and the corps of Girl and Boy Scouts who assist in clean-up chores each year.

Entertainment chairman is Mrs. Richard O'Brien of San Rafael. Music and dance groups who will entertain are the Novato Rural band under direction of Mrs. Merle Dahl, playing jugs, guitars and piano; the Saints and Sinners Dixieland Band from Terra Linda, led by David Browne; the Glimidakas Family, a group of Greek dancers from San Rafael, and the Amazing Thompson Brothers, a country-and-western group specializing in danceable oldies.

Opening the festivities will be Marin Sheriff's Deputy Norman Schuster of Santa Rosa, singing "The Star Spangled Banner." He will be followed by a U.S. Navy color guard from Treasure Island and drill team from Mare Island.

Grape Festival queen Kris Miklos of Novato and her two attendants, Joanie Flynn of San Rafael and Carol Tapping of Mill Valley, will be crowned in ceremonies at noon. William P. Murray, president of the Bank of Marin, will present an award to the queen. Chairman of the queen contest is Mrs. Henry Orrick of Ross, festival publicity chairman.

Master of ceremonies will be Dick Doughty of San Rafael, former newscaster, television personality and film producer.

Roger Hasper of Wine Art in San Francisco and home winemaker Dr. Robert Swanson of Tiburon will demonstrate how wine is made. Freshly harvested grapes will be available for foot-stomping.

Novato's Alvin Wayne and fellow members of the North American Model Boating Association will put their radio-controlled model boats through their paces — often at speeds up to 60 miles an hour — on the Civic Center Lagoon.

A gayway of entertainments for children will be presented by the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, led by President Mrs. James Reese of Kentfield. Twenty game booths, including pitch and toss games, a fish pond and fun wheel, and the popular makeup booth, will be on hand.

Grape Festival committee members include Mmes. Dennis White of San Rafael, products chairman; Robert Schneider of San Anselmo, secretary and chairman of the Sunny Hills Guilds Governing Council; Robert Berry of Kentfield and Marvin McCabe of San Rafael, banking, and Arnold Van Borkum of Corte Madera and Benjamin Upham of Mill Valley, physical set-up. Community booth chairman is Mrs. Steve Geary of San Rafael, and community booth physical setup chairman is Mrs. Joseph Boss of Mill Valley.

Other committee heads are Mmes. Cliff Radus of San Rafael and Don Johnson of San Anselmo, physical layout; Richard Grambow of Kentfield, paper and ice; Robert Sutherland of San Anselmo and Jane Powers of San Rafael, public service; Robert Knox of San Rafael, volunteer service; Hildreth Stong of Tiburon, shuttle and traffic William Miles and William Dacus of San Rafael junior volunteers and cleanup; and Charles Martineau of Novato, store diaplays.

Among products to be offered at bargain prices are preserved foods of all kinds from brandied fruits to pickles, candies and cakes, food for on-the-spot eating including chuckburgers, tomales, paisano sandwiches; and a wide variety of handcrafts including macrame, tote bags, hats, aprons, dried flowers, centerpieces, Halloween costumes and Christmas decor, pinatas, crib quilts, toys and decoupage.

Grapes, plants and wine books, beer and wine by the glass, will also be sold.

Among community organizations taking part are Rainbow Girls from San Rafael, Mill Valley and Novato, San Domenico School for Girls, Hamlin School in San Francisco, Marin Humane Society, Vallejo Community Church, Christ Presbyterian Church of Terra Linda, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Girl Scouts and the Marin Coin Club. A group of non-affiliated Tiburon women headed by Mrs. George McKegney are preparing cakes for the Tiburon Cake Box booth.

HATS IN FOR FALL

Knit hats are both warm and fashionable, and winter will see young Marinites (above) in knit caps and scarves in a variety of styles and patterns. Butcher boy hat on the girl (right) is also a child pleaser in rayon velvet to match the shorty jacket and flair leg pants outfit.

Political Course For Women Is Announced

Marin County women will have the opportunity to gain practical knowledge of politics and learn how campaigns are run in a six-week political action course beginning Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room at Corte Madera Chrysler Plymouth in Corte Madera.

The course is designed by and will be taught by San Francisco attorney Ruth Church Gupta, a former California state Assembly candidate, who has served for more than 10 years as legislative advocate for the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The course is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County and open to all women. The final five classes will be held Oct. 24 and 31 and Nov. 7, 14 and 21.

Mrs. Gupta, who has been active in local politics for many years, gives the course in hopes of increasing the number of women elected to public office, since only one woman holds a California statewide elective office; only one California woman sits in Congress; two women sit in the California State Assembly, and no woman has been elected to the California State Senate.

Mrs. Gupta is the author of a comprehensive book on the Equal Rights Amendment and has served on many commissions and boards. She is a member of the San Francisco Mayor's Commission of the Status of Women, the advisory council of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District and the national advisory board of Woman's Equity Action League. She is chairman of the California Legislative Round Table and cochairman of Citizens for Clean and Quiet Transit.

A workshop approach will be used for the course, according to Mrs. Gupta. Facets of politics, including fund raising, getting qualified candidates to run, precinct work,organizing a campaign and getting volunteers will be covered.

Mrs. William F. Krause of Corte Madera is registration chairman.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Fears Should Be Dismissed On End Of World During '75

DEAR RAP:

A friend of mine belongs to a religious group which predicts the end of the world will come in 1975. At first I thought they were crazy but they say they have proof: the Bible.

This may sound silly but I can't sleep because this is constantly on my mind. I want to live!

Please don't tell me to see my own minister. I did; it didn't help. — STILL WORRIED FRANTIC

DEAR SWF:

The religious group you mention has been predicting the end of the world almost every year for the last 25. I'm surprised they skipped 1974!

Since they've been consistently wrong, you really haven't much to worry about. — SUE

SWF:

Maybe these people are like the hypochrondriac who swore he was dying every time he got a sniffle. He was planted at the ripe old age of 89 — under a headstone which read, "See, I told you I was sick!"

Such a prediction might come true in some future century, but it won't be because this sect (or another like it) has a hot line to Heaven. Stop worrying. — HELEN

RAP:

Tell me something. When a girl dresses in a provocative fashion, she does it to get attention and admiration, yes?

So how come she gets mad when a man stares at her, and complains, "What the heck is that guy looking at?" — BAFFLED BY 'EM

BAFFLED:

There are stares and stares: an admiring look sets a girl up, but an undressing leer makes her feel like she's on the auction block. — HELEN

BAFFLED:

The girl who complains, "What the heck is that guy looking at?" would probably be the first to get upset when guys stop looking.

HELEN AND SUE:

I'll start right out by saying I don't love Butch anymore. But I did this summer when Karen took him away from me.

I hate Karen and know she'll be very bad for Butch. I don't care who else he goes with, but not her. I've even called her to tell her she's got to stay away from him, but I always chicken out and hang up the phone before I talk.

I know this sounds like I still want him back, but honest, I love two other guys now. And I'm having a great time being free.

Please tell me how I can keep Butch from getting mixed up with the wrong girl — Karen? — CYNDIE

CYNDIE:

You've discovered what a lot of girls won't admit: it's easier getting over a boyfriend than dropping a grudge.

Since you've been honest about your dislike for Karen, can't you also be honest enough to realize she did you a favor? After all, you're having "a great time being free" and, without her, this might not have happened.

So wish her and Butch lots of luck, and forget 'em. — HELEN AND SUE

Vows Are Exchanged In Temple

MRS. DANIEL GODFREY
Former Sue Murray

Sue Murray of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Daniel J. Godfrey of Murray, Utah, were married Sept. 26 at the Latter-Day Saints Temple in Salt Lake City.

A reception at the Lion House in Salt Lake City followed the ceremony, and the couple will again be honored Oct. 13 at an open house at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour J. Murray in San Rafael.

Maid of honor for her sister was Janis Murray of Salt Lake City. Another sister of the bride, Dianne Murray of San Rafael; the bridegroom's sister, Patricia Godfrey of Murray; and Laurie Harris of Grace, Idaho, were the bridesmaids.

James Godfrey was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Jeffrey and David Godfrey of Murray, the bridegroom's brothers; Mark and John Murray and Gary Joe of San Rafael, the bride's brothers.

Sue is a graduate of Terra Linda High School. She attended Brigham Young University and is employed as the assistant credit manager at Christiansen Diamond Products in Salt Lake City. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ira Cox of Pocatello, Idaho, and Mrs. Olive B. Murray of Salt Lake City.

Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Godfrey of Murray. He is a graduate of Murray High School and the University of Utah and is the business manager for Lifelike Hairpieces, Inc., in Salt Lake City.

Following a wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park the newlyweds will live in Salt Lake City.

Bachelor Becomes Dad To Part-Black Orphans

HONOLULU (UPI) — Danny and Tommy Davies barely remember their years in a Korean orphanage and the pain of rejection as part-black children no one wanted.

They have a big German shepherd now, a three-bedroom house and a doting bachelor father to love.

Capt. Thomas Davies Jr., who is white, covered thousands of miles, withstood years of waiting and combatted not-so-subtle prejudice to give the two children a chance. They were considered unadoptable.

Relaxing in his comfortable, hilltop home, Davies said the idea of adoption came while he was stationed in Germany.

"You know, it's happened in every war, Americans go into a country to help it and leave behind them a lot of fatherless children," Davies, 38, said. "I thought it might be a good thing if someone brought a couple of them home."

Seeking ways to adopt children, Davies volunteered for an administrative position at a remote radar station 18 miles southeast of Seoul, Korea, not far from the Star of the Sea orphanage.

"I visited and told the nuns I wanted to adopt two boys," Davies said. "At first I only wanted to adopt one child, but when I got to Korea I started thinking it wouldn't be very fair for the only child."

"THE NUNS said they would look for some children who would be 'suitable,'" Davies recalled. "I realized they thought I wanted children that were partly white."

"I assured them that I was not prejudiced, and that I would be happy with any racial mixture," Davies said. "Then the nuns told me about Tommy and Danny," both five.

"Tommy and Danny, though not related, already knew they were different from the other children," Davies said. "Tommy, who is lighter, didn't let it bother him, but Danny was terribly withdrawn.

"He couldn't respond to patting or hugging. The sisters told me he was that way all the time—that he never smiled."

"Look at him now," Davies said proudly, as the charming little boy flashed a semitoothless grin.

Davies explained he was able to adopt as a single parent because the adoption procedures are conducted under the laws of the home state, and Hawaii permits single adoptions.

But it took four months before the nuns would give Davies the proper adoption forms, and one nun took him aside and said he should reconsider, "that the boys would cause me more grief than I was bargaining for."

"I SIMPLY told her I was going ahead, that if there was any place in the world where it would work, that place was Hawaii."

But since a State Department regulation required that if a single serviceman adopts an alien, the child must remain outside the United States for two years after the adoption is final, Davies managed to get sent to a base in Southern Japan. Finally, in 1971, Davies was able to bring the children to Hickam Air Force base in Hawaii.

PARENT AND CHILD

Nonworking Mothers Can Answer Daycare Problem

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

In almost all major United States cities there are hundreds of mothers who hold down full-time daytime jobs. While they are at work someone else must care for their preschool children. And as anyone who has tried to find one will tell you, there aren't enough daycare centers to provide for even half of the working mothers.

This means that thousands of children get left with a baby sitter. While some such environments are culturally rich, many merely offer custodial care. Physical needs of the children may be met, but they don't have an exciting creative, growing, and stretching time.

While there are hundreds of mothers in inner cities who have to work away from home in order to provide basic family needs, there are an almost equal number of mothers living in cities and suburbs who provide their children with an exciting and creative environment and who do not have to leave home each day.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if those with the time, space, talent, and interest would meet the needs of those who must report for work by 9 a.m. and stay until 5 p.m.?

WOULDN'T IT be wonderful if young mothers from the suburbs would turn their homes into daycare centers and nursery schools sharing not only their children but their children's toys and time with children of working mothers?

A YOUNG mother I know has two children under five. After getting breakfast for a husband with an internship and for the two little ones, she gets into a waitress uniform and drives the children to a neighbor's home. While mother waits tables and dad both works and studies, the two little ones watch hours and hours of television and play aimlessly in a small bedroom.

Not far away, another young mother with two children the same ages devotes most of the morning to working with her children. She teaches them to sing, dance, draw, to recognize sights and sounds.

After the daily nap there is always an excursion outside to look at something interesting. Wouldn't it be wonderful if she could take the waitress's children and provide the sort of environment their parents would if they didn't have to work?

If a young mother didn't want to have four little ones each day, she could team up with one or two other nonworking mothers. They could share the chauffering duties and perhaps take turns providing the space and equipment.

When one thinks of cities like Boston and Washington the possibilities are exciting. In both these urban centers, there are a significant number of working mothers who have to place their children in custodial care.

AND SURROUNDING both those urban centers are communities with families of sufficient incomes where there are few working mothers. To get a childcare plan together would take some doing; perhaps this is the sort of activity the Junior League or American Association of University Women could undertake. Matching the working mothers with the nonworking mothers won't be easy. Finding the right environment and convenient transportation will require enormous organization and planning.

BUT THE rewards seem enormous. Not only would such an exchange (working mothers would expect to pay for this kind of service) enrich the lives of the children, but it would broaden the horizons of the families involved. For many, it might provide a first interracial opportunity.

It certainly would be a boon to those working mothers who despair of ever being able to prepare their preschoolers for the primary grades. Just look at the mother going off to a job every day so she can provide what's good for her children as they grow up. Yet every day she works, the same children are deprived of her teaching and caring.

What a relief to such a concerned mother to know that her little ones are having a rich preparatory time. And what a grand opportunity to share for those nonworking mothers who love and appreciate all little children.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Fears Should Be Dismissed On End Of World During '75

DEAR RAP:

A friend of mine belongs to a religious group which predicts the end of the world will come in 1975. At first I thought they were crazy but they say they have proof: the Bible.

This may sound silly but I can't sleep because this is constantly on my mind. I want to live!

Please don't tell me to see my own minister. I did; it didn't help. — STILL WORRIED FRANTIC

DEAR SWF:

The religious group you mention has been predicting the end of the world almost every year for the last 25. I'm surprised they skipped 1974!

SWF:

Maybe these people are like the hypochrondriac who swore he was dying every time he got a sniffle. He was planted at the ripe old age of 89 — under a headstone which read, "See, I told you I was sick!"

Such a prediction might come true in some future century, but it won't be because this sect (or another like it) has a hot line to Heaven. Stop worrying. — HELEN

RAP:

Tell me something. When a girl dresses in a provocative fashion, she does it to get attention and admiration, yes?

So how come she gets mad when a man stares at her, and complains, "What the heck is that guy looking at?" — BAFFLED BY 'EM

BAFFLED:

Blooming Bottles Are Beautiful

By EILEEN M. HASSE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Never before have the grocer's shelves been so filled with beautiful glass bottles and jars. These containers find their way into kitchens, and many people hate to part with them. It is no wonder that recycling these beauties has become a fad.

Filled with the right plants, your home can have a carefree indoor garden of blooming bottles. You will even find them very presentable as housewarming gifts and tokens for small favors. They are also interesting terrariums for shut-ins.

Blooming bottles need little care. Many plants that are easily under or over-watered do very well in water. A bit of charcoal may be added to the water to ward off bacteria and lengthen the weeks between waterchanges.

If you use plain water, not chemically softened, you will need to change it completely occasionally. It may not show signs of deterioration for weeks, however, and addition of water is all that is required.

Bottles are interesting containers for foliage plants and flowering bulbs, because they fit on the narrow sills found in modern architecture.

THE LARGE battery jars and jugs and crocks can be used as interesting floor planters without soil. To be doubly sure you don't damage the carpet or window sill use a piece of kitchen carpeting under the bottle.

Kitchen carpeting usually has a moisture barrier that will keep water spots from the surface beneath. Your carpet dealer will sell you samples and small remnants for pennies.

Most plants that do well in water are easily reproduced by stem cuttings, that is simply cutting off a stem and inserting it in water until it grows roots.

A healthier plant is produced if the lower two leaves are removed, giving two more nodes that will produce roots. As the plant grows, the center should be pinched out, thus topping the plant to encourage side shoots and a compact plant. Even vining plants should be topped to encourage lush side-growth.

Clear glass bottles may be filled with water tinted with food colors, adding interest and masking the root growth somewhat. Pebbles may also be added to bottles to make them more interesting.

Vining plants are more creative if you use florists' tape to form the vine into an interesting loop secured against the side of the bottle.

FLORISTS' TAPE can also secure a plant to the bottle to keep it from toppling out of the container or to maintain a balance that will keep the bottle from tipping. Pebbles in the bottom of the bottle will also add weight needed for remaining upright while producing larger plants.

If a plant becomes too unwieldy, it is a simple matter to cut it back to the size you desire.

All of the spring bulbs lend themselves to producing indoor bloom in a few weeks. Narcissus, hyacinths, daffodils, tulips, crocuses, cilia and some other bulbs do well when placed on a bed of gravel or pebbles and partly submerged in water.

Kept in a sunny window, they will give blossoms in about six weeks. Squatty glass jars that come with pimientos, mushrooms, and some condiments are ideal for indoor bulbs.

The bulbs may be stored after blooming by cutting the foliage and allowing the plant to become dormant for another year. Or they may be planted outdoors where they may take as long as three years to produce flowers, but they will bloom again. Spring bulbs make delightful gifts and small birthday remembrances.

Almost as cheery as a row of flowers on the sill are the colorful foliage plants that need no coaxing. Once a week add water enough to refill the bottle. Use a water-soluble plant food in the water you add weekly.

COLEUS COMES in many hues that vie with blossoms. Coleus grows from stem cuttings and surely will need to be "topped" to prevent legginess and encourage good side-growth. A large-mouthed jar is the best choice for this luxuriant plant.

All of the philodendron family, which were originally jungle plants, do well in water.

The best bets for bottle growth are the fiddle-leaf philodenron, Cordatum (small heart-shaped leaf), and Hastatium (much larger leaf) for a larger jar.

Glacier Ivy, the tiny leafed ivy with a white edge, adapts to bottle growing, and another prolific water plant is the green, glossy-leafed oldie sometimes called Jacob's Ladder or Wandering Jew.

Try recycling these glass containers and see how pleased you will be.

Lolli To Play Major Role In Alioto's Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A former high official in Gov. Ronald Reagan's Republican administration is the director of a key campaign committee in Mayor Joseph L. Alioto's bid for the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Andrew R. Lolli, Reagan's first director of the state General Services Department, now is executive director of Californians for Alioto—a campaign organization consisting primarily of previously inactive Democrats, independents and some Republicans.

"Alioto is a man of great depth and courage and the kind I could fight for. I'm still a great admirer of Reagan, always have been," Lolli told reporters.

Lolli, a former Army general, will operate out of a San Francisco office.

End Play Assures Superior Slam Victory At Six Diamonds

When you have a choice of slams, pick the best trump suit. You may be able to get rid of losers in the side suits. If you pick the wrong trump suit, there may be no way to avoid the loss of two trump tricks.

SIX HEARTS

When this hand was dealt in a tournament, many players bid up to six hearts. West sat back and waited for his two trump tricks.

A few pairs bid the superior slam in diamonds. Here, fine play limited West to just one heart trick.

The play was quite simple. Declarer ruffed the opening spade in dummy and ruffed a club in his hand. He ruffed another spade in dummy, cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed dummy's last club in his own hand.

LAST TRUMP

South next drew East's last trump and discarded two hearts from dummy on the ace and king of spades. This set the stage for the end play. Dummy held three hearts and two diamonds; South held four hearts and one diamond. The black suits had been eliminated from the North-South hands.

WEST THROWN IN

South next led a low heart, and West was thrown in. He had to step up with the queen of hearts to prevent dummy's jack from winning the trick. But then what could West do?

If West returned a heart, dummy's jack would win. If West, instead, returned a club or a spade, dummy would discard a heart and South would ruff. Either way the slam was assured.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - J 10 9 4 3
♥ - K Q 9
♦ - None
♣ - A Q J 6 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

It is often wise to bid the clubs first when you have five cards of each black suit. This is particularly true when the clubs are much stronger than the spades.

Accident Victim Said Improved

The condition of a 71-year-old San Rafael man, hospitalized last Wednesday after he was struck by an automobile in San Rafael, has improved from serious to fair, a Marin General Hospital spokesman reported yesterday.

Plinio Dell'Era of 223 D Street suffered multiple cuts, a fractured leg and pelvis, and abdominal pains in the accident, and has been confined to the hospital's intensive care unit, according to the spokesman.

Police said a car driven by Maryann E. Haeuser of 27 Hillcrest Drive, San Rafael, struck Dell'Era as he walked across D Street about 11:40 p.m.

Lolli To Play Major Role In Alioto's Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A former high official in Gov. Ronald Reagan's Republican administration is the director of a key campaign committee in Mayor Joseph L. Alioto's bid for the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Andrew R. Lolli, Reagan's first director of the state General Services Department, now is executive director of Californians for Alioto—a campaign organization consisting primarily of previously inactive Democrats, independents and some Republicans.

"Alioto is a man of great depth and courage and the kind I could fight for. I'm still a great admirer of Reagan, always have been," Lolli told reporters.

Lolli, a former Army general, will operate out of a San Francisco office.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

End Play Assures Superior Slam Victory At Six Diamonds

When you have a choice of slams, pick the best trump suit. You may be able to get rid of losers in the side suits. If you pick the wrong trump suit, there may be no way to avoid the loss of two trump tricks.

Opening lead – ♠ J

SIX HEARTS

When this hand was dealt in a tournament, many players bid up to six hearts. West sat back and waited for his two trump tricks.

The play was quite simple. Declarer ruffed the opening spade in dummy and ruffed a club in his hand. He ruffed another spade in dummy, cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed dummy's last club in his own hand.

LAST TRUMP

South next drew East's last trump and discarded two hearts from dummy on the ace and king of spades. This set the stage for the end play. Dummy held three hearts and two diamonds; South held four hearts and one diamond. The black suits had been eliminated from the North-South hands.

WEST THROWN IN

South next led a low heart, and West was thrown in. He had to step up with the queen of hearts to prevent dummy's jack from winning the trick. But then what could West do?

If West returned a heart, dummy's jack would win. If West, instead, returned a club or a spade, dummy would discard a heart and South would ruff. Either way the slam was assured.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - J 10 9 4 3
♥ - K Q 9
♦ - None
♣ - A Q J 6 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

It is often wise to bid the clubs first when you have five cards of each black suit. This is particularly true when the clubs are much stronger than the spades.

Accident Victim Said Improved

The condition of a 71-year-old San Rafael man, hospitalized last Wednesday after he was struck by an automobile in San Rafael, has improved from serious to fair, a Marin General Hospital spokesman reported yesterday.

Plinio Dell'Era of 223 D Street suffered multiple cuts, a fractured leg and pelvis, and abdominal pains in the accident, and has been confined to the hospital's intensive care unit, according to the spokesman.

Police said a car driven by Maryann E. Haeuser of 27 Hillcrest Drive, San Rafael, struck Dell'Era as he walked across D Street about 11:40 p.m.

A 'TUMMY' TRIMMER

Bard's Bust Is Not Hollow; No Secrets

STRATFORD - ON-AVON, England (UPI) —A gang of intruders removed an historic bust of William Shakespeare from its resting place above the Bard's tomb, police said today. They got nothing for their effort, but laid to rest yet another theory in the greatest literary mystery of all time.

A police spokesman said the intruders broke into the Holy Trinity Church Tuesday and removed the marble bust and its plinth, or base, causing superficial damage to the historic artwork. It was left in the church.

"It was obviously a search for something," the spokesman said.

"They were not vandals. They took extreme care. They took down the bust—it is so heavy that three large detectives had to pick it up again, and they had a deal of difficulty—and removed part of the plinth to see if it was hollow.

"It was not."

The intruders presumably were searching for manuscripts of the great plays that are now known as Shakespeare's work. As far as has been determined, no such manuscripts exist.

But a Washington journalist and broadcaster claimed last week that he had decoded the inscription under the bust in such a way as to indicate that the bust itself hid Shakespeare's own hand-written texts of his plays.

According to the experts, that theory has now been shot down.

In addition to the monetary value the manuscripts might have, they would figure prominently in the age-old controversy over whether Shakespeare himself actually was the author of the plays for which he now gets credit.

Several theories have been advanced suggesting that someone else, possibly a nobleman named Francis Bacon, authored the works, but none of these has been proved.

Cancer Crusade Raises $31,124

Some $31,125 was raised in Marin during the month-long American Cancer Society crusade last April, a crusade spokesman reported yesterday.

Auditing figures show that the sum was part of $74,882 raised by the society from September, 1972 through last August, according to Nina Brandt, director of the Marin unit of the society.

She listed other sources of funds as business gifts, $2,324; foundation gifts, $6,000; special events, $2,000 and memorial contributions, $27,000.

Six Nabbed In $200,000 Art Theft

NEW YORK (UPI) —Detectives yesterday arrested an art dealer and five others on charges of stealing 29 paintings worth an estimated $200,000 from the Manhattan apartment of U.S. Standard Oil heir Peter Salm, police said.

A department spokesman said detectives acting on information from the FBI raided the apartment of Gene Zimmerman, owner of the Gregoire Gallery, arrested him and recovered one of the stolen paintings.

At about the same time, he said, detectives raided another apartment, arrested the tenant, Maria Rosa, 25, and four other suspects, and confiscated six of the stolen paintings.

Police said the seven paintings and 22 others were discovered missing last Sept. 25 by the superintendent of Salm's Fifth Ave. apartment building. They said the art works were valued at about $200,000. Salm had been gone on business at the time of the break-in, they said.

Police said the superintendant noticed that a window to the second-floor apartment had been smashed and decided to investigate.

In addition to Zimmerman and Miss Rosa, the other suspects were identified as Robert Antonelli, 35; Linda Rubin, 20; Thomas Barone, 22; and Frank Collabella, 27, all of New York. All six were all charged with criminal possession of stolen property.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Coal Mining Issue Lacking In Appeal

Q. Please tell me what you can about Pittston Co. (NYSE). I bought at $36 and it is now $25. Should I average down or sell? — E.M.

A. Although at Pittston's recently depressed trading level many of the adverse factors have been discounted, the shares lack appeal and should be sold. Three high-sulphur coal mines have now been written off at a cost of $9.3 million or 24 cents a share. Brinks, which contributed 23 per cent to earnings last year, is continuing to suffer from a squeeze on margins. A refinery proposed for construction in Eastport, Maine, has met opposition from environmentalists. Coal production, accounting for over half of earnings, was off in the first half from 11.9 tons in the 1972 period to 9.7 million tons this year. Miner productivity, which has been an industrywide problem, has shown some improvement at Pittston and in the first six months productivity per man hour was up 2.4 per cent.

For the full year, earnings will probably be up somewhat over the $1.43 reported in 1972. Nonetheless the current 15 times multiple at which the shares are trading is in line with the company's historical multiple. Thus the shares will probably not outperform the market over the near term.

Q. I have a few hundred shares of Technology Fund and would like your opinion on this particular issue. I am now retired and would appreciate your advice. — H.C.

A. Although this fund has a good performance record, the yield is minimal at 1.8 per cent In view of your retirement you may prefer a fund which provides a more generous return. If this is the case, Supervised Investors Income Fund yielding 5.4 per cent is a good choice. Because these funds are under the same management you have the privilege of exchanging shares at net asset value plus a $5 fee. The Income Fund has an about average performance record, and has been particularly resistant to declining markets.

Market On Low Side At Opening

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices moved lower in moderate trading today on the New York Stock Exchange after the government announced a break in the nation's climbing inflation rate.

As the market opened, the Labor Department reported a 1.8 per cent drop in the wholesale price index for September.

Another market indicator, the yields on Treasury bills, was positive at the outset of the day's trading with the report that the interest rate on yearly bills had dropped a fraction of a percentage point yesterday.

Southwestern Public Service Co. was the most actively traded stock, off ⅜ at 11-1/4 on 138,100 shares.

Most groups were lower, and with few exceptions the glamors were off a point or more.

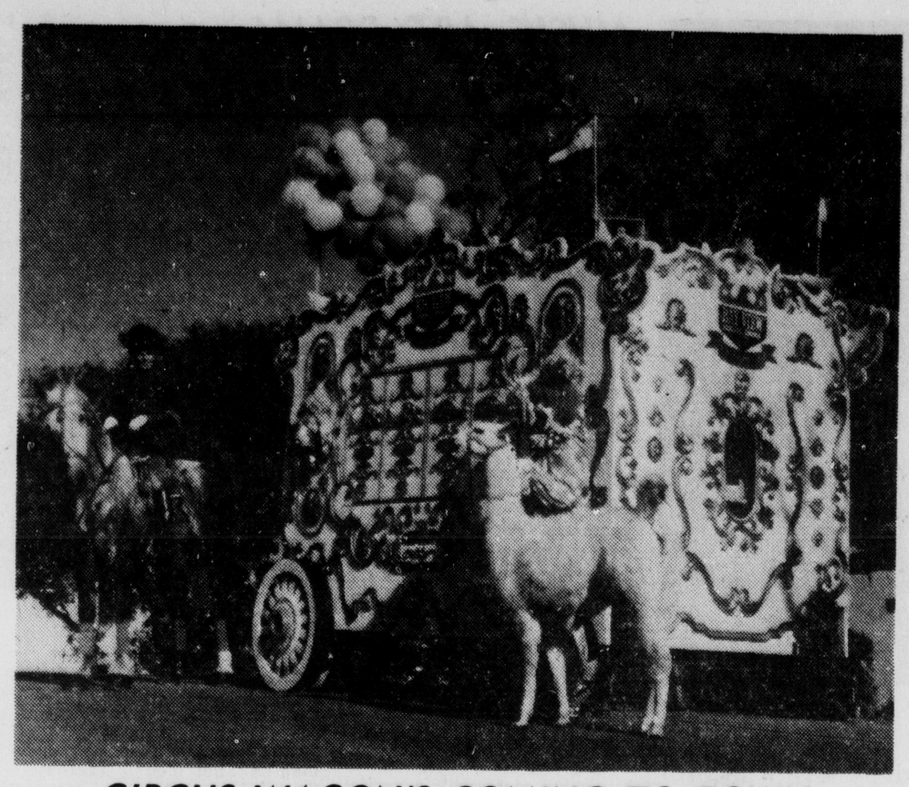
Oils also were generally lower, Kerr-McGee losing 1 ¼, Halliburton 1 ⅝, Natomas 1 ⅛, and Ohio Standard 1/2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also were mixed in moderate trading.



CIRCUS WAGON'S COMING TO TOWN

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Open House Slated At Funeral Parlor

Calder

Open house at a funeral parlor may sound a little macabre, but there's nothing macabre about the plans of Daphne and Nikke Daphne for the open house marking the first anniversary of Daphne Funerals Marin on Saturday.

Besides champagne and cakes and tours of the facility at 601 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m., there will be a drawing for a 19-inch color television set. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Daphne, parents of the Marin owners and founders of Daphne's San Francisco Funeral Service, will be on hand, along with their daughters and Val Johnson, director of Daphne Funerals Marin.

The Daphnes' current project is renovation of Fernwood Cemetery in Tennessee Valley, which will enable the firm to offer complete cemetery and burial service along with cemetery care.

Daniel S. Pannell of Petaluma has been promoted to manager of Bank of America's Montecito Center office in San Rafael. He replaces Harvey L. Hukkanen, who becomes credit administrator in the Santa Rosa-North Bay-North County region. Pannell has been assistant manager at the bank's Mill Valley office ... Michael A. Calder of San Rafael has been appointed assistant manager of Security Pacific Bank's Santa Rosa branch.

CHARTERED LINER — When a company charters the liner Queen Elizabeth II for a cruise to an event, it must regard that events as important.

That's what Newfoundland Refining Co. has done for dedication of its new refinery at Come By Chance in a remote harbor town of Newfoundland, which will process Iranian oil.

Jack F. M. Taylor of Sleepy Hollow and his wife will join the ship in New York Sunday. Taylor is a vice president of Newfoundland Refining.

REAL ESTATE SEMINAR — A two-day seminar on fundamentals of real estate investment will be held at Indian Valley Colleges in Novato from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday and Oct. 13. Teacher will be realty broker James F. Picchi of Novato, who has presented the same course nationally for the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

MONEY TALKS — "The Current Money Situation and New Trends in Financing" will be discussed by three speakers at Tuesday's 8 a.m. breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

The speakers will be Gene DiBasio, branch manager of Homestead Savings and Loan in San Rafael; Reno Consulter, branch manager of Mason-McDuffie Co. in San Rafael, and William Seck, assistant treasurer of Advance Mortgage Corp. in Tiburon.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Coal Mining Issue Lacking In Appeal

Q. Please tell me what you can about Pittston Co. (NYSE). I bought at $36 and it is now $25. Should I average down or sell? — E.M.

A. Although at Pittston's recently depressed trading level many of the adverse factors have been discounted, the shares lack appeal and should be sold. Three high-sulphur coal mines have now been written off at a cost of $9.3 million or 24 cents a share. Brinks, which contributed 23 per cent to earnings last year, is continuing to suffer from a squeeze on margins. A refinery proposed for construction in Eastport, Maine, has met opposition from environmentalists. Coal production, accounting for over half of earnings, was off in the first half from 11.9 tons in the 1972 period to 9.7 million tons this year. Miner productivity, which has been an industrywide problem, has shown some improvement at Pittston and in the first six months productivity per man hour was up 2.4 per cent.

For the full year, earnings will probably be up somewhat over the $1.43 reported in 1972. Nonetheless the current 15 times multiple at which the shares are trading is in line with the company's historical multiple. Thus the shares will probably not outperform the market over the near term.

Q. I have a few hundred shares of Technology Fund and would like your opinion on this particular issue. I am now retired and would appreciate your advice. — H.C.

A. Although this fund has a good performance record, the yield is minimal at 1.8 per cent In view of your retirement you may prefer a fund which provides a more generous return. If this is the case, Supervised Investors Income Fund yielding 5.4 per cent is a good choice. Because these funds are under the same management you have the privilege of exchanging shares at net asset value plus a $5 fee. The Income Fund has an about average performance record, and has been particularly resistant to declining markets.

Market On Low Side At Opening

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices moved lower in moderate trading today on the New York Stock Exchange after the government announced a break in the nation's climbing inflation rate.

As the market opened, the Labor Department reported a 1.8 per cent drop in the wholesale price index for September.

Another market indicator, the yields on Treasury bills, was positive at the outset of the day's trading with the report that the interest rate on yearly bills had dropped a fraction of a percentage point yesterday.

Southwestern Public Service Co. was the most actively traded stock, off ⅜ at 11-1/4 on 138,100 shares.

Most groups were lower, and with few exceptions the glamors were off a point or more.

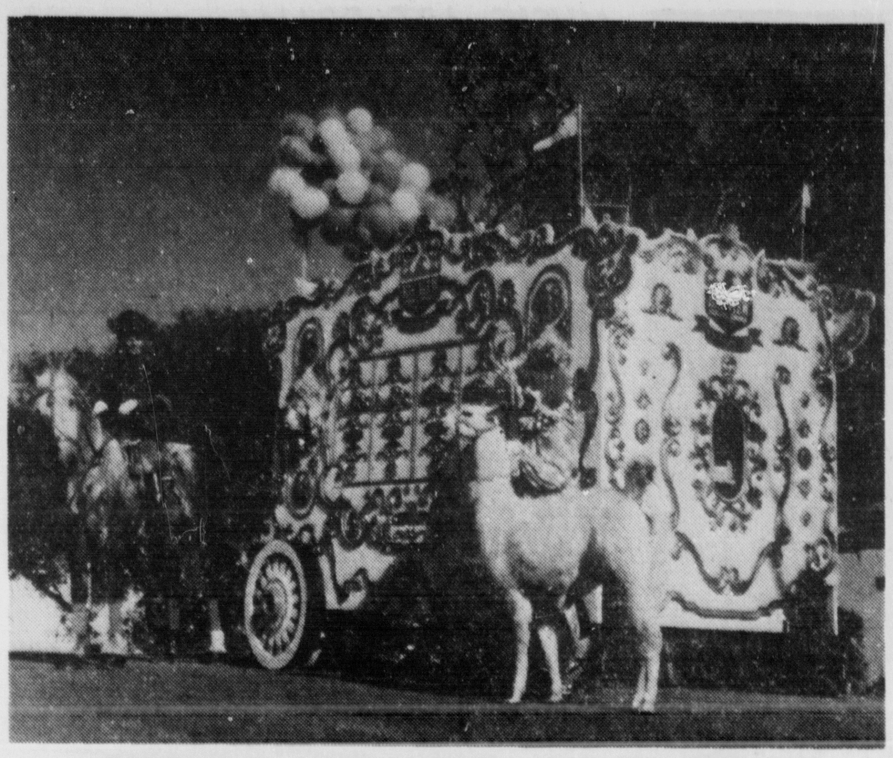
Oils also were generally lower, Kerr-McGee losing 1 ¼, Halliburton 1 ⅜, Natomas 1 ⅛, and Ohio Standard 1/2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also were mixed in moderate trading.



CIRCUS WAGON'S COMING TO TOWN

College Board Backs Work, Study Program

A program allowing students to work fulltime and attend classes fulltime on alternate semesters and receive college credit for both was approved last night by the Marin Community College District board.

Trustees accepted a $25,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (to be matched by $3,260 in district funds) to begin the program.

The board also created the position of a part-time job finder for students to coordinate the program.

The coordinator will seek jobs for students in fields related to their college major and credit will be determined according to the number of hours worked, Earlene Jones, district publicist, said.

She said the program will be open to students at both the College of Marin and Indian Valley Colleges and students could be working fulltime for credit in the 1974 spring semester.

The process of advertising the coordinator's position and interviewing candidates prior to selection by the board will take about a month, Mrs. Jones said.

About 600 students presently receive one unit of credit for part-time work under the college's work experience program.

Marin Community College District Board Also:

PERSONNEL — Authorized hiring Idgi Remington as student activities assistant for a $640 monthly salary and Grace Bohanna as a typist clerk in admissions and records for a $610 monthly salary.

CLASSIFIED — Authorized hiring two laboratory technicians and three typist clerks in classified positions rather than hiring students on an hourly rate.

BUS — Granted permission to the Marin County Transit District to place a bus shelter on College of Marin property on College Avenue.

CHANGE — Authorized a change in site development at Indian Valley Colleges for work on the power plant and extension of a service road at a cost of $5,530.

LIBRARY — Told the contractor for the new College of Marin library that if problems with the building's heating, ventilating and air conditioning system are not corrected before Oct. 17 the contractor will be declared in breech of contract.

DISTRICT — Authorized Dist. Supt. John A. Grasham to name a committee to determine which functions of the district fall under the College of Marin, Indian Valley Colleges and districtwide authority. Report to be made to the board by Jan. 3.

CONSTRUCTION — Announced a workshop meeting of the board Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 160 of the office center, College of Marin, to discuss district's 10-year construction plans.

ACCREDITATION — Announced informal supper with accreditation team Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the college center staff lounge. The team will report its findings at 10 a.m. Oct. 11 in the college's fine arts theater.

Three Plays Set At College

The Julien Theater of San Francisco will present three plays tomorrow in Ives Hall at Sonoma State College.

The group is considered one of the oldest continuously active theater groups in San Francisco.

Eugene Ionesco's "The Lesson" will be presented at noon. It was written in France in 1951, and is considered an early example of the theater of the absurd.

The performance at 8 p.m. will include Pinter's "Landscape" and "Poetry of the New World" featuring poems from both North and South America.

Volunteer Firemen Set Annual Dance

The Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association last night set Nov. 3 as the date of its annual firemen's ball.

The dance will be held at the Corinthian Yacht Club from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. with the Bill Sache Orchestra playing, according to Capt. Thomas W. Murphy, association president.

Lagunitas Application Is Approved

Lagunitas School District trustees were told last night that their application for the state Right-to-Read Program had been approved.

Available to the district without cost, the program will provide specialists from the State Department of Education to give in-service aid to Lagunitas teachers, according to Anna Mae Kondratieff, district business manager.

Trustees were told enrollment is 501 students, (up one) from last year when the highest number attending classes was 500.

The Lagunitas School District Board of Trustees added two student nurses to assist the regular county nurse when she visits the district once a week.

In other action trustees postponed discussion of a state tax proposal, proposition one, until further information can be obtained. They also approved the hiring of Anita Dittman to work four hours a week as a gymnastics instructor.

Trial In Slide Case Delayed

A jury trial on Mill Valley's suit against four property owners in connection with the massive Miller Avenue slide has been delayed to the week of Dec. 26.

Marin Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick Monday granted the delay at the request of defendants Henry T. Gunderson and Fred and Vernita Davidson to give their attorneys time to become familiar with the complex case.

Mill Valley has sued the Davidsons, Gunderson and Malinda Rowe-Beddoe for $50,000, claiming their property was involved in the Feb. 11, 1969 slide which blocked part of Miller Avenue for 33 months.

Race Relations Of Army Lauded

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The director of the Army's Equal Opportunity Program said yesterday the Army is ahead of the rest of society in the field of race relations.

"The Army is developing a program with an atmosphere of racial harmony for all our people," said Col. Ernest R. Frazier, a black heading an effort to eliminate 128 "deficiencies" in the Army's racial relations.

He said the Army was leading the way in eliminating racial discrimination.

Chairman Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Organizers of the American Indian National Bank, first in the nation to be owned and operated by American Indians, said today W. W. Keeler, principal chief of the Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma, will be chairman of the board.

Closer Scrutiny Due Development Projects

Sausalito planning commissioners last night voted to increase scrutiny of development projects by declaring all projects that require an environmental impact report subject to review by the planning commission.

The measure, making such projects a conditional use, does not affect projects that already have been approved but are awaiting completion of an environmental impact report.

Before the change, if proposed projects complied with zoning they were not reviewed by planning commissioners, although the impact report was. The measure not only adds to review procedures but eliminates the awkward practice of having planners review the impact report but not the actual project plans, according to assistant planner Jerry Cormack.

The measure, expected to meet with strong opposition from developers, must now go to the city council for approval.

College Board Backs Work, Study Program

A program allowing students to work fulltime and attend classes fulltime on alternate semesters and receive college credit for both was approved last night by the Marin Community College District board.

Trustees accepted a $25,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (to be matched by $3,260 in district funds) to begin the program.

The board also created the position of a part-time job finder for students to coordinate the program.

The coordinator will seek jobs for students in fields related to their college major and credit will be determined according to the number of hours worked, Earlene Jones, district publicist, said.

She said the program will be open to students at both the College of Marin and Indian Valley Colleges and students could be working fulltime for credit in the 1974 spring semester.

The process of advertising the coordinator's position and interviewing candidates prior to selection by the board will take about a month, Mrs. Jones said.

About 600 students presently receive one unit of credit for part-time work under the college's work experience program.

Marin Community College District Board Also:

PERSONNEL — Authorized hiring Idgi Remington as student activities assistant for a $640 monthly salary and Grace Bohanna as a typist clerk in admissions and records for a $610 monthly salary.

CLASSIFIED — Authorized hiring two laboratory technicians and three typist clerks in classified positions rather than hiring students on an hourly rate.

BUS — Granted permission to the Marin County Transit District to place a bus shelter on College of Marin property on College Avenue.

CHANGE — Authorized a change in site development at Indian Valley Colleges for work on the power plant and extension of a service road at a cost of $5,530.

LIBRARY — Told the contractor for the new College of Marin library that if problems with the building's heating, ventilating and air conditioning system are not corrected before Oct. 17 the contractor will be declared in breech of contract.

DISTRICT — Authorized Dist. Supt. John A. Grasham to name a committee to determine which functions of the district fall under the College of Marin, Indian Valley Colleges and districtwide authority. Report to be made to the board by Jan. 3.

CONSTRUCTION — Announced a workshop meeting of the board Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 160 of the office center, College of Marin, to discuss district's 10-year construction plans.

ACCREDITATION — Announced informal supper with accreditation team Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the college center staff lounge. The team will report its findings at 10 a.m. Oct. 11 in the college's fine arts theater.

Three Plays Set At College

The Julien Theater of San Francisco will present three plays tomorrow in Ives Hall at Sonoma State College.

The group is considered one of the oldest continuously active theater groups in San Francisco.

Eugene Ionesco's "The Lesson" will be presented at noon. It was written in France in 1951, and is considered an early example of the theater of the absurd.

The performance at 8 p.m. will include Pinter's "Landscape" and "Poetry of the New World" featuring poems from both North and South America.

Volunteer Firemen Set Annual Dance

The Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association last night set Nov. 3 as the date of its annual firemen's ball.

The dance will be held at the Corinthian Yacht Club from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. with the Bill Sache Orchestra playing, according to Capt. Thomas W. Murphy, association president.

Race Relations Of Army Lauded

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The director of the Army's Equal Opportunity Program said yesterday the Army is ahead of the rest of society in the field of race relations.

"The Army is developing a program with an atmosphere of racial harmony for all our people," said Col. Ernest R. Frazier, a black heading an effort to eliminate 128 "deficiencies" in the Army's racial relations.

He said the Army was leading the way in eliminating racial discrimination.

Lagunitas Application Is Approved

Lagunitas School District trustees were told last night that their application for the state Right-to-Read Program had been approved.

Available to the district without cost, the program will provide specialists from the State Department of Education to give in-service aid to Lagunitas teachers, according to Anna Mae Kondratieff, district business manager.

Trustees were told enrollment is 501 students, (up one) from last year when the highest number attending classes was 500.

The Lagunitas School District Board of Trustees added two student nurses to assist the regular county nurse when she visits the district once a week.

In other action trustees postponed discussion of a state tax proposal, proposition one, until further information can be obtained. They also approved the hiring of Anita Dittman to work four hours a week as a gymnastics instructor.

Trial In Slide Case Delayed

A jury trial on Mill Valley's suit against four property owners in connection with the massive Miller Avenue slide has been delayed to the week of Dec. 26.

Marin Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick Monday granted the delay at the request of defendants Henry T. Gunderson and Fred and Vernita Davidson to give their attorneys time to become familiar with the complex case.

Mill Valley has sued the Davidsons, Gunderson and Malinda Rowe-Beddoe for $50,000, claiming their property was involved in the Feb. 11, 1969 slide which blocked part of Miller Avenue for 33 months.

Chairman Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Organizers of the American Indian National Bank, first in the nation to be owned and operated by American Indians, said today W. W. Keeler, principal chief of the Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma, will be chairman of the board.

Closer Scrutiny Due Development Projects

Sausalito planning commissioners last night voted to increase scrutiny of development projects by declaring all projects that require an environmental impact report subject to review by the planning commission.

The measure, making such projects a conditional use, does not affect projects that already have been approved but are awaiting completion of an environmental impact report.

Before the change, if proposed projects complied with zoning they were not reviewed by planning commissioners, although the impact report was. The measure not only adds to review procedures but eliminates the awkward practice of having planners review the impact report but not the actual project plans, according to assistant planner Jerry Cormack.

The measure, expected to meet with strong opposition from developers, must now go to the city council for approval.

NOVATO OPENING

Savings Firm Sizzles Sirloin

Band playing, pom pon girls dancing, balloons everywhere and the tantalizing smell of a mountain of meat barbecueing greeted nearly 2,000 people last night in Novato.

It sounds like a homecoming football game and picnic, but it wasn't. It was the grand opening of Northern California Savings and Loan Association in the downtown shopping center at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue.

Janet Hayes of San Marin High School and Charles Lewis of the Novato Chamber of Commerce won the ribbon cutting honors in a contest which pitted five Novato High School pompon girls against the Novato City Council and five San Marin High School pompon girls against five Chamber of Commerce officers.

Hundreds of pounds of sirloin beef sizzled on a mammoth barbecue behind the building. Tables and tents had been set up in the mall of the shopping center between it and the bridge over Novato Creek to the library.

More than 1,700 people were served barbecued sirloin, beans, stewed tomatoes, green salad and french bread. No one was turned away, even though the barbecue had been planned for 1,500 and all the tickets had been sold. Among the guests were 100 students from the two high schools and 4-H clubs who had helped in the opening and 90 employees of the firm, who came from as far away as Salinas in a chartered bus.

The barbecue cost only a $1.50 contribution to a local Novato organization. More than 2,300 for these groups.

They include the Novato Boys Club, Four Novato 4-H clubs, Novato High School band and cheerleaders funds, San Marin High cheerleaders fund, Sinaloa Parent-Teacher Association, Novato Explorer Scouts, Novato Firemen, both volunteer and paid, the Novato Oldtown foundation and the prehistory museum.

After the barbecue, residents of Novato milled around in groups as at an old-fashioned picnic.

Hiring Plan Is Laid Out

A schedule of steps to be taken in the search for a new Mill Valley city manager were laid out last night by the city council.

Last night's meeting, which was held partly to decide whether to allow citizens to join in the selection process, drew only seven people, according to Mayor Jean S. Barnard.

But, the mayor reported, in spite of the low turnout the council decided to appoint a citizens group to assist in the process including five or six citizens, one or two city managers from other cities and one representative from the county administrator's office.

The mayor said the selection process will begin in a few weeks with all five councilmen looking over applications for the job and narrowing candidates down to about 20.

By Nov. 5, the citizens group will be selected, she said, and by Nov. 15, the council will write an evaluation form for the citizens to use in rating candidates for the job.

Then the citizens group will evaluate the candidates. But it will not be allowed to throw out any of them, according to the mayor.

After more screening by the council, the 10 finalists in the race for the job will be interviewed in person at Thanksgiving time by both the council and the citizens group.

After arriving at two final candidates, council members will visit the towns in which these men previously worked.

By Dec. 1 the council will decide who the new manager will be.

A GOOD SEASON

The Lure Of Salmon Fishing

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Salmon fishing season is over for the commercial fleet and local fishermen are busy scrubbing their boats clean and swapping stories about their five-and-one-half-month pursuit of the prime rib of the ocean, which these days commands prices comparable to Maine lobster and filet mignon.

Fishermen received $1.50 for a large salmon and $1.30 for smaller ones under 10 pounds, according to Zeke Grader of Ocean Traders, Sausalito's wholesale fish dealer. Grader sells the catch at between $1.80 and $2 a pound. About half the fish go to fresh markets in the Bay Area and the rest are exported to Europe and Japan.

This season, which began April 15 and ended Sunday, is generally regarded as a fine one, highlighted by a spectacular run off Fort Bragg in June, the largest on the West Coast since 1955. The State Fish and Game Department estimates that a million pounds of king and silver salmon were landed during a two-week period.

That run, however, lured most boats out of local waters, cutting into the volume of fish sold to ocean traders. This year, the firm — which buys and sells more fish than any other individual wholesaler in either San Francisco or Oakland — took in about 225,000 pounds, equal to last year, said Grader. In great seasons, the company has taken in up to 600,000 pounds.

Although this season was big, the salmon generally were smaller. Larger fish averaged between nine and 10 pounds, compared to other years when they have averaged 16 pounds. The biggest single fish scaled 38 pounds, but 50-pounders have not been uncommon in the past, according to Grader.

It's not a case of the big ones getting away, they just haven't been around, he said, adding that the heavyweights may be running late this year off Point Reyes and Half Moon Bay.

The last week of the season for Leonard Major of San Rafael ended Saturday night when he and his 50-foot boat, Angela Mia, sliced into Richardson Bay with 100 salmon iced into the hold.

Major and other salmon catchers complained of voracious sea lions that ate their way into fishermen's profits. "Sea lions ate more salmon than we could catch," he moaned.

The fishermen agree that "it is time for the conservationists to take a good look at sea lions," which steal the salmon's precious pink flesh from the lines and disappear with hook, line and sinker.

The ocean mammals have been protected for the past year under federal law, which makes it illegal for a trolling fisherman — who catches salmon and albacore on a line —to take a sea lion interfering with his catch, according to fish and game officials. Net and purse seine boats are not subject to the restriction.

Fishermen contend the seas are teeming with sea lions — not considered an endangered species — and urge a change in federal law to allow fishermen to protect their catches.

Grader pointed out that striped bass, which cannot be fished commercially in California, also are overpopulating waters and eating young fingerling salmon. The prohibition against fishing for striped bass dates back about a quarter-century, when sportsmen argued that commercial boats netting salmon and bass in the river deltas, were spoiling their sport, according to Patrol Capt. Niles Millen of the fish and game department.

Like sea lions, he said, striped bass are in no immediate danger of extinction.

A relative newcomer to the commercial fleet, Leonard Major realized a lifelong mbition three years ago when he bought his first boat. A family man with a profitable dry cleaning business in San Rafael, he put off the dangerous and economically unpredictable life of the fisherman until the children were grown. Now in his mid-50s, he can fulfill a childhood fantasy sparked by growing up on the shores of the Great Lakes where rugged men chased flashing fish.

Life at sea, however, does not turn out to be all dime-novel romanticism. Salmon men "work like hell" during the season, he said, tending lines and hauling in the catch from sunrise to sunset. They leave the fishing grounds at dark, running for sheltered anchorages, where as many as 50 or 60 boats form a temporary floating town. Although there is plenty of company, there is little social activity — communication limited to a few scratchy words over two-way radio.

"That is the extent of socialization," said Major. "After a day of fishing, you're happy to go to bed."

Like Hemingway's well-known protagonist, Major and many of his colleagues fish alone, most often out of economic inability to pay a helper but sometimes out of choice. "I like it," said Major, an outgoing, gregarious fellow when he returns to port.

Many landlubbers are misled by myths that a good fisherman can get rich quick harvesting the sea, said Robert Steele, whose 48-foot boat, The Kay, is tied up alongside Major's at the Army Corps of Engineers dock in Sausalito.

In good years, fishermen may record large gross incomes, but the money that gets in the bank is considerably smaller after payments on boats — that can cost between $40,000 and $125,000 or more — and other equipment and supplies.

"Sometimes you think you are going to get rich but you never do," said the 35-year-old Steele, a former grocery clerk, insurance salesman and lineman for Pacific Telephone. "You buy a boat and you have a job."

Major and others fish for "market fish," such as cod, red snapper and bass, when salmon season ends, and usually lay off for a few months when weather gets bad during winter.

Steele primarily is an albacore man. His boat has refrigeration equipment and other gear that enable it to travel longer distances in search of the bullet-shaped albacore that run in swift schools more than 100 miles out at sea.

Albacore fishermen sometimes stay at sea for as long as three weeks, and he talked of sleepless nights in water too deep for anchors, when boats are tossed on mountainous swells and threaten to ram each other in the dark.

He brought up the possible discontinuation by the federal government of loran stations, which by radio signal from shore help fishermen determine their bearings, and the threat of competition by foreign fleets, mostly Russian and Korean.

"These are some of the many problems we must overcome," he said, leading one to ask why he does it year after year. "For all the guys there is the ultimate thrill that we never tire of — good fishing."

LAST CATCH — Kenneth King of Ocean Traders in Sausalito weighs part of the salmon catch brought in during the last week of the commercial season which ended Sunday. To the right are the fishing boats Angela Mia and The Kay, owned by Leonard Major of San Rafael and Robert Steele of Sausalito, both dedicated salmon chasers who "work like hell" in their uncommon trade because they love the thrill of good fishing.

Continued Water Ban Seen As Both Harmful, Helpful

By KAREN PETERSON

Continuation of the present water connection moratorium for two more years could cost the Marin County economy $57 million and cost 1,600 workers their jobs, Marin Municipal Water District directors were told last night.

But neither effect would constitute a major impact on the county, and would reduce the costs to some county agencies, concluded the report by district consultants, Arthur D. Little Co. of San Francisco, at the special meeting at the College of Marin.

The meeting before the large audience at Olney Hall, made up primarily of students, was called to hear both the report on the economic effect of the continuation of the connection ban and the preliminary environmental impact report on the proposed intertie.

Directors were told the intertie pipeline that would bring Russian River water to Marin via the North Marin County Water District would have little impact on the physical or cultural environment.

The $57 million blow to the economy during a two-year moratorium includes a $20 million wage loss to approximately 1,600 construction and construction-related company workers, said representative Donald Black. The report, he added, did not take into account any loss of jobs or income by architects and real estate companies.

A ban, he said, would also mean $30 million less in increased assessed valuation, assuming that continues to rise as it has in the past. That loss, he said, would be worse if it were not for the fact that there would also be a sharper rise in value of that property already connected to the water supply.

Other areas of loss pointed out by the report included property tax, a loss of $3.5 million each year of the ban; the sale of construction materials, a loss of $1.5 to $3 million, and)ales tax, a loss of $55,000 for the first year and $105,000 for the second.

Education costs, Black said, would not be affected either way because the school age population in Marin is stabilizing and is not expected to rise.

The area that would most benefit by a ban would be the sanitary systems in the county, said Black. With a stabilization of the population, said Black, it would not be as necessary to enlarge the systems.

The cost of police, fire and parks services would also be less under such a ban, he said. If growth in the county continues at its current rate, he said, by 1976 the police department would spend between $5.2 and $10.3 million. Savings under the ban, he said, would range between $200,000 and $2.7 million over the two-year span.

Savings for the fire department would be similar, said Black, and would mean a cost reduction of between $100,000 and $750,000. The costs for the department by 1976 would be between $3.8 and $5.5 million, he added.

Director Jack R. Felson said some construction jobs may be available if such a ban were continued because the board has made some hookups available to redevelopment projects.

Director Ronald T. Stafford, who said he was concerned with some of the "statements of judgment" in the report, asked that it be revised and ready for the Oct. 10 board meeting.

The intertie, which would divert a maximum of 4,000 acre-feet of water per year from the Russian River and serve more than 170,000 water district customers, was approved by voters in a 1970 bond election.

Robert L. Nevin, a representative of Environmental Assessment Engineering, said the existing water supply in the district could be inadequate to meet present needs during a series of dry years. He also said the intertie would serve current demand rather than encourage growth.

Nevin said the firm had received a resolution from the Marin County Board of Realtors supporting the intertie.

Directors said they would ask the staff to obtain an impact report from the Sonoma County Water Agency for the Oct. 10 meeting.

They will also include a change in the capacity size of the pipeline and seek a report on the hydraulic constraints to the intertie imposed by the North Marin Water District before final approval of the impact report.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO CIRCULATE PETITION TO ANNEX THAT LAND GENERALLY KNOWN AS THE COUNTRY CLUB AREA TO THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL

Notice of intention of circulate petition to annex territory to City.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that 21 days after the first publication of this notice and statement, the following named proponents intend to circulate a petition to annex territory to a City: San Rafael.

The specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed, as the case may be are: (See Exhibit A) — This territory is generally known as the Country Club area.

The reasons for the proposed petition are as follows:

(1) Presently fire protection to this area is limited to one-man and one-truck which is not equipped to handle structural fires. If this area is annexed to San Rafael, the Country Club area will be protected by a minimum of three-men crews on modern fire-fighting equipment designed to master both structural and grass fires.

(2) Police protection is currently provided by the Marin County Sheriffs' Department on an emergency basis with patrols on a rather infrequent basis. If annexed to San Rafael the residents within Country Club would enjoy a high level of police protection through regular patrols in the area and a much quicker response in an emergency situation.

(3) By becoming voters within San Rafael the residents will be able to have a voice in the direction of the community. If a part of San Rafael, Country Club residents will have the opportunity to vote for five councilmen instead of only one supervisor. Further, residents will have a greater opportunity to voice concerns about their community to commissions and councils whose interest and knowledge is primarily in the context of San Rafael and not a remote portion of the County.

A Quick Strip Of Bikini Top

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Wendy Berlowitz, 25, the former Oklahoma schoolteacher who has been baring her breasts in public in a crusade for monotone sun tans, brought her campaign here yesterday.

A crowd of about 500 gathered in a Century City plaza to see Mrs. Berlowitz take off her bikini top. She put on a jacket about 30 seconds later, on the advice of her lawyer. Some of the men in the audience shouted "take it all off." Others shouted "Put it back on" at the diminutive Mrs. Berlowitz.

She has said in the past that she is fighting for the right of women to sunbathe barebreasted. "My husband has a beautiful tan on his chest and I have strap marks," she complained.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO CIRCULATE PETITION TO ANNEX THAT LAND GENERALLY KNOWN AS THE COUNTRY CLUB AREA TO THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL

Notice of intention of circulate petition to annex territory to City.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that 21 days after the first publication of this notice and statement, the following named proponents intend to circulate a petition to annex territory to a City: San Rafael.

The specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed, as the case may be are: (See Exhibit A) — This territory is generally known as the Country Club area.

The reasons for the proposed petition are as follows:

(1) Presently fire protection to this area is limited to one-man and one-truck which is not equipped to handle structural fires. If this area is annexed to San Rafael, the Country Club area will be protected by a minimum of three-men crews on modern fire-fighting equipment designed to master both structural and grass fires.

(2) Police protection is currently provided by the Marin County Sheriffs' Department on an emergency basis with patrols on a rather infrequent basis. If annexed to San Rafael the residents within Country Club would enjoy a high level of police protection through regular patrols in the area and a much quicker response in an emergency situation.

(3) By becoming voters within San Rafael the residents will be able to have a voice in the direction of the community. If a part of San Rafael, Country Club residents will have the opportunity to vote for five councilmen instead of only one supervisor. Further, residents will have a greater opportunity to voice concerns about their community to commissions and councils whose interest and knowledge is primarily in the context of San Rafael and not a remote portion of the County.

A Quick Strip Of Bikini Top

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Wendy Berlowitz, 25, the former Oklahoma schoolteacher who has been baring her breasts in public in a crusade for monotone sun tans, brought her campaign here yesterday.

A crowd of about 500 gathered in a Century City plaza to see Mrs. Berlowitz take off her bikini top. She put on a jacket about 30 seconds later, on the advice of her lawyer. Some of the men in the audience shouted "take it all off." Others shouted "Put it back on" at the diminutive Mrs. Berlowitz.

She has said in the past that she is fighting for the right of women to sunbathe barebreasted. "My husband has a beautiful tan on his chest and I have strap marks," she complained.

A Proposal To Open Academies

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Pierre S. (Pete) du Pont, R-Del., proposed yesterday that females be allowed to enter military academies.

"If it takes amending the U.S. Code to open the academies to women, then let's change the laws," du Pont told a news conference.

"If it's really tradition that's stopping the admission of women, then I think we need to move the service academies into the 20th Century."

Du Pont was flanked by four young women, two of them students at the University of Delaware, the others high school seniors, who want to go to the Air Force Academy.

'Nostalgic Afternoon' Planned In Nicasio

"A Nostalgic Afternoon in Nicasio" will be presented by the Marin County Historical Society at 2 p.m. Oct. 14 at Our Lady of Loretto Church, the old Catholic church in Nicasio.

Principal speaker on the program will be attorney Raymond H. Shone, present owner of the old Nicasio school building.

Shone, a former state president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, will relate the story of Nicasio, including its days as one of Marin's most important towns and a contender for the county seat.

A century-old photo of Nicasio showing the open square once proposed for a courthouse and the old church will be included in an exhibit in connection with the program. A painting of Nicasio school by Mill Valley artist Mary Engelhart will be donated by the family of the late Charlotte Roese of Mill Valley to the society during the program.

Red Box Turns Out To Be Toy

NEW YORK (UPI) —A guard thought a red box left on the front steps of the Museum of Natural History was a bomb and called police.

"It's red with a clear plastic dome and a bunch of things sticking out of it. I don't know what it does, but it's not loaded," a police spokesman said.

Later police said they had found out what the object was.

"It's a toy called an 'Executive Thought Organizer.' On the back it says 'to solve your problem, adjust the input control to the desired light and flash,'" the police spokesman said.

Grant To Pick School For His Daughter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Cary Grant's 7-year-old daughter, Jennifer, will attend the private school chosen by her father and not the experimental school favored by her mother, actress Dyan Cannon.

That decision, handed down by Superior Court Judge Jack Swink, was one of the many legal issues disputed in the courts since Grant and Miss Cannon were divorced five years ago.

On Oct. 10, attorneys for the couple will go to court to argue the question of which parent should keep physical custody of their daughter's passport.

Miss Cannon, 35, has custody of Jennifer. Grant, 69, has liberal visitation rights.

Steel Shaft Comes From Police Copter

NEWPORT BEACH (UPI) — John O'Neill telephoned police to report a strange ocurrence: a 41-inch steel shaft came shooting out of the sky and with a loud crash slammed through the ceiling of his home.

Police investigated and reported the shaft was a radio antenna which had fallen off a police helicopter passing overhead. O'Neill was told to put in a claim to the city for damages.

Principal speaker on the program will be attorney Raymond H. Shone, present owner of the old Nicasio school building.

Shone, a former state president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, will relate the story of Nicasio, including its days as one of Marin's most important towns and a contender for the county seat.

A century-old photo of Nicasio showing the open square once proposed for a courthouse and the old church will be included in an exhibit in connection with the program. A painting of Nicasio school by Mill Valley artist Mary Engelhart will be donated by the family of the late Charlotte Roese of Mill Valley to the society during the program.

Red Box Turns Out To Be Toy

NEW YORK (UPI) —A guard thought a red box left on the front steps of the Museum of Natural History was a bomb and called police.

"It's red with a clear plastic dome and a bunch of things sticking out of it. I don't know what it does, but it's not loaded," a police spokesman said.

Later police said they had found out what the object was.

"It's a toy called an 'Executive Thought Organizer.' On the back it says 'to solve your problem, adjust the input control to the desired light and flash,'" the police spokesman said.

Grant To Pick School For His Daughter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Cary Grant's 7-year-old daughter, Jennifer, will attend the private school chosen by her father and not the experimental school favored by her mother, actress Dyan Cannon.

That decision, handed down by Superior Court Judge Jack Swink, was one of the many legal issues disputed in the courts since Grant and Miss Cannon were divorced five years ago.

On Oct. 10, attorneys for the couple will go to court to argue the question of which parent should keep physical custody of their daughter's passport.

Miss Cannon, 35, has custody of Jennifer. Grant, 69, has liberal visitation rights.

Steel Shaft Comes From Police Copter

NEWPORT BEACH (UPI) — John O'Neill telephoned police to report a strange ocurrence: a 41-inch steel shaft came shooting out of the sky and with a loud crash slammed through the ceiling of his home.

Police investigated and reported the shaft was a radio antenna which had fallen off a police helicopter passing overhead. O'Neill was told to put in a claim to the city for damages.

EXPERTISE ON THE ROCKS

Mrs. Mary Hightower of 4 Meadow Way, Fairfax, who at 94 is the Marin Mineral Society's seniro member, holds a geode from Oregon, one of the more than 500 rock samples she has collected over the past 60 years. Although she is still able to recall the history and scientific names of most of her rocks she says, "I think I am getting too old to collect any more of them." For the past 20 years she has displayed samples at the society's annual Gem and Mineral Fair which will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the National Guard Armory, east of Marin Civic Center.

Women Equal Men As Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —It may just be more female liberation, but the chief U.S. postal inspector says women are making and using lethal bombs as effectively as men.

He also says pornography through the mails has ceased to be a problem because of tougher federal penalties.

William J. Cotter, who has headed the government's Postal Inspection Service since 1969, told UPI in an interview "in the old days women used to do in a potential victim by poison candy or some other ladylike means. Now, according to my crime lab statistics, women are making bombs and sending them through the mails."

Cotter displayed several reconstructed samples of letter bombs made from thin strips of brass surrounded by explosive plastic strips. They can be mailed with an 11-cent stamp. He also has samples of more sophisticated models with fine wiring.

Cotter, a former Central Intelligence Agency and FBI agent, said he believes letter bombing will prove to be a passing fad, but that those who do it are hard to catch.

On pornography, Cotter said tough federal legislation has made this an "insignificant" problem.

"We received 100,000 complaints in 1969 from persons who received pornography through the mail which they hadn't solicited," Cotter said. "The penalties and prison term threat in the federal law now makes pornography through the mails a passe problem.

Cotter said the most common problem facing his department presently is theft of welfare and government checks from the mails, often by narcotics addicts to finance their habits.

"We went through a period of numerous post office holdups," he said, "but we have put bulletproof glass at many post offices which had been repeatedly held up and that seems to help."

The Postal Service has also put new locking apparatus on more than 5,000 street collection boxes and is using its first armored vehicles in New York and Chicago to carry expensive registered shipments.

Mayor Will Be 'Roast' Subject

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Six thousand "past, present and potential political enemies" of Mayor Frank L. Rizzo are expected to receive invitations later this week to a "Rizzo Roast" Oct. 18.

The $10-a-head banquet has been planned by the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), a political watchdog organization.

Rizzo has described the ADA as a bastion of "wishy-washy, fuzzyheaded" liberal thinking and, when asked if he was invited, said he'd "go to an exterminator first."

Although the ADA says most of the invitations have not yet been accepted, many of those invited are attempting to rearrange their schedules to attend.

Waterfowl Refuge Closed To Boating

The waters of the National Audubon Society's Richardson Bay Wildlife Sanctuary will be closed to boating and hunting beginning Monday when it becomes the exclusive refuge of migratory waterfowl, according to society president Dr. Elvis J. Stahr.

Buoy markers have been placed at the perimeter of the sanctuary as guideposts to boaters. The area is located on the westside of the Tiburon Peninsula between Belvedere and Strawberry Point. It will be patrolled by Audubon warden Phil Schaeffer, sanctuary manager.

Stabbing Victim Out Of Hospital

A 16-year-old San Rafael High School student was released from Marin General Hospital yesterday after being treated for a stab wound following a noontime scuffle Tuesday in the school parking lot.

The youth received a small wound in his chest, apparently caused by a penknife.

Both boys will be cited to probation officers, according to San Rafael police.

Sticking Up For The Taiwan Kids

Jesuit Monsignor Eugene E. Fahy, a native of Ross who has been ministering in Taiwan a number of years, wants to stick up for that county's Little League world champions and didn't take kindly to that announcement the team was going to be investigated because it whipped the opposition so easily.

Msgr. Fahy writes a monthly report to his parishioners and in a recent one spoke his feelings about the subject of Taiwan Little League. But first a little background on the man:

After being reared in Ross, he attended University of San Francisco and after his ordination volunteered for foreign missions and was sent to China.

He was captured by the Japanese during World War II and was imprisoned under severe hardship for nearly two years. He was released at the end of the war, but later arrested, imprisoned and tortured by the Communist Chinese. His story ran in Look magazine several years ago.

Thanks to an old friend of his, Louis V. Pometta of Ross, here's Msgr. Fahy's report:

'Ordinarily we only see the most momentous world events on live TV by satellite, an expensive operation, but on Aug. 1 we could watch Taiwan take Korea, 19-0, for the Little League Asian championship. It illustrates how popular the Little League is here. A few weeks later the team went on to take the world championship at Williamsport, Pa., a feat the Senior Little League had also performed at Gary, Ind., just previously.

"Home runs were numerous, several no-hitter games a surprise at the championship level. As a consequence an investigation committee has been appointed to fly over to Taiwan to see if our teams are following all the rules of the league! They won't get to first base, in my opinion, and should not even have come to bat. At my birthday luncheon Gunson Hoh, president of the China Sports Society, tossed off the investigation with one remark: 'poor spirit.'

"What is not realized abroad is that baseball for our little ones has suddenly become an all-engrossing sport. The boys have not a variety of playing facilities nor do they have their attention divided between many forms of youthful activity, trips, etc., like kids in other countries. So, ever since they won their first championship five years ago, the sport has taken like wildfire. Factories making bats and balls and mitts sprang up overnight!

"The first championship team was really a scrub team, coached by a newspaper peddler on his own initiative. Some of the American military advisors took up a collection to send them on to Williamsport. No one else was interested.

"When they won, then all got on the bandwagon, gave the returning heroes the equivalent of a ticker-tape parade with kindred fanfare. Since then they've concentrated on the sport and have won the championship successively in the past three years. They've so outclassed the competition that now they'll probably have to cool it. League regulations will likely be introduced to prohibit winners from competing in successive seasons."

Anyway, the stories about the investigations quickly died out, and peace was restored in Taiwan baseball. Those little Taiwan kids were just better than the rest. And they have someone like Msgr. Fahy to stick up for them.

IN HOSPITAL: Romolo (Rome) Brusati, popular owner of Taveggia-Brusati Sport and Saddle Shop in San Rafael, has been hospitalized at Ross General since last Saturday after suffering a heart attack. He is in intensive care and many of us are hoping for a speedy recovery.

Veteran A's Not Awed By The Pressure

OAKLAND (UPI) — Two years ago, after they had won their first American League West Division title, the Oakland A's went into the post-season championship playoffs a bit awed by their surroundings and opposition.

So, it came as no surprise when the Baltimore Orioles, a group of veterans familiar with the playoffs and World Series, wied out the young A's three in a row.

This Saturday, the two rivals go at it again, and according to A's skipper Dick Williams, the "shoe is on the other foot."

"Now," said Williams as he put the A's through their final home paces today before enplaning for Baltimore, "we are the club of experience and a few of their people have to be suffering from the jitters."

Every member of the A's starting lineup for this year's playoffs with the exception of catcher Ray Fosse, a veteran, and designated hitter Deron Johnson, another veteran, has been in post-season play before, while the Orioles have such regulars as Al Bumbry, Rich Coggins, Earl Williams, Bobby Grich and Don Baylor, and pitchers Jess Jefferson and Bob Reynolds who never before have been subjected to the pressure of a playoff or World Series.

"I know a pro is a pro under all circumstances," said Williams, "but the pressure can be tremendous in a series such as this."

Captain Sal Bando agrees with his boss.

"We've been through this two years running now," said Bando, "so we know what to expect. The pressure shouldn't bother us one bit, but it might get to a few of their guys the same way it did to us when we were in the playoffs for the first time.

"The pressure is hard to define in so many words and unless you are under it you'll never know how it gets to you. I'm not ashamed to say we felt it in our first playoff, because we did."

With two days remaining before the first game of the best-of-five series, Reggie Jackson,

IT'S ENOUGH TO MAKE NUREYEV JEALOUS

Football is a game of crashing pads and thudding forearms, but it can also be a modern free-form ballet, as Drake and Vallejo high schools showed on this first-quarter punt in Saturday's game at College of Marin. Drake's Kent Hauge (62) flew at Vallejo's punter, while fellow Pirate Dan Trimble (84) simply flew and the Apaches' Jim Robbins (74) watched in rapt fascination. For all their mid-air grace, the Pirates lost, 47-2. Drake plays Tamalpais High Saturday at 1 p.m. at College of Marin in Kentfield in a Marin County Athletic League opener. (Photo by Alfred M. Arn)

Olympic Issues Unsettled

VARNA, Bulgaria (UPI) — The 10th Olympic Congress ended today with a general statement of agreed principles but left all major issues simmering backstage clearly expressed but unresolved.

The Congress, last held in 1930, consisting of 62 members of the International Olympic Committee (IOP) who organize the Olympic games, all 26 world sports federations and 92 members of National Olympic Committees.

The IOC will start a private three-day session tomorrow to digest the million words in six languages spoken over the past four days. IOC officals said immediate action on the issues was highly unlikely.

The congress carried no resolutions and never voted but from it emerged four major ideas:

—China should be included in the Olympics. Lord Michael Killanin, IOC president and Congress chairman said in his closing speech that everyone wanted this but pointed out China would have to form a National Olympic Committee first and then apply for membership which it had not yet done.

The two-China question was brought up by the Japanese who recommended Taiwan be expelled and received a rebuke from Killanin for doing so.

—The necessity for a new rule to define an amateur. The most constructive suggestion was put forward by the international federations, said Killanin, and would be studied by the IOC.

"There is a much clearer feeling on the question of amateurism and the need for a more realistic rule," said Killanin. IOC officials said a new rule would not appear until October 1974 at the next IOC meeting.

—The growth of the Olympic Games. This was the first of two issues in which the international sports federations ap-

Cubs' Lockman Kept As Skipper

CHICAGO (UPI) —Whitey Lockman has signed to continue as manager of the Chicago Cubs for the 1974 season, executive vice president John Holland announced today.

Hank Aguirre, Al Spangler, Jim Marshall and J. C. Martin will coach under Lockman, Holland said.

The changes were the first postseason announcements by the Cubs, whose owner Philip K. Wrigely said he was "just plain disgusted" with their performance in 1973.

The change removes Ernie Banks and Pete Reiser from the coaching staff. Banks will be infield instructor for both the Cubs and their minor league teams while Reiser will coordinate spring training and serve as outfield instructor for minor league and as major league scout for the balance of the season.

Aguirre replaces Larry Jansen, who retired this week as pitching coach. Spangler will coach at first base, Martin in the bullpen and Marshall at third base.

The Cubs also announced the appointment of traveling secretary Balke Cullen as assistant to the executive vice president, assuming additional responsibilities of assisting in the free agent draft and player trades, negotiating player trades and other related duties.

"I can't figure out what happened," the 79-year-old Wrigley said. "Unless, like me, the players have all gotten so old they can't get around anymore."

Wrigley did not blame Manager Whitey Lockman who, Wrigley said, "did a good job with what he had to work with. He can return as manager if he desires." Wrigley said he would not know what steps would be taken until after the World Series.

Lockman wouldn't blame individual players specifically for the Cubs' fadeout to a fifthplace finish in the National League's Eastern Division, saying, "I believe everybody did their best. We just got beat."

However Wrigley had a few choice words on the performances of several high-salaried players. He said pitcher Ferguson Jenkins did a "terrible job," and said Billy Williams was "not exactly the outstanding superstar of the season."

ON DEFENSE

49ers May Start Some New Faces

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— There may be some new faces on the right side of the San Francisco 49ers' defensive team when it goes against the Falcons at Atlanta Sunday.

"All three teams we've played have attacked that side with success," said coach Dick Nolan. "We just can't let it continue."

The 49ers have surrendered 74 points in their last two games and are 1-2 on the season. Last Sunday, the Los Angeles Rams throttled San Francisco 40-20 with the aid of 223 rushing yards, most of them coming over the right side of the 49er line.

That vulnerable side has Bob Hoskins at tackle, Cedrick Hardman at end, Skip Vanderbundt at linebacker and Bruce Taylor at cornerback. Vanderbundt pulled a groin muscle and will be out a month while Hardman sprained an ankle but returned to action against the Rams.

Nolan is thinking of replacing Taylor with Windlan Hall and possibly using Bill Belk and Rolf Krueger in place of Hardman and Hoskins.

At linebacker, Frank Nunley has been calling the defensive signals from his spot in the middle but his calls have not overjoyed the coaching staff. So there might be a shakeup at linebacker with Jim Sniadecki and rookie Willie Harper filling in for Vanderbundt and Nunley.

Frazier, Ali Sign For Bout

NEW YORK (UPI) —Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier, two former champions who never had any particular affection for one another, had to be pried apart Thursday after getting into a name-calling rhubarb at the contract signing for their 12-round rematch at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 4.

Shortly after Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner announced that the fight could not end in a draw and would be continued after the 12th until one man was the winner, Ali and Frazier jumped out of their seats just three feet apart and started their shouting match.

"Ain't gonna be no draw," said Frazier. "I'm gonna paralyze you. You finished."

Ali jumped up and clawed his way toward Frazier. He was stopped by his brother and Brenner, who pleaded with him to cut it out. "You've been living too good on my name," shouted Ali. "I'm gonna beat your butt till you call me Muhammad Ali."

Wanted: 6-Pointers By Raiders' Offense

OAKLAND (UPI) — Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders hopes his offense can somehow catch up to the sparkling play of the special teams.

The Raiders go against the Cardinals at St. Louis Sunday looking for their first offensive touchdown of the season after a 1-2 start. The Raiders are seven-point favorites.

Meanwhile, Clarence Davis leads the American Football Conference in kickoff returns with a 35.8 average and Bob Hudson is fourth at 29.0. George Atkinson is second in punt returns with a 13-yard average and Ray Guy tops the conference with a 48.5 yard average.

"We've gotten some big returns," said Madden. "We have blocked four field goals, Guy is punting very well and we've had fine kick coverage for the most part. Overall, they have played well.

"We're a good football team and we just have to keep going. Mainly, we're just not getting into the end zone. We've been getting crucial losses, fumbles, interceptions. We just can't go on this way."

Davis banged up his ankle in last week's loss to Kansas City and he may see only limited action against the Cardinals. He also took note of the Raiders lowly standing of 10th in total offense and passing yards.

"That's a crying shame," said Davis, "but we shall redeem ourselves."

Sticking Up For The Taiwan Kids

Jesuit Monsignor Eugene E. Fahy, a native of Ross who has been ministering in Taiwan a number of years, wants to stick up for that county's Little League world champions and didn't take kindly to that announcement the team was going to be investigated because it whipped the opposition so easily.

Msgr. Fahy writes a monthly report to his parishioners and in a recent one spoke his feelings about the subject of Taiwan Little League. But first a little background on the man:

After being reared in Ross, he attended University of San Francisco and after his ordination volunteered for foreign missions and was sent to China.

He was captured by the Japanese during World War II and was imprisoned under severe hardship for nearly two years. He was released at the end of the war, but later arrested, imprisoned and tortured by the Communist Chinese. His story ran in Look magazine several years ago.

Thanks to an old friend of his, Louis V. Pometta of Ross, here's Msgr. Fahy's report:

'Ordinarily we only see the most momentous world events on live TV by satellite, an expensive operation, but on Aug. 1 we could watch Taiwan take Korea, 19-0, for the Little League Asian championship. It illustrates how popular the Little League is here. A few weeks later the team went on to take the world championship at Williamsport, Pa., a feat the Senior Little League had also performed at Gary, Ind., just previously.

"Home runs were numerous, several no-hitter games a surprise at the championship level. As a consequence an investigation committee has been appointed to fly over to Taiwan to see if our teams are following all the rules of the league! They won't get to first base, in my opinion, and should not even have come to bat. At my birthday luncheon Gunson Hoh, president of the China Sports Society, tossed off the investigation with one remark: 'poor spirit.'

"What is not realized abroad is that baseball for our little ones has suddenly become an all-engrossing sport. The boys have not a variety of playing facilities nor do they have their attention divided between many forms of youthful activity, trips, etc., like kids in other countries. So, ever since they won their first championship five years ago, the sport has taken like wildfire. Factories making bats and balls and mitts sprang up overnight!

"The first championship team was really a scrub team, coached by a newspaper peddler on his own initiative. Some of the American military advisors took up a collection to send them on to Williamsport. No one else was interested.

"When they won, then all got on the bandwagon, gave the returning heroes the equivalent of a ticker-tape parade with kindred fanfare. Since then they've concentrated on the sport and have won the championship successively in the past three years. They've so outclassed the competition that now they'll probably have to cool it. League regulations will likely be introduced to prohibit winners from competing in successive seasons."

Anyway, the stories about the investigations quickly died out, and peace was restored in Taiwan baseball. Those little Taiwan kids were just better than the rest. And they have someone like Msgr. Fahy to stick up for them.

Veteran A's Not Awed By The Pressure

OAKLAND (UPI) — Two years ago, after they had won their first American League West Division title, the Oakland A's went into the post-season championship playoffs a bit awed by their surroundings and opposition.

So, it came as no surprise when the Baltimore Orioles, a group of veterans familiar with the playoffs and World Series, wied out the young A's three in a row.

This Saturday, the two rivals go at it again, and according to A's skipper Dick Williams, the "shoe is on the other foot."

"Now," said Williams as he put the A's through their final home paces today before enplaning for Baltimore, "we are the club of experience and a few of their people have to be suffering from the jitters."

Every member of the A's starting lineup for this year's playoffs with the exception of catcher Ray Fosse, a veteran, and designated hitter Deron Johnson, another veteran, has been in post-season play before, while the Orioles have such regulars as Al Bumbry, Rich Coggins, Earl Williams, Bobby Grich and Don Baylor, and pitchers Jess Jefferson and Bob Reynolds who never before have been subjected to the pressure of a playoff or World Series.

"I know a pro is a pro under all circumstances," said Williams, "but the pressure can be tremendous in a series such as this."

Captain Sal Bando agrees with his boss.

"We've been through this two years running now," said Bando, "so we know what to expect. The pressure shouldn't bother us one bit, but it might get to a few of their guys the same way it did to us when we were in the playoffs for the first time.

"The pressure is hard to define in so many words and unless you are under it you'll never know how it gets to you. I'm not ashamed to say we felt it in our first playoff, because we did."

With two days remaining before the first game of the best-of-five series, Reggie Jackson,

Football is a game of crashing pads and thudding forearms, but it can also be a modern free-form ballet, as Drake and Vallejo high schools showed on this first-quarter punt in Saturday's game at College of Marin. Drake's Kent Hauge (62) flew at Vallejo's punter, while fellow Pirate Dan Trimble (84) simply flew and the Apaches' Jim Robbins (74) watched in rapt fascination. Olympic Issues Unsettled

VARNA, Bulgaria (UPI) — The 10th Olympic Congress ended today with a general statement of agreed principles but left all major issues simmering backstage clearly expressed but unresolved.

The Congress, last held in 1930, consisting of 62 members of the International Olympic Committee (IOP) who organize the Olympic games, all 26 world sports federations and 92 members of National Olympic Committees.

The IOC will start a private three-day session tomorrow to digest the million words in six languages spoken over the past four days. IOC officals said immediate action on the issues was highly unlikely.

The congress carried no resolutions and never voted but from it emerged four major ideas:

—China should be included in the Olympics. Lord Michael Killanin, IOC president and Congress chairman said in his closing speech that everyone wanted this but pointed out China would have to form a National Olympic Committee first and then apply for membership which it had not yet done.

The two-China question was brought up by the Japanese who recommended Taiwan be expelled and received a rebuke from Killanin for doing so.

—The necessity for a new rule to define an amateur. The most constructive suggestion was put forward by the international federations, said Killanin, and would be studied by the IOC.

"There is a much clearer feeling on the question of amateurism and the need for a more realistic rule," said Killanin. IOC officials said a new rule would not appear until October 1974 at the next IOC meeting.

—The growth of the Olympic Games. This was the first of two issues in which the international sports federations ap-

Cubs' Lockman Kept As Skipper

CHICAGO (UPI) —Whitey Lockman has signed to continue as manager of the Chicago Cubs for the 1974 season, executive vice president John Holland announced today.

Hank Aguirre, Al Spangler, Jim Marshall and J. C. Martin will coach under Lockman, Holland said.

The changes were the first postseason announcements by the Cubs, whose owner Philip K. Wrigely said he was "just plain disgusted" with their performance in 1973.

The change removes Ernie Banks and Pete Reiser from the coaching staff. Banks will be infield instructor for both the Cubs and their minor league teams while Reiser will coordinate spring training and serve as outfield instructor for minor league and as major league scout for the balance of the season.

Aguirre replaces Larry Jansen, who retired this week as pitching coach. Spangler will coach at first base, Martin in the bullpen and Marshall at third base.

The Cubs also announced the appointment of traveling secretary Balke Cullen as assistant to the executive vice president, assuming additional responsibilities of assisting in the free agent draft and player trades, negotiating player trades and other related duties.

"I can't figure out what happened," the 79-year-old Wrigley said. "Unless, like me, the players have all gotten so old they can't get around anymore."

Wrigley did not blame Manager Whitey Lockman who, Wrigley said, "did a good job with what he had to work with. He can return as manager if he desires." Wrigley said he would not know what steps would be taken until after the World Series.

Lockman wouldn't blame individual players specifically for the Cubs' fadeout to a fifthplace finish in the National League's Eastern Division, saying, "I believe everybody did their best. We just got beat."

However Wrigley had a few choice words on the performances of several high-salaried players. He said pitcher Ferguson Jenkins did a "terrible job," and said Billy Williams was "not exactly the outstanding superstar of the season."

ON DEFENSE

49ers May Start Some New Faces

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— There may be some new faces on the right side of the San Francisco 49ers' defensive team when it goes against the Falcons at Atlanta Sunday.

"All three teams we've played have attacked that side with success," said coach Dick Nolan. "We just can't let it continue."

The 49ers have surrendered 74 points in their last two games and are 1-2 on the season. Last Sunday, the Los Angeles Rams throttled San Francisco 40-20 with the aid of 223 rushing yards, most of them coming over the right side of the 49er line.

That vulnerable side has Bob Hoskins at tackle, Cedrick Hardman at end, Skip Vanderbundt at linebacker and Bruce Taylor at cornerback. Vanderbundt pulled a groin muscle and will be out a month while Hardman sprained an ankle but returned to action against the Rams.

Nolan is thinking of replacing Taylor with Windlan Hall and possibly using Bill Belk and Rolf Krueger in place of Hardman and Hoskins.

peared to clash head-on with the IOC. West Germany's Willi Daume called for the games to remain "at the same time in the same place" and cited the Munich Games to show it could be done.

The federations, anxious that the number of sports included in the games not be cut but eventually expanded, recommended the games be spread out over an entire country so that a single city does not have to take the strain.

The IOC, however, was expected within the next few wfp to cut down the number of sports in some cases for the Montreal games in 1976. The IOC executive committee has already suggested the 50 kilometer walk and three swimming events.

—The establishing of a committee including the IOC, the federations and the National Olympic Committees to oversee the games jointly instead of leaving the IOC in sole command.

Although a statement summing up the Congress opinions included this idea, the authority of such a committee was conspicuously left to be decided "at a later date." IOC sources pointed out it was unlikely the IOC would allow other organizations control over the Olympics in any respect.

Killanin said the Congress served its purpose well.

"It brought us down to earth. We are not living on some kind of Olympic cloud," said Killanin.

One point of unanimous agreement was that women should play a greater role in decision making. The IOC has no woman on its board and the international federations and National Olympic Committees provided less than half a dozen as delegates.

The Congress also agreed that a closer contact should be kept by all three bodies present with the competitive athlete.

Olympic Body's 12 Points

VARNA, Bulgaria (UPI)—The International Olympic Committee, the International Sports Federations and the National Olympic Committees issued a statement at the end of the 10th Olympic Congress today presenting 12 points on which they were agreed.

The statement came from the tripartite commision of the three organizations and said:

1. The tripartite commission should remain in existence under the chairmanship of the president of the IOC as a permanent IOC committee in its terms of reference and future composition to be decided later.

2. There is a requirement for future congresses and this is to be discussed by the IOC with the International Federations and National Olympic Committees in respect of procedure and themes. This should in no way interfere with the regular meetings of the IOC executive board with the International Federations or the National Olympic Committees.

3. The IOC eligibility rules should be brought up to date.

4. The IOC should have joint commissions of a tripartite or bipartite nature, as applicable, under the presidency of the IOC.

5. The IOC, the International Federations and the National Olympic Committees should consider the inclusion of women in their membership and commissions.

6. The three bodies should explore how they can have closer contacts with athletes.

7. The assistance of governments should be encouraged in the development of sport in their countries.

8. The speeches made at the congress and the exchanges of views were of inestimable value for the successful future of the Olympic movement and all suggestions should be studied.

9. All National Olympic Committees should take active steps to protect Olympic emblems in their countries where this has not been done.

10. The initiation of the Olympic solidarity program for the benefit of the National Olympic Committees is very welcome and the committee requests the IOC to ensure coordination with the International Federations to avoid overlapping of effort.

11. The Olympic Games and movement have a permanent and important sporting and social task and the commission is confident of their future development.

12. The congress was a demonstration of goodwill and striving for cooperation by all the concerned organizations in the name of the motto "sport in a world of peace."

ORIOLES PITCHING ACE

Being Bombed Doesn't Upset Palmer

BALTIMORE (UPI) —The last time Baltimore Orioles pitching ace Jim Palmer went to the mound he got bombed, five runs in five innings.

But Palmer, who will start for the Birds Saturday when they begin their championship playoff series against the Oakland A's, says he isn't the least bit upset about it.

"I couldn't really get up for that," the 22-game winner says. And he adds poker-faced, "The mound was bad."

Palmer says he also isn't upset about something else. That some of the "experts" Los Vegas picking the A's to whip the Birds.

"Great," says the 22-game winner. "It will make them overconfident and make our job easier."

Orioles Manager Earl Weaver also says he's happy some people are making the A's the favorites. "It takes the pressure off us and puts it on them," he said.

Weaver notes with a dig that many of the "experts" didn't even pick his club to win their division.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's all-star third baseman, who has been through three play-offs, all as a winner, says the A's should be favored. "They are the defending world champions," he says.

who led the A.L. in homers (32) and runs batted in (117), is the only member of the A's not in top physical condition. That is if you don't count centerfielder Billy North, who was declared out of the playoffs a week ago with a sprained ankle.

Jackson, felled by a muscle pull two weeks ago and then by a strep throat, worked out with the A's in an intra-squad game Wednesday. He went 0-4 in the game and then took added batting practice.

"I'm not as strong as I should be," said Jackson, "but I'll be ready by Saturday. All I need is a little more work and I'll be all right. All that medication I took for my throat sapped some of my strength but I feel it coming back."

Johnson, hobbled by an injured thumb for more than a month, also is healthy again. In the practice game Wednesday he stung a solid single and had a long fly out in four trips.

"The thumb feels all right now," said Johnson, who hit 19 homers and drove in 81 runs for the A's as their designated hitter. Most observers agree that without Johnson the A's might not have won the West.

New Grid League Wants NFL Parity

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The founders of the proposed World Football League, despite plans to rely mainly on weekday schedules to avoid head-to-head competition in its inaugural season, are ambitiously aiming towards equal status with the National Football League.

"We are forming a new league which will be a second major football league," said the WFL's chief founder Gary L. Davidson, a 39-year-old attorney who was also a co-founder of the American Basketball and World Hockey associations.

"I've never started a minor league in my life."

Davidson, claiming support by many interested franchise owners, announced plans for the new football league Tuesday.

Cleveland businessman Nick Mileti, who owns three sports franchises; Robert Schmertz, who owns two Boston-area sports franchises, and Canadian businessman John Bassett Jr. have been mentioned as some of the key money interests behind the new league.

The new league is scheduled to begin play in 1974 and include from 12 to 15 teams. Mentioned as possible first year sites have been New York, Los Angeles, Toronto, Boston, Mexico City, Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Detroit and Honolulu.

The league eventually plans to field teams from Europe and Asia, as well, but will probably confine itself to one of the areas during the first season because of travel problems, according to Davidson.

Ticket Locations For Soccer Match

The following ticket locations have been announced for the soccer match between fifth-ranked University of San Francisco and eighth-ranked UCLA, Oct. 11, at San Rafael High School:

Muncie, Swenson To Co-Captain Cal

BERKELEY (UPI)—Tailback Chuck Muncie and defensive tackle Rob Swenson Jr. will be co-captains this Saturday when California hosts Washington in both teams' Pac-8 opener.

Cal Coach Mike White put his team through a half-hour scrimmage yesterday in the last full-scale workout before the game. White called it "a crisp workout. In fact, our whole week of practice has been a good one."

Washington Gridders Concentrating Better

SEATTLE (UPI)—Coach Jim Owens said his Washington team concentrated much better in yesterday's drill than it had the day before and he especially praised the pass defense for its improved play.

Defensive tackle Dave Pear did not turn out because of a sore throat and a slight temperature, and Dan Lloyd had a slight ankle sprain. Both are expected to be ready to go Saturday at Berkeley against California.

Meloche Sharp In Seals' Win

KINGSTON, Ont. (UPI) — The California Golden Seals got sharp goaltending from Gilles Meloche yesterday and defeated the Atlanta Flames, 3-1.

Garry Croteau and Ivan Boldirev scored for the Seals on power plays and then Ray Kessell added the third goal with an empty-net shot in the last period.

Meloche meanwhile turned away 26 shots and blanked the Flames over the final two periods.

GETTING READY — Oakland A's starting pitchers Vida Blue (14) and Ken Holtzman yesterday loosened up in the Oakland Coliseum as the American League Western Division champions prepared for Saturday's A.L. championship series opener in Baltimore against the Orioles. Blue will start the first game, and Holtzman will pitch the third contest.

peared to clash head-on with the IOC. West Germany's Willi Daume called for the games to remain "at the same time in the same place" and cited the Munich Games to show it could be done.

The federations, anxious that the number of sports included in the games not be cut but eventually expanded, recommended the games be spread out over an entire country so that a single city does not have to take the strain.

The IOC, however, was expected within the next few wfp to cut down the number of sports in some cases for the Montreal games in 1976. The IOC executive committee has already suggested the 50 kilometer walk and three swimming events.

—The establishing of a committee including the IOC, the federations and the National Olympic Committees to oversee the games jointly instead of leaving the IOC in sole command.

Although a statement summing up the Congress opinions included this idea, the authority of such a committee was conspicuously left to be decided "at a later date." IOC sources pointed out it was unlikely the IOC would allow other organizations control over the Olympics in any respect.

Killanin said the Congress served its purpose well.

"It brought us down to earth. We are not living on some kind of Olympic cloud," said Killanin.

One point of unanimous agreement was that women should play a greater role in decision making. The IOC has no woman on its board and the international federations and National Olympic Committees provided less than half a dozen as delegates.

The Congress also agreed that a closer contact should be kept by all three bodies present with the competitive athlete.

Olympic Body's 12 Points

VARNA, Bulgaria (UPI)—The International Olympic Committee, the International Sports Federations and the National Olympic Committees issued a statement at the end of the 10th Olympic Congress today presenting 12 points on which they were agreed.

The statement came from the tripartite commision of the three organizations and said:

1. The tripartite commission should remain in existence under the chairmanship of the president of the IOC as a permanent IOC committee in its terms of reference and future composition to be decided later.

2. There is a requirement for future congresses and this is to be discussed by the IOC with the International Federations and National Olympic Committees in respect of procedure and themes. This should in no way interfere with the regular meetings of the IOC executive board with the International Federations or the National Olympic Committees.

3. The IOC eligibility rules should be brought up to date.

4. The IOC should have joint commissions of a tripartite or bipartite nature, as applicable, under the presidency of the IOC.

5. The IOC, the International Federations and the National Olympic Committees should consider the inclusion of women in their membership and commissions.

6. The three bodies should explore how they can have closer contacts with athletes.

7. The assistance of governments should be encouraged in the development of sport in their countries.

8. The speeches made at the congress and the exchanges of views were of inestimable value for the successful future of the Olympic movement and all suggestions should be studied.

9. All National Olympic Committees should take active steps to protect Olympic emblems in their countries where this has not been done.

10. The initiation of the Olympic solidarity program for the benefit of the National Olympic Committees is very welcome and the committee requests the IOC to ensure coordination with the International Federations to avoid overlapping of effort.

11. The Olympic Games and movement have a permanent and important sporting and social task and the commission is confident of their future development.

12. The congress was a demonstration of goodwill and striving for cooperation by all the concerned organizations in the name of the motto "sport in a world of peace."

ORIOLES PITCHING ACE

Being Bombed Doesn't Upset Palmer

BALTIMORE (UPI) —The last time Baltimore Orioles pitching ace Jim Palmer went to the mound he got bombed, five runs in five innings.

But Palmer, who will start for the Birds Saturday when they begin their championship playoff series against the Oakland A's, says he isn't the least bit upset about it.

"I couldn't really get up for that," the 22-game winner says. And he adds poker-faced, "The mound was bad."

Palmer says he also isn't upset about something else. That some of the "experts" Los Vegas picking the A's to whip the Birds.

"Great," says the 22-game winner. "It will make them overconfident and make our job easier."

Orioles Manager Earl Weaver also says he's happy some people are making the A's the favorites. "It takes the pressure off us and puts it on them," he said.

Weaver notes with a dig that many of the "experts" didn't even pick his club to win their division.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's all-star third baseman, who has been through three play-offs, all as a winner, says the A's should be favored. "They are the defending world champions," he says.

who led the A.L. in homers (32) and runs batted in (117), is the only member of the A's not in top physical condition. That is if you don't count centerfielder Billy North, who was declared out of the playoffs a week ago with a sprained ankle.

Jackson, felled by a muscle pull two weeks ago and then by a strep throat, worked out with the A's in an intra-squad game Wednesday. He went 0-4 in the game and then took added batting practice.

"I'm not as strong as I should be," said Jackson, "but I'll be ready by Saturday. All I need is a little more work and I'll be all right. All that medication I took for my throat sapped some of my strength but I feel it coming back."

Johnson, hobbled by an injured thumb for more than a month, also is healthy again. In the practice game Wednesday he stung a solid single and had a long fly out in four trips.

"The thumb feels all right now," said Johnson, who hit 19 homers and drove in 81 runs for the A's as their designated hitter. Most observers agree that without Johnson the A's might not have won the West.

Meloche Sharp In Seals' Win

KINGSTON, Ont. (UPI) — The California Golden Seals got sharp goaltending from Gilles Meloche yesterday and defeated the Atlanta Flames, 3-1.

Garry Croteau and Ivan Boldirev scored for the Seals on power plays and then Ray Kessell added the third goal with an empty-net shot in the last period.

Meloche meanwhile turned away 26 shots and blanked the Flames over the final two periods.

New Grid League Wants NFL Parity

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The founders of the proposed World Football League, despite plans to rely mainly on weekday schedules to avoid head-to-head competition in its inaugural season, are ambitiously aiming towards equal status with the National Football League.

"We are forming a new league which will be a second major football league," said the WFL's chief founder Gary L. Davidson, a 39-year-old attorney who was also a co-founder of the American Basketball and World Hockey associations.

"I've never started a minor league in my life."

Davidson, claiming support by many interested franchise owners, announced plans for the new football league Tuesday.

Cleveland businessman Nick Mileti, who owns three sports franchises; Robert Schmertz, who owns two Boston-area sports franchises, and Canadian businessman John Bassett Jr. have been mentioned as some of the key money interests behind the new league.

The new league is scheduled to begin play in 1974 and include from 12 to 15 teams. Mentioned as possible first year sites have been New York, Los Angeles, Toronto, Boston, Mexico City, Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Detroit and Honolulu.

The league eventually plans to field teams from Europe and Asia, as well, but will probably confine itself to one of the areas during the first season because of travel problems, according to Davidson.

Ticket Locations For Soccer Match

The following ticket locations have been announced for the soccer match between fifth-ranked University of San Francisco and eighth-ranked UCLA, Oct. 11, at San Rafael High School:

Muncie, Swenson To Co-Captain Cal

BERKELEY (UPI)—Tailback Chuck Muncie and defensive tackle Rob Swenson Jr. will be co-captains this Saturday when California hosts Washington in both teams' Pac-8 opener.

Cal Coach Mike White put his team through a half-hour scrimmage yesterday in the last full-scale workout before the game. White called it "a crisp workout. In fact, our whole week of practice has been a good one."

Washington Gridders Concentrating Better

SEATTLE (UPI)—Coach Jim Owens said his Washington team concentrated much better in yesterday's drill than it had the day before and he especially praised the pass defense for its improved play.

Defensive tackle Dave Pear did not turn out because of a sore throat and a slight temperature, and Dan Lloyd had a slight ankle sprain. Both are expected to be ready to go Saturday at Berkeley against California.

BRIDGESTONE
RD 170V STEEL RADIAL
RATED "BEST BUY" BY A CONSUMER PRODUCTS MAGAZINE

Cains has been telling people for 3 years that Bridgestone Steel Radial Tires are a super value. They wear about the same as Michelin or Pirelli, but cost less, therefore on a cost per mile basis, they are a better value. But if Pirelli or Michelin can be bought at close to the price of Bridgestone then they are a superior buy. (thats the other half of the coin)

THE GOOD NEWS - Very tough break resisting tire, good wear, great load carrying capacity.

THE BAD NEWS - Rides rougher, doesn't react to turning and braking as positively as Pirelli or Michelin.

MICHELIN - PIRELLI - DUNLOP - CONTINENTAL - SEMPERIT (DAYTON - FIRESTONE)
Michelin, Continental, Semperit and now Bridgestone have all gotten a number one rating from one magazine test or another. Doesn't that make you think that maybe Cains knows what they're doing, before the rest of the world know what their doing.
Buy at Cains we give you a choice + a bargain on the finest tires in the world - decided best by tests.

PROSPECTS

San Rafael Team Full Of Pluses

By LEW CODDINGTON

(Last in a series on the prospects of Marin prep football teams)

According to coach Bob Muster, San Rafael High School's football team will run, pass, block, tackle and kick well this season. That leaves few weaknesses and even fewer moments of joy for Bulldog opponents.

And after a 32-6 opening loss to Vallejo, the Bulldogs began to fulfill Muster's prophecy with back-to-back 34-12 victories over Lincoln of San Francisco and over Napa.

Run. San Rafael returns punishing fullback Steve D'Ambra (6-foot-1, 195 pounds), the Marin County Athletic League's No. 2 rusher last year with 315 yards and a 4.1 average, to ram up the middle, and fleet Craig Saunders (5-10, 170) to dart outside. Saunders was second in the league in scoring with 48 points last year as he tallied on runs, receptions and kick returns.

Pass. Junior Dave Steele, first team all league as a defensive back last season while sharing quarterback duties with the graduated all-leaguer Lance Loughlin, threw for six scores in this season's two victories. His receivers, including Mike Farris, Nelson Moore and junior Fred Hurst, are skillful.

Block. The offensive line of Dick Hooke (190), Kip Tonkin (170), Reggie Bryant (185), junior Dan Sheehy (185) and Gary Jordan (180) is not as large as some recent San Rafael lines, and is not as experienced, either, but is improving and did a good job against Napa, in Muster's estimation.

Tackle. "We're emphasizing defense this year, and we have quality depth. We can move people around pretty good," Muster said.

Muster considers junior defensive tackle Steve Curry (180) "all-league caliber," and also has praised the play of middle linebacker Gary Pearce. He was unhappy earlier in the year about inexperience-related mistakes in reading offenses, but that problem seems to be clearing up.

Injuries may be troublesome, though. Defensive tackle Ed Nave (210) is lost for the year with a bad knee, and end John Munson (200) also has a knee injury.

Kicking. Muster feels he has an outstanding punter in Greg Abbett, "who has distance close to 40 yards, if we protect him, and hang time well into the 4s." Steele placekicks.

The Bulldogs are not large, but they have "excellent overall team speed" in Muster's view. Their style may not resemble that of the recent grind-it-out powerhouses, such as the 1971 co-champions, but potentially their won-lost record might, and that's all that Muster really asks.

Sparky Says 'We Have The Best Club'

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson says if he has to go to war, he'd rather go with his club and his pitchers.

"We have the best club, I won't deny that," the 39-year-old Anderson said as he prepared his club for Saturday's opener of the National League playoffs against the New York Mets. "Of course, sometimes the best club doesn't win in a short series. But if I'm going to war, I'd rather go with my club."

Cincinnati Reds captain Pete Rose agrees.

"Everyone thinks we should be worried about the Mets' pitching," Rose said. "Do you think they aren't worried a little bit about ours?"

"(Tom) Seaver and George Stone are the only two Met starters who finished over .500," Rose added. "Yet they're suppose to have the best pitching staff in baseball."

Rose noted that teammate Jack Billingham won 19 games and Don Gullett had 18 victories.

"And those 18 Gullett won, he did that even though he was in the bullpen for about a month and a half," Rose said. "And as for Billingham, he has pitched like hell ever since the World Series last year.

"And Ross Grimsley's 13-10 is way out of line. They way he pitched, he should have won 20 games."

"They talk about momentum," Rose said. "Well, we've got momentum."

Things Breaking Right For Mets

NEW YORK (UPI) —Things continue to break right for the New York Mets.

Tom Seaver, the ace of the pitching staff, has recovered from his shoulder problems and will pitch against the Cincinnati Reds Saturday in the opener of the National League championship series.

Manager Yogi Berra had been worried about the status of his meal ticket for Saturday's opener when Seaver complained about stiffness in his right shoulder following Monday's East Division pennant clinching victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Berra's fears were so great, in fact, that he was almost ready to name lefthander Jon Matlack to pitch Saturday and move Saturday back to Sunday.

But, Seaver showed up early at Shea Stadium yesterday, and after a thorough checkup from Dr. Peter Lamotte and a brisk 10-minute workout, he pronounced himself fit to hurl the opener.

Rube Walker, the Mets' pitching coach, and Berra watched Seaver closely and both were smiling throughout the workout as the 28-year-old righthander made the glove of catcher Ron Hodges pop repeatedly.

"He threw good, very good," said Walker. "I was anxious to see if he would be able to zip the ball and be free and easy with his motion. It's the first time in a good while he's been able to. You can tell when a guy's not delivering the ball properly. I was a bit concerned but after watching him for a few minutes I just smilled."

"Sure, I had doubts," said Berra. "I couldn't be sure about him until I watched him throw. But he threw very well. It's the best he's looked in a month. He was throwing real easy and ball was jumping."

Seaver reported no signs of stiffness after the workout but said he won't know for sure if the problem has been completely licked until testing his shoulder under game conditions.

"It feels fine here," said Seaver, "but that was just a tuneup. It's different throwing against batters in regular competition. I won't know for sure until after Saturday if it's really better.

"The shoulder never did hurt, I mean I was never really in any pain. It was just a tightness. Dr. Lamotte said he would give me a shot of cortisone if it didn't clear up but I didn't feel anything today. He gave me three days supply of butazolidin pills, and I'll continue to take them until I've used them up."

Berra said he would use four starting pitchers against the Reds if the series goes more than three games. Matlack will pitch the second game in Cincinnati Sunday, Jerry Koosman will hurl the home opener at Shea Stadium Monday and George Stone will go Tuesday, if necessary. If there is a fifth game Seaver will pitch again.

Seaver, although posting a 19-10 record with a 2.08 earned run average, didn't fare too well against the Reds this season, dropping his only two decisions against them.

The Mets have bolstered their team for the playoffs by adding rookie outfielder George Theodore to the roster. Theodore dislocated his hip in a collision with centerfielder Don Hahn on July 7 and was on the disabled list until Sept. 5. Theodore, batting .259, had made only one pinch-hitting appearance since coming off the disabled list. To make room for Theodore on the playoff roster the Mets dropped pitcher John Strohmayer.

Coaching Debut For Wilt Is Successful

CHULA VISTA, Calif. (UPI) —The San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association, under the eye of new coach Wilt Chamberlain, defeated a pickup team from Phoenix, 134-117, last night.

"I was really impressed with the guys, impressed with their desire," Chamberlain, who did not play, said afterwards.

Stew Johnston paced the Conquistadors with 20 points, and Caldwell Jones added 16 plus 12 rebounds.

For Phoenix, Mike Contreras hit 13 of 20 shots and ended the game with a total of 31 points. Paul Stovall, recently cut by the Phoenix Suns, tallied 29 points and 11 rebounds.

"There will be some people coming in," Chamberlain said of his team's composition. "That's the reason Stovall was here tonight ... to see me about a job."

The game was played before 1,500 persons at this San Diego suburb's Southwestern College, with proceeds going to charity.

PREP NOTES

By LEW CODDINGTON

The won-lost records indicate it, and talking to the coaches confirms it. This year's Marin County Athletic League football race will be close, balanced and difficult to predict.

After three non-league games, little is apparent, and probably more questions have been raised than answered. Should Novato be favored after last week's loss? Is San Marin as good as its 3-0 record indicates? Can Redwood's surplus of quality overcome its lack of quantity? Is Terra Linda's losing pre-season meaningless, as usual? Which is the real San Rafael, the 32-6 loser or the 34-12 winner? How much better are Drake and Tamalpais?

The league on the whole appears improved, having gone 13-8 against pre-season competition this season, compared to 8-6 a year ago. If three schools hadn't had fits of temporary insanity and scheduled Vallejo, the record could be 13-5.

No MCAL team is winless, and only two (Terra Linda and Drake) are under .500 at 1-2.

The consensus of the coaches is that Novato is the favorite, but is not invincible, and that you can throw a hat over San Marin, San Rafael, Redwood and Terra Linda — they are that close in ability.

Novato needs to resolve its potentially chaotic two-quarterback dilemma. San Marin needs to prove it can move the ball without injured tailback Wayne Roche — especially Saturday against defensively tough Terra Linda. Redwood has to avoid injuries and overwork for its 15-man nucleus. San Rafael has to prove its defense can give up fewer than the 19 points a game averaged so far. Terra Linda has to overcome graduation losses and generally improve.

It will be an intriguing league, and a difficult one to predict. This writer's guess is that the order of finish will be Novato, San Marin, Redwood, San Rafael, Terra Linda, Drake and Tam.

FIGURES FACT — Terra Linda coach Don Lucas has found a statistician in whom he has complete faith. It's his wife, Carlene. (No doubt, an assist on the play should be credited to Drake athletic director Carl Brown, her father, for exposing her to Xs and Os at an early age.)

GETTING HIS KICKS — Ed Andersen kicked a 37-yard field goal in the final two minutes Friday to give Redwood a 10-8 victory over Richmond, which is news enough, but now we discover he did it without a kicking shoe. Once again, it's desire over technology.

Coaches instruct their defensive backs to go to the ball, but do they mean it exactly that way?

Kentfield Man Triple Winner In Canoe Races

Kentfield's Lowell Dwyer won three events Saturday in the Marine World/Africa USA First Sea Fari canoe races in Redwood City.

San Rafael's Dean Farrandini and Gordon Young also participated on the Water Ski and Boat Show Lagoon.

Dwyer won in the C-1 Men's Open Canoe race, the C-4 Mixed Canoe and the Inflatables Relay races. Young was victorious in the C-2 Mixed Canoe race with partner Doris Hunker. Young took seconds in the C-4 Mixed canoe race and the C-1 Men's race.

Farrandini took third in the C-1 Men's Closed Canoe race won by Olympic champion Andy Toro.

Marin Booters Vs. State Champions

The 2:30 p.m. game is scheduled for the Marin field in Kentfield. Marin's non-conference record is one win, six losses and two ties.

PROSPECTS

San Rafael Team Full Of Pluses

By LEW CODDINGTON

(Last in a series on the prospects of Marin prep football teams)

According to coach Bob Muster, San Rafael High School's football team will run, pass, block, tackle and kick well this season. That leaves few weaknesses and even fewer moments of joy for Bulldog opponents.

And after a 32-6 opening loss to Vallejo, the Bulldogs began to fulfill Muster's prophecy with back-to-back 34-12 victories over Lincoln of San Francisco and over Napa.

Run. San Rafael returns punishing fullback Steve D'Ambra (6-foot-1, 195 pounds), the Marin County Athletic League's No. 2 rusher last year with 315 yards and a 4.1 average, to ram up the middle, and fleet Craig Saunders (5-10, 170) to dart outside. Saunders was second in the league in scoring with 48 points last year as he tallied on runs, receptions and kick returns.

Pass. Junior Dave Steele, first team all league as a defensive back last season while sharing quarterback duties with the graduated all-leaguer Lance Loughlin, threw for six scores in this season's two victories. His receivers, including Mike Farris, Nelson Moore and junior Fred Hurst, are skillful.

Block. The offensive line of Dick Hooke (190), Kip Tonkin (170), Reggie Bryant (185), junior Dan Sheehy (185) and Gary Jordan (180) is not as large as some recent San Rafael lines, and is not as experienced, either, but is improving and did a good job against Napa, in Muster's estimation.

Tackle. "We're emphasizing defense this year, and we have quality depth. We can move people around pretty good," Muster said.

Muster considers junior defensive tackle Steve Curry (180) "all-league caliber," and also has praised the play of middle linebacker Gary Pearce. He was unhappy earlier in the year about inexperience-related mistakes in reading offenses, but that problem seems to be clearing up.

Injuries may be troublesome, though. Defensive tackle Ed Nave (210) is lost for the year with a bad knee, and end John Munson (200) also has a knee injury.

Kicking. Muster feels he has an outstanding punter in Greg Abbett, "who has distance close to 40 yards, if we protect him, and hang time well into the 4s." Steele placekicks.

The Bulldogs are not large, but they have "excellent overall team speed" in Muster's view. Their style may not resemble that of the recent grind-it-out powerhouses, such as the 1971 co-champions, but potentially their won-lost record might, and that's all that Muster really asks.

Sparky Says 'We Have The Best Club'

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson says if he has to go to war, he'd rather go with his club and his pitchers.

"We have the best club, I won't deny that," the 39-year-old Anderson said as he prepared his club for Saturday's opener of the National League playoffs against the New York Mets. "Of course, sometimes the best club doesn't win in a short series. But if I'm going to war, I'd rather go with my club."

Cincinnati Reds captain Pete Rose agrees.

"Everyone thinks we should be worried about the Mets' pitching," Rose said. "Do you think they aren't worried a little bit about ours?"

"(Tom) Seaver and George Stone are the only two Met starters who finished over .500," Rose added. "Yet they're suppose to have the best pitching staff in baseball."

Rose noted that teammate Jack Billingham won 19 games and Don Gullett had 18 victories.

"And those 18 Gullett won, he did that even though he was in the bullpen for about a month and a half," Rose said. "And as for Billingham, he has pitched like hell ever since the World Series last year.

"And Ross Grimsley's 13-10 is way out of line. They way he pitched, he should have won 20 games."

"They talk about momentum," Rose said. "Well, we've got momentum."

Things Breaking Right For Mets

NEW YORK (UPI) —Things continue to break right for the New York Mets.

Tom Seaver, the ace of the pitching staff, has recovered from his shoulder problems and will pitch against the Cincinnati Reds Saturday in the opener of the National League championship series.

Manager Yogi Berra had been worried about the status of his meal ticket for Saturday's opener when Seaver complained about stiffness in his right shoulder following Monday's East Division pennant clinching victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Berra's fears were so great, in fact, that he was almost ready to name lefthander Jon Matlack to pitch Saturday and move Saturday back to Sunday.

But, Seaver showed up early at Shea Stadium yesterday, and after a thorough checkup from Dr. Peter Lamotte and a brisk 10-minute workout, he pronounced himself fit to hurl the opener.

Rube Walker, the Mets' pitching coach, and Berra watched Seaver closely and both were smiling throughout the workout as the 28-year-old righthander made the glove of catcher Ron Hodges pop repeatedly.

"He threw good, very good," said Walker. "I was anxious to see if he would be able to zip the ball and be free and easy with his motion. It's the first time in a good while he's been able to. You can tell when a guy's not delivering the ball properly. I was a bit concerned but after watching him for a few minutes I just smilled."

"Sure, I had doubts," said Berra. "I couldn't be sure about him until I watched him throw. But he threw very well. It's the best he's looked in a month. He was throwing real easy and ball was jumping."

Seaver reported no signs of stiffness after the workout but said he won't know for sure if the problem has been completely licked until testing his shoulder under game conditions.

"It feels fine here," said Seaver, "but that was just a tuneup. It's different throwing against batters in regular competition. I won't know for sure until after Saturday if it's really better.

"The shoulder never did hurt, I mean I was never really in any pain. It was just a tightness. Dr. Lamotte said he would give me a shot of cortisone if it didn't clear up but I didn't feel anything today. He gave me three days supply of butazolidin pills, and I'll continue to take them until I've used them up."

Berra said he would use four starting pitchers against the Reds if the series goes more than three games. Matlack will pitch the second game in Cincinnati Sunday, Jerry Koosman will hurl the home opener at Shea Stadium Monday and George Stone will go Tuesday, if necessary. If there is a fifth game Seaver will pitch again.

Seaver, although posting a 19-10 record with a 2.08 earned run average, didn't fare too well against the Reds this season, dropping his only two decisions against them.

The Mets have bolstered their team for the playoffs by adding rookie outfielder George Theodore to the roster. Theodore dislocated his hip in a collision with centerfielder Don Hahn on July 7 and was on the disabled list until Sept. 5. Theodore, batting .259, had made only one pinch-hitting appearance since coming off the disabled list. To make room for Theodore on the playoff roster the Mets dropped pitcher John Strohmayer.

Coaching Debut For Wilt Is Successful

"I was really impressed with the guys, impressed with their desire," Chamberlain, who did not play, said afterwards.

Stew Johnston paced the Conquistadors with 20 points, and Caldwell Jones added 16 plus 12 rebounds.

For Phoenix, Mike Contreras hit 13 of 20 shots and ended the game with a total of 31 points. Paul Stovall, recently cut by the Phoenix Suns, tallied 29 points and 11 rebounds.

"There will be some people coming in," Chamberlain said of his team's composition. "That's the reason Stovall was here tonight ... to see me about a job."

The game was played before 1,500 persons at this San Diego suburb's Southwestern College, with proceeds going to charity.

PREP NOTES

By LEW CODDINGTON

The won-lost records indicate it, and talking to the coaches confirms it. This year's Marin County Athletic League football race will be close, balanced and difficult to predict.

After three non-league games, little is apparent, and probably more questions have been raised than answered. Should Novato be favored after last week's loss? Is San Marin as good as its 3-0 record indicates? Can Redwood's surplus of quality overcome its lack of quantity? Is Terra Linda's losing pre-season meaningless, as usual? Which is the real San Rafael, the 32-6 loser or the 34-12 winner? How much better are Drake and Tamalpais?

The league on the whole appears improved, having gone 13-8 against pre-season competition this season, compared to 8-6 a year ago. If three schools hadn't had fits of temporary insanity and scheduled Vallejo, the record could be 13-5.

No MCAL team is winless, and only two (Terra Linda and Drake) are under .500 at 1-2.

The consensus of the coaches is that Novato is the favorite, but is not invincible, and that you can throw a hat over San Marin, San Rafael, Redwood and Terra Linda — they are that close in ability.

Novato needs to resolve its potentially chaotic two-quarterback dilemma. San Marin needs to prove it can move the ball without injured tailback Wayne Roche — especially Saturday against defensively tough Terra Linda. Redwood has to avoid injuries and overwork for its 15-man nucleus. San Rafael has to prove its defense can give up fewer than the 19 points a game averaged so far. Terra Linda has to overcome graduation losses and generally improve.

It will be an intriguing league, and a difficult one to predict. This writer's guess is that the order of finish will be Novato, San Marin, Redwood, San Rafael, Terra Linda, Drake and Tam.

FIGURES FACT — Terra Linda coach Don Lucas has found a statistician in whom he has complete faith. It's his wife, Carlene. (No doubt, an assist on the play should be credited to Drake athletic director Carl Brown, her father, for exposing her to Xs and Os at an early age.)

GETTING HIS KICKS — Ed Andersen kicked a 37-yard field goal in the final two minutes Friday to give Redwood a 10-8 victory over Richmond, which is news enough, but now we discover he did it without a kicking shoe. Once again, it's desire over technology.

Coaches instruct their defensive backs to go to the ball, but do they mean it exactly that way?

Kentfield Man Triple Winner In Canoe Races

Kentfield's Lowell Dwyer won three events Saturday in the Marine World/Africa USA First Sea Fari canoe races in Redwood City.

San Rafael's Dean Farrandini and Gordon Young also participated on the Water Ski and Boat Show Lagoon.

Dwyer won in the C-1 Men's Open Canoe race, the C-4 Mixed Canoe and the Inflatables Relay races. Young was victorious in the C-2 Mixed Canoe race with partner Doris Hunker. Young took seconds in the C-4 Mixed canoe race and the C-1 Men's race.

Farrandini took third in the C-1 Men's Closed Canoe race won by Olympic champion Andy Toro.

Marin Booters Vs. State Champions

The 2:30 p.m. game is scheduled for the Marin field in Kentfield. Marin's non-conference record is one win, six losses and two ties.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Clip Your Claws

By LEE TREVINO

My wife, Claudia, whom I call Clyde, has fingernails like Fu Manchu's. They're long and pretty, but they bother her when she plays golf.

She won't cut 'em off, and I don't make her nervous enough to bite 'em. But everything's just fine since I had her club grips built up.

Most women players either have their nails too long or their grips too small. The result is the same: their nails dig into their palms. Then their hands become tender and they don't hold the club as firmly as they should.

The best golfers, women and men, trim their nails close. Jack Nicklaus' are so short that he can't pick up a pin without a magnet.

So if your claws are showing, your golf has to suffer. I don't mean to sound like a male chauvinist pig (is that a sassy Mexican?), but if you're scratching out a living as a secretary, you can't do it with long nails. And you can't play decent golf with sore hands caused by long nails. Larger grips will end that. Usually, a woman's grip on the club is too dainty, anyway. They need to grasp the club firmly. You're trying to clout that ball, not caress it. As I tell Clyde, that comes later.

Amateur Sports Bill Sent Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate yesterday sent amateur athletic reform legislation back to its Commerce Committee to work out some objections before a floor vote.

The action followed stinging denunciations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) by two of the bill's strongest proponents.

Under the recommitment motion, the committee cannot return the legislation for floor action until at least Nov. 8.

The bill would establish a U.S. Sports Board to charter amateur athletic associations in the country, create a foundation to give $50 million in matching grants to promote amateur sports, and provide for a special investigation of amateur sports.

Both Sens. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., and Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., assailed the NCAA for its opposition to the bill.

Tunney said the NCAA had sent letters to all college coaches and presidents saying the bill would federalize amateur sports, and asking them to lobby against it.

Tunney added that the bill specifically exempts intercollegiate and interscholastic sports.

He said virtually every senator had been approached by the coaches to oppose the bill.

"The coaches and the university presidents didn't read the legislation," Tunney said. "They just followed the dictates of the NCAA."

Cook leveled his ire against Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, and suggested the coaches and NCAA officials should not be lured by his stand.

"They ought to realize what an idiot Mr. Byers is and they ought to summarily fire him," Cook said during the floor debate.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., noted that Byers was a constituent, and objected to Cook's remark. Cook said he would not erase the comment from the record, but would apologize to Byers if he owed him one.

Browns' Receiver Found Guilty Of A Pot Charge

Combined AP & UPI

SOUTH EUCLID, Ohio — A jury of eight men yesterday found Cleveland Browns' wide receiver Gloster Richardson guilty of possession of marijuana.

Sentencing was continued until Richardson appears in South Euclid Municipal Court for three traffic violations stemming from a three-car accident last Aug. 12 here. No trial date was set on the traffic charges and the maximum penalty for marijuana possession is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Police found the marijuana in Richardson's car when he was arrested. The veteran National Football League player did not dispute police testimony that he admitted the marijuana belonged to him. Richardson said he got the marijuana from a teammate while they were in Los Angeles for a game against the Rams earlier the day he was arrested.

Richardson said he admitted to possessing the marijuana because if he said it was not his, the entire Browns team would have been under suspicion.

More Football

LAGUNA HILLS — Football Hall of Fame coach Bernie Bierman, 79, who guided four University of Minnesota teams to national championships during the depression years of 1934, 1936, 1940 and 1941, was resting in guarded condition today after suffering a heart attack.

Bierman was taken to the intensive cardiac care unit at the South Coast community hospital in South Laguna after being stricken yesterday.

SPORTS SHORTS

Basketball

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Veteran guard and team captain Freddie Lewis, 29, was placed on waivers by the Indiana Pacers yesterday about two hours after the American Basketball Association team denied Lewis was being waived.

Tennis

LOS ANGELES — Holland's Tom Okker, winner of the recent Tam International Open at Chicago, has increased his earnings for the year to $100,250, becoming the fifth tennis player this year to go over the $100,000 mark.

Stan Smith continues to lead the list with $176,375, according to the Association of Tennis Professionals, followed by Ilie Nastase ($112,650), Arthur Ashe ($104,675), Jimmy Connors ($101,450) and Okker.

Hockey

MONTREAL — Bob Plager of the St. Louis Blues is under indefinite suspension by the National Hockey League until the club can provide league President Clarence Campbell with a suitable guarantee that the rugged defenseman will avoid further misconduct.

Plager was suspended "for physically interfering with the game officials in carrying out their duties and threatening physical violence to the referee" during an exhibition game at Brantford, Ont., between the Blues and the Pittsburgh Penguins Sept. 29. Plager shoved referee Andy Van Hellemond during a bench-clearing incident.

Auto Racing

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Charlie Glotzbach yesterday set a qualifying record of 158.730 miles per hour to capture the front row starting spot for Sunday's $166,600 National 500.

Run Production Up In A.L. Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Run production rose dramatically in American League baseball in 1973, and proponents of the designated hitter rule point to that innovation as the major reason for the increase.

And they've got the figures to back up their arguments:

—The over-all batting average in the American League was .259, a sharp increase over the .239 mark of a year ago. The NL average, by comparison, was .254 — making 1973 the first time in 10 years the AL has had a higher over-all average than the NL, which does not have the designated htiter rule.

—An average of 8.6 runs were scored by both teams in a 1973 American League game. This is a marked rise over the AL averages of 7.7 and 6.9 runs per game for the past two years, is ahead of the NL 1973 mark of 8.3 and is only the second time in nine years the AL has topped the NL in run production.

—Designated hitters on the 12 American League teams combined to hit 227 home runs, nearly five times the number of homers hit in 1972 by AL pitchers and pinch-hitters combined, 48.

—While pitchers and pinch hitters batted a lowly .169 in the American League in 1972, designated hitters combined for a .257 mark in 1973. And not having an "automatic out" in the line-up almost certainly helped the other hitters, though this can't be measured.

The DH rule allows a manager to designate one hitter prior to a game to bat in place of the pitcher each time the pitcher is due up. The rule, adopted by the American League following the 1972 season in an effort to perk up the game's offense, produced striking results in another area, one overlooked by most baseball experts when the rule first was proposed: there were 12 pitchers in the American League who won 20 games or more.

That's the highest number of 20-game winners in one league in modern times. The previous high was 10, by the National League in 1901 and the American in 1907, 1920 and 1971. While 12 American Leaguers reached the 20-game plateau, only one National Leaguer made it, Ron Bryant of San Francisco.

"With the designated hitter rule, you go with your starting pitchers longer," explained Dick Williams, manager of the AL West Division champion Oakland A-s, who had three 20-game winners, Jim "Catfish" Hunter, Ken Holtzman and Vida Blue.

Blitz Worked On By Stanford Grid Team

STANFORD (UPI)—Stanford, a team with a fine passing attack, weak running and young offensive line, has been facing a lot of blitz tactics this year.

TREVINO TALKS Ggolf

Clip Your Claws

By LEE TREVINO

My wife, Claudia, whom I call Clyde, has fingernails like Fu Manchu's. They're long and pretty, but they bother her when she plays golf.

She won't cut 'em off, and I don't make her nervous enough to bite 'em. But everything's just fine since I had her club grips built up.

Most women players either have their nails too long or their grips too small. The result is the same: their nails dig into their palms. Then their hands become tender and they don't hold the club as firmly as they should.

The best golfers, women and men, trim their nails close. Jack Nicklaus' are so short that he can't pick up a pin without a magnet.

So if your claws are showing, your golf has to suffer. I don't mean to sound like a male chauvinist pig (is that a sassy Mexican?), but if you're scratching out a living as a secretary, you can't do it with long nails. And you can't play decent golf with sore hands caused by long nails. Larger grips will end that. Usually, a woman's grip on the club is too dainty, anyway. They need to grasp the club firmly. You're trying to clout that ball, not caress it. As I tell Clyde, that comes later.

Amateur Sports Bill Sent Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate yesterday sent amateur athletic reform legislation back to its Commerce Committee to work out some objections before a floor vote.

The action followed stinging denunciations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) by two of the bill's strongest proponents.

Under the recommitment motion, the committee cannot return the legislation for floor action until at least Nov. 8.

The bill would establish a U.S. Sports Board to charter amateur athletic associations in the country, create a foundation to give $50 million in matching grants to promote amateur sports, and provide for a special investigation of amateur sports.

Both Sens. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., and Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., assailed the NCAA for its opposition to the bill.

Tunney said the NCAA had sent letters to all college coaches and presidents saying the bill would federalize amateur sports, and asking them to lobby against it.

Tunney added that the bill specifically exempts intercollegiate and interscholastic sports.

He said virtually every senator had been approached by the coaches to oppose the bill.

"The coaches and the university presidents didn't read the legislation," Tunney said. "They just followed the dictates of the NCAA."

Cook leveled his ire against Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, and suggested the coaches and NCAA officials should not be lured by his stand.

"They ought to realize what an idiot Mr. Byers is and they ought to summarily fire him," Cook said during the floor debate.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., noted that Byers was a constituent, and objected to Cook's remark. Cook said he would not erase the comment from the record, but would apologize to Byers if he owed him one.

Browns' Receiver Found Guilty Of A Pot Charge

Combined AP & UPI

Sentencing was continued until Richardson appears in South Euclid Municipal Court for three traffic violations stemming from a three-car accident last Aug. 12 here. No trial date was set on the traffic charges and the maximum penalty for marijuana possession is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Police found the marijuana in Richardson's car when he was arrested. The veteran National Football League player did not dispute police testimony that he admitted the marijuana belonged to him. Richardson said he got the marijuana from a teammate while they were in Los Angeles for a game against the Rams earlier the day he was arrested.

Richardson said he admitted to possessing the marijuana because if he said it was not his, the entire Browns team would have been under suspicion.

More Football

LAGUNA HILLS — Football Hall of Fame coach Bernie Bierman, 79, who guided four University of Minnesota teams to national championships during the depression years of 1934, 1936, 1940 and 1941, was resting in guarded condition today after suffering a heart attack.

Bierman was taken to the intensive cardiac care unit at the South Coast community hospital in South Laguna after being stricken yesterday.

Basketball

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Veteran guard and team captain Freddie Lewis, 29, was placed on waivers by the Indiana Pacers yesterday about two hours after the American Basketball Association team denied Lewis was being waived.

Tennis

LOS ANGELES — Holland's Tom Okker, winner of the recent Tam International Open at Chicago, has increased his earnings for the year to $100,250, becoming the fifth tennis player this year to go over the $100,000 mark.

Stan Smith continues to lead the list with $176,375, according to the Association of Tennis Professionals, followed by Ilie Nastase ($112,650), Arthur Ashe ($104,675), Jimmy Connors ($101,450) and Okker.

Hockey

MONTREAL — Bob Plager of the St. Louis Blues is under indefinite suspension by the National Hockey League until the club can provide league President Clarence Campbell with a suitable guarantee that the rugged defenseman will avoid further misconduct.

Plager was suspended "for physically interfering with the game officials in carrying out their duties and threatening physical violence to the referee" during an exhibition game at Brantford, Ont., between the Blues and the Pittsburgh Penguins Sept. 29. Plager shoved referee Andy Van Hellemond during a bench-clearing incident.

Auto Racing

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Charlie Glotzbach yesterday set a qualifying record of 158.730 miles per hour to capture the front row starting spot for Sunday's $166,600 National 500.

Run Production Up In A.L. Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Run production rose dramatically in American League baseball in 1973, and proponents of the designated hitter rule point to that innovation as the major reason for the increase.

—The over-all batting average in the American League was .259, a sharp increase over the .239 mark of a year ago. The NL average, by comparison, was .254 — making 1973 the first time in 10 years the AL has had a higher over-all average than the NL, which does not have the designated htiter rule.

—An average of 8.6 runs were scored by both teams in a 1973 American League game. This is a marked rise over the AL averages of 7.7 and 6.9 runs per game for the past two years, is ahead of the NL 1973 mark of 8.3 and is only the second time in nine years the AL has topped the NL in run production.

—Designated hitters on the 12 American League teams combined to hit 227 home runs, nearly five times the number of homers hit in 1972 by AL pitchers and pinch-hitters combined, 48.

—While pitchers and pinch hitters batted a lowly .169 in the American League in 1972, designated hitters combined for a .257 mark in 1973. And not having an "automatic out" in the line-up almost certainly helped the other hitters, though this can't be measured.

The DH rule allows a manager to designate one hitter prior to a game to bat in place of the pitcher each time the pitcher is due up. The rule, adopted by the American League following the 1972 season in an effort to perk up the game's offense, produced striking results in another area, one overlooked by most baseball experts when the rule first was proposed: there were 12 pitchers in the American League who won 20 games or more.

That's the highest number of 20-game winners in one league in modern times. The previous high was 10, by the National League in 1901 and the American in 1907, 1920 and 1971. While 12 American Leaguers reached the 20-game plateau, only one National Leaguer made it, Ron Bryant of San Francisco.

"With the designated hitter rule, you go with your starting pitchers longer," explained Dick Williams, manager of the AL West Division champion Oakland A-s, who had three 20-game winners, Jim "Catfish" Hunter, Ken Holtzman and Vida Blue.

Blitz Worked On By Stanford Grid Team

STANFORD (UPI)—Stanford, a team with a fine passing attack, weak running and young offensive line, has been facing a lot of blitz tactics this year.

Rancho, Petaluma In Openers

Petaluma and Rancho Cotate high school players will be marked men, as champions always are, when they open defense of their respective football titles this weekend.

Petaluma will meet Santa Rosa in a North Bay League game tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Durst Field in Petaluma, while Rancho will host El Molino of Forestville in its new Rohnert Park stadium Saturday at 1 p.m.

Non-league games in Sonoma find Tomales at St. Helena, 8 p.m. tomorrow; St. Vincent of Petaluma at Willits, 8 p.m. Saturday; and Casa Grande of Petaluma hosting Fort Bragg at Durst Field, 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Petaluma won the NBL with a 7-0 record last year and went 8-1 overall, and this season is 2-0 after beating Drake and ending Rancho's 18-game losing streak. The Trojans were idle last week. They face a Santa Rosa squad which fumbled 13 times in a 27-0 loss to Analy of Sebastopol which reduced its record to 0-2.

Rancho is 1-1 after rebounding to trounce Ukiah last week, 28-7. The Cougars meet an El Molino bunch with a string single-wing offense which ground out 298 yards last weekend (269 on the ground) but a porous defense which yielded 310 yards in a 34-26 win over Jefferson of Daly City.

Tomales carries an 0-3 record into its last tuneup before the Braves open defense of their North Central League II title next week against St. Vincent.

Rancho is 1-1 after rebounding to trounce Ukiah last week, 28-7. The Cougars meet an El Molino bunch with a string single-wing offense which ground out 298 yards last weekend (269 on the ground) but a porous defense which yielded 310 yards in a 34-26 win over Jefferson of Daly City.

Tomales carries an 0-3 record into its last tuneup before the Braves open defense of their North Central League II title next week against St. Vincent.

It's Time Again For 'One Big Give'

It's the "one big give."

Stressing that message, the Marin County United Crusade will start its residential canvass this week end, seeking to collect $41,000 toward a total county goal of $190,500.

The annual United Crusade fund campaign has become such a familiar fixture that many people no longer think much about it — or what it does.

What it does in Marin County is help support the Red Cross, Big Brothers, Boy Scouts, Marin City Boys' Club, Camp Fire Girls, Catholic Social Service, Catholic Youth Organization, Center Point, Family Service Agency, Girl Scouts, Jewish Community Center, Jewish Family Service, Legal Aid Society, Marin Association for Mental Health, Marin Child Development Center, Marin Open House, Marin Suicide Prevention, San Anselmo-Fairfax Children's Center, St. Vincent's School for Boys, Sunny Hills, Marin Volunteer Bureau, YMCA and YWCA.

THAT'S QUITE a list. And while almost anyone might find some organization on the list which he objects to or feels doesn't need his help, he's also sure to find others that he can wholeheartedly support and which he knows need his help.

The United Bay Area Crusade allocations board, made up of volunteers who give the equivalent of at least a whole month's work to the task, tries to spread the money around fairly among all of them. And it doesn't rely on promises; it checks on results.

To help support these organizations, the Marin United Crusade asks for $41,000 from the residential campaign, $23,500 from the professional field, $19,500 from educators, $23,000 from retail businesses, $14,000 from local governments, $30,500 from the advance gifts drive (principally given by large donors), and $39,000 from commerce and industry (the area where the plant manager tells the employees, "Boys, you should all give" — though some of them probably know why more intimately than he does).

THE CRUSADE has had its ups and downs. Until a few years ago, the Marin Crusade was largely autonomous. Then it was merged with the United Bay Area Crusade under the theory that the Bay Area is so filled with commuters that the only fair way to divide up the money was to put it all in one pool.

That merger brought some mistakes with loss of local control, and some recriminations. For several years, the Crusade fell short of its annual goals — and some of the most worthy organizations suffered.

A reorganization two years ago restored more local control, and Marin United Crusade leaders report much better response under the present setup. They're hoping to reach or exceed that $190,500 goal — part of an overall $17,500,000 goal of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Yes, most of the Crusade agencies will be around some time during the year with fund-raising campaigns of their own. But the share of their support provided by the Crusade often makes the difference of whether they will still be in existence to put on their own drives. Because it is the "one big give."

Suit Against Governor Ignores Opponents' Acts

By EARL G. WATERS

The suit filed against Governor Reagan alleging the misuse of state funds in connection with the tax limitation initiative may not be just a political ploy designed to embarrass the governor and defeat the ballot proposal.

But it would be far easier to think otherwise had it not been brought by the head of the California Teachers Association. It would be even more creditable if it had included in the suit all of the spending of tax dollars which has been done by those in opposition to the measure.

THERE HAS BEEN a growing tendency on the part of those in public office to use tax dollars in the pursuit of political ambitions, the promotion of, or opposition to, ballot propositions and tax schemes.

Probably the worst offenders of all have been the school officials, who have been waging campaigns for local tax overrides and school bonds. Not far behind have been others in education seeking to influence the electorate on statewide tax issues and educational bonding.

In most recent years the lawmakers have joined in the use of taxpayers' money to promote the candidacies of aspirants as well as their own re-election. Some have even used state employees and tax dollars in the support or opposition of ballot issues.

So, to single out the governor's efforts in behalf of his tax limitation program is to ignore all that has been going on before as well as what opponents to the plan are now doing.

IF ONE TAKES the position that whatever someone else may have done does not excuse the governor if he has misused state funds, then one must examine what is alleged.

The suit charges the governor created a Tax Reduction Task Force in 1972, using state funds for that purpose. It is a matter of record that he did.

But the purpose was to develop a tax plan to present to the legislature. And that certainly is the governor's job, his responsibility, and a proper use of state funds.

It was not until after the legislature had summarily rejected his plan, not even taking the time to study it, that he opted to put the measure on the ballot to permit the people to decide the issue.

It now becomes a matter of judgment as to when his obligation as the state's chief executive to recommend tax measures to the legislature ceased and the efforts became something different. Even then it is a judgment question as to whether the governor is justified in spending state money to bring the issue to the voters, the legislature having failed to act with reasonableness.

BUT IF THE POINT is reached where use of state funds in this effort is improper, what about the expenditures which have been made under Speaker Bob Moretti to oppose the proposal?

Not only did Moretti insure the defeat of the governor's legislation, he has turned all guns at his power to defeating the initiative. In this he has used the legislative analyst and his staff as well as the staff of the Assembly Office of Research to develop opposition arguments.

The fine line that may differentiate the chief executive's responsibilities is not so fine with the legislature. It's business is clearly that of lawmaking, not to promote or oppose ballot measures or otherwise expend tax dollars in political campaigns.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

I have known a vast quantity of nonsense talked about bad men not looking you in the face. Don't trust that idea. Dishonesty will stare honesty out of countenance any day in the week, if there is anything to be got by it. — Charles Dickens.

There is no mean work, save that which is sordidly selfish; no irreligious work, save that which is morally wrong; in every sphere of life the post of honor is the post of duty. — Edwin Hubbel Chapin.

ERWIN D. CANHAM:

U.S. Faces Needless Constitutional Dilemma

This is the day of the unthinkable.

A constitutional "dilemma," as the attorney general calls it, which no one could have conceived a few months ago, confronts the United States.

Over the head of the man first in line of succession for the presidency hang grave but unproved criminal charges.

Over the head of the President hang criminal charges, also basically unproved, and other ethical issues against many closest associates upon whom he put the greatest reliance. Much of the responsibility for their actions, as the President has himself said, falls back upon him.

The whole situation, the fact that accusations could have serious status in the criminal courts, suggest the gravest doubt over the credibility and authority of the American executive.

To comtemplate that such a situation should drag out for months or even for years is an imperative challenge to the system itself. Something must be done about it.

IT IS RIGHT and proper for the accused individuals to seek vindication. But how and when can these issues be adjudicated? And what should be done in the meantime?

If these events had taken place at lower levels of government, or in the affairs of a private institution, the customary pattern would be for the accused individuals either to resign or be suspended until the issues were clarified.

Apparently some such course has been discussed at the highest levels for the vice-president, and so far rejected. If the president has discussed his own position in such ultimate terms with anybody outside his family circle we do not know of it.

The method of adjudication for "high crimes and misdemeanors" as defined by the Constitution is impeachment by the House of Representatives and Judgment by the Senate, presided over by the chief justice.

Naturally this process has come to be regarded as a disgrace and scandal. It need not be. Impeachment is merely accusation, the same thing as indictment. It may be the only way to obtain adjudication.

THE HANDLING of lesser accusations of crimes is much more obscure. Vice-President Agnew contends that the Constitution "bars a criminal proceeding of any kind — federal or state, county or town — against a president or vice-president while he holds office."

Many lawyers believe the issue is not so clear. The language in the Constitution may merely mean that impeachment does not prevent prosecution for other charges, whether before, after or without impeachment.

Indeed, it prescribes that the president, the vice president, and "all civil officers of the United States," are to be removed by impeachment.

The clause "all civil officers," extends to many others, including members of Congress and federal judges. Many of them have been prosecuted and punished in recent years without the question of impeachment arising.

AT ANY RATE, very great clouds hang over the chief magistracy of the United States. They are infinitely more serious than any problems that have afflicted the presidency and the nation before. They cannot be fancied away.

As things look now, decisive stages will come in the courts. Once more we are being shown that ultimate power in the American government rests with the judiciary and cannot be overruled successfully by either the executive or the legislative branch.

Only constitutional amendment can change the built-in power of the courts.

Congress remains manifestly unwilling to exercise its impeachment power. But if the Supreme Court orders the president to do something which he refuses to do, the Congress can no longer stand aside.

That point need not be reached. Indeed, at every stage of the Watergate matter so far, there have been available ways of settling matters which have been rejected. The president, for example, could voluntarily have permitted the parts of his tapes bearing on criminal matters to be read by responsible officials.

Now the impasse continues, the impossible keeps on happening.

ART BUCHWALD

Reason For Our Problems: Time Machine's Gone Haywire

WASHINGTON — Americans are groggy from keeping up with all the things happening to their government in the past year. So far, the people being blamed for this are the press, overzealous aides in the Nixon administration, the Justice Department and the Senate Watergate committee.

But Teebold Ratameyer, a computer expert, has another theory. He thinks the Time Machine is out of synchronization. He feels that unless someone gets it back in order we will never be able to sort out our troubles.

"AS FAR AS I KNOW," he told me, "the Time Machine was working perfectly up until the election. Nixon received his mandate and the machine had been programmed to give us a peace with honor soon afterward. But then someone fed Watergate into the machine and it's been acting erratically ever since."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, for one thing, this is the first time in history that you've had gasoline rationing after a war was over. In fact it was only after we stopped fighting that we had shortages of any kind."

"It does sound haywire," I admitted.

"Now look at Watergate. The Time Machine was programmed for a scandal in Nixon's administration . . . every administration must have at least one. But Watergate produced a dozen, plus two constitutional crises in one year."

"Two?"

"That's correct. You have the question of the President being forced to give up his tapes, and you have the question of whether a vice president can be indicted for a crime before he's impeached. In the past, the Time Machine has only given us one constitutional crisis every 20 years."

"MAYBE SOMEONE has speeded up the machine," I suggested.

"That's a possibility," Ratameyer said. "It might explain the rate of inflation. We know that we must expect a certain amount of inflation every year, but what's been happening in the last six months is ridiculous. Only a Time Machine that's gone completely berserk could allow prices to increase at the rate they have."

"Do you think the Democrats have been messing with the Time Machine to make Nixon look bad?"

"I doubt it," said Ratameyer. "They're just as much victims of it as the Republicans. Here they have the greatest political scandal in the history of the nation, and they don't even know what to do with it. Anyone who could fix a Time Machine would be bright enough to have a plan."

"I must admit your theory has some validity."

"THE TIME MACHINE is not only out of whack politically, but it's also out of whack socially. More people are getting divorced than are getting married this year."

"That in itself is a constitutional crisis," I said.

"We've gone to the moon, but we can't heat our homes. And the higher the standard of living gets in this country, the more chance you have of choking to death."

"What can we do?"

"Someone has got to get to the Time Machine and repair it. We've got to put it back in working order before it gets to all of us."

"But who could do it?" I asked.

"It's really a job for Superman."

"Why not?"

"I called him," said Ratameyer, "but he told me he doesn't make house calls."

Hurricane Flora ripped through Haiti and headed for Cuba and the Bahamas.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 4, 1953

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Beware of the gent who keeps saying that "you can't take it with you." He's probably trying to take it with him.

Money is the root of all inflation. Which in turn is the excuse for most of our taxation.

One reason inflation is so successful is that folks are making money faster than Washington can print it.

These days there doesn't seem to be much use in trying to manage your finances. It's simpler to let the administration manipulate 'em.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Varied Resentments Close Door To Nixon-Kissinger Policy

NEW YORK — The drama of Henry Kissinger as the new secretary of state is summed up in this polyglot city with its complexities of race, color and creed. With the largest Jewish population of any metropolis in the world, New York is the focus of the opposition to what can with considerable accuracy be called the key to the Nixon-Kissinger policy.

As he put it in his opening address, that is the building of constructive relations with the Soviet Union. The door that must be unlocked if this relationship is to go forward is the granting of most-favored nation treatment and Export-Import Bank credits to the Soviet.

With feeling on this score so intense in Congress, the likelihood of its happening is remote. It is not only the conviction of the Jews that their fellow religionists are being repressed and denied the right of emigration to Israel, coupled with the reaction of civil libertarians at the treatment of dissidents, but the widespread belief that in the wheat and now the cotton deal the United States was outsmarted.

WITH THE SENATE virtually certain to follow the lead of the House in adopting the Jackson-Vanik amendment shutting the door on trade concessions to the USSR, the road ahead looks rocky for Kissinger. With detente out the window, the policy of the Soviet Union can harden. Hardening can even mean the replacement of Leonid Brezhnev as Communist party boss by a tough Kremlin faction secretly opposed to his opening to the West.

In that prospect are historical ironies so grim, so somber, as to be without parallel. The courage of the dissidents, Andrei Sakharov, the distinguished physicist, and Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the novelist, is of a kind that those of us living in a relatively open society cannot appreciate. They and others of lesser fame are defying the all-powerful apparatus of a police state and thereby courting exile in Siberia, prison camp, or worse.

They argue that by granting concessions the United States can only encourage the jailers in their repression.

But the other side of the coin, and it is the case Kissinger makes, is that by coexistence and a gradual interchange the excesses of a totalitarian state will be ameliorated. With the door shut, this group argues, the repression of both the Jews and the dissidents will toughen, with a return to something like the Stalinist era.

LAST YEAR 32,000 Russian Jews emigrated to Israel. This aroused the fury of the Arabs, who charged that Russia was deliberately abetting the buildup of the Jewish state. Hostile comment has come from a variety of sources in the Arab world.

Another consequence was the need for greatly expanded aid from American Jewry to finance the settlement of the new immigrants. On Sept. 8 Prime Minister Golda Meir made a telephone appeal to leaders of the Israeli bond drive, meeting in Washington, for larger funds to house and train the new arrivals.

When Prime Minister Meir was last in Washington, Kissinger, sitting in on a meeting with President Nixon, said to her, "You cannot ask us to dictate a change in the domestic laws of a sovereign power." In her re-election campaign she has resisted the right wing in refusing to give public support for the Jackson-Vanik amendment. But the need for American dollars is urgent.

THE IMPLICATIONS are far-reaching. Suppose the Kremlin should yield to demands for the emigration of 250,000 Jews, at the same time ceasing house arrests and other harassments in specific instances. What then of the Ukrainians, the Uzbeks, Lithuanians, the Latvians who want out? In what was once Lithuania, Catholics have demonstrated for religious freedom in the face of armed soldiery.

These emigrants, should they by some remote chance be free to emigrate, could not go to Israel. And it is hard to imagine the United States or any other western power reducing immigration quotas to take in large numbers.

Adding fuel to the fire of hostility toward the Soviet Union is the belief, or so members of Congress report, that the upsurge in food prices is due in part to the big Russian wheat deal. No more of that, their constituents are writing. The disillusion is with the way the administration has bungled the economy, with inflation through the roof. That could put a period to the Nixon initiatives in foreign policy and, in the end, spell isolationism.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Children Entitled To 'Reality Of Life'

"Things have come to a sorry pass" when efforts to bring the reality of life, both good and bad, to our children are so blindly halted. Life is not all bliss, and our children should have access to information about the possible outcomes of drug abuse in order to help them decide to avoid that possibly sick and sordid way of life, or, end to life.

I refer, of course, to your 1 Oct. editorial re "Go Ask Alice." When I have children I will definitely have them read this book as a part of their basic education, as many of our friends' children have and who have chosen for themselves not to try drugs.

My other point is, "Where is freedom of the press?" You certainly have a right to criticize "Go Ask Alice" as a printed work. But, as I have no right to stop you from criticizing it, you have no right to "ban" that book. Look around you and see what happens to the many "innocents" who didn't read realistic material about drugs, or other self-destructive things in the "real world".

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

It's Time Again For 'One Big Give'

It's the "one big give."

Stressing that message, the Marin County United Crusade will start its residential canvass this week end, seeking to collect $41,000 toward a total county goal of $190,500.

The annual United Crusade fund campaign has become such a familiar fixture that many people no longer think much about it — or what it does.

What it does in Marin County is help support the Red Cross, Big Brothers, Boy Scouts, Marin City Boys' Club, Camp Fire Girls, Catholic Social Service, Catholic Youth Organization, Center Point, Family Service Agency, Girl Scouts, Jewish Community Center, Jewish Family Service, Legal Aid Society, Marin Association for Mental Health, Marin Child Development Center, Marin Open House, Marin Suicide Prevention, San Anselmo-Fairfax Children's Center, St. Vincent's School for Boys, Sunny Hills, Marin Volunteer Bureau, YMCA and YWCA.

THAT'S QUITE a list. And while almost anyone might find some organization on the list which he objects to or feels doesn't need his help, he's also sure to find others that he can wholeheartedly support and which he knows need his help.

The United Bay Area Crusade allocations board, made up of volunteers who give the equivalent of at least a whole month's work to the task, tries to spread the money around fairly among all of them. And it doesn't rely on promises; it checks on results.

To help support these organizations, the Marin United Crusade asks for $41,000 from the residential campaign, $23,500 from the professional field, $19,500 from educators, $23,000 from retail businesses, $14,000 from local governments, $30,500 from the advance gifts drive (principally given by large donors), and $39,000 from commerce and industry (the area where the plant manager tells the employees, "Boys, you should all give" — though some of them probably know why more intimately than he does).

THE CRUSADE has had its ups and downs. Until a few years ago, the Marin Crusade was largely autonomous. Then it was merged with the United Bay Area Crusade under the theory that the Bay Area is so filled with commuters that the only fair way to divide up the money was to put it all in one pool.

That merger brought some mistakes with loss of local control, and some recriminations. For several years, the Crusade fell short of its annual goals — and some of the most worthy organizations suffered.

A reorganization two years ago restored more local control, and Marin United Crusade leaders report much better response under the present setup. They're hoping to reach or exceed that $190,500 goal — part of an overall $17,500,000 goal of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Yes, most of the Crusade agencies will be around some time during the year with fund-raising campaigns of their own. But the share of their support provided by the Crusade often makes the difference of whether they will still be in existence to put on their own drives. Because it is the "one big give."

SACRAMENTO SCENE

By EARL G. WATERS

The suit filed against Governor Reagan alleging the misuse of state funds in connection with the tax limitation initiative may not be just a political ploy designed to embarrass the governor and defeat the ballot proposal.

But it would be far easier to think otherwise had it not been brought by the head of the California Teachers Association. It would be even more creditable if it had included in the suit all of the spending of tax dollars which has been done by those in opposition to the measure.

THERE HAS BEEN a growing tendency on the part of those in public office to use tax dollars in the pursuit of political ambitions, the promotion of, or opposition to, ballot propositions and tax schemes.

Probably the worst offenders of all have been the school officials, who have been waging campaigns for local tax overrides and school bonds. Not far behind have been others in education seeking to influence the electorate on statewide tax issues and educational bonding.

In most recent years the lawmakers have joined in the use of taxpayers' money to promote the candidacies of aspirants as well as their own re-election. Some have even used state employees and tax dollars in the support or opposition of ballot issues.

So, to single out the governor's efforts in behalf of his tax limitation program is to ignore all that has been going on before as well as what opponents to the plan are now doing.

IF ONE TAKES the position that whatever someone else may have done does not excuse the governor if he has misused state funds, then one must examine what is alleged.

The suit charges the governor created a Tax Reduction Task Force in 1972, using state funds for that purpose. It is a matter of record that he did.

But the purpose was to develop a tax plan to present to the legislature. And that certainly is the governor's job, his responsibility, and a proper use of state funds.

It was not until after the legislature had summarily rejected his plan, not even taking the time to study it, that he opted to put the measure on the ballot to permit the people to decide the issue.

It now becomes a matter of judgment as to when his obligation as the state's chief executive to recommend tax measures to the legislature ceased and the efforts became something different. Even then it is a judgment question as to whether the governor is justified in spending state money to bring the issue to the voters, the legislature having failed to act with reasonableness.

BUT IF THE POINT is reached where use of state funds in this effort is improper, what about the expenditures which have been made under Speaker Bob Moretti to oppose the proposal?

Not only did Moretti insure the defeat of the governor's legislation, he has turned all guns at his power to defeating the initiative. In this he has used the legislative analyst and his staff as well as the staff of the Assembly Office of Research to develop opposition arguments.

The fine line that may differentiate the chief executive's responsibilities is not so fine with the legislature. It's business is clearly that of lawmaking, not to promote or oppose ballot measures or otherwise expend tax dollars in political campaigns.

ERWIN D. CANHAM:

U.S. Faces Needless Constitutional Dilemma

This is the day of the unthinkable.

A constitutional "dilemma," as the attorney general calls it, which no one could have conceived a few months ago, confronts the United States.

Over the head of the man first in line of succession for the presidency hang grave but unproved criminal charges.

Over the head of the President hang criminal charges, also basically unproved, and other ethical issues against many closest associates upon whom he put the greatest reliance. Much of the responsibility for their actions, as the President has himself said, falls back upon him.

The whole situation, the fact that accusations could have serious status in the criminal courts, suggest the gravest doubt over the credibility and authority of the American executive.

To comtemplate that such a situation should drag out for months or even for years is an imperative challenge to the system itself. Something must be done about it.

IT IS RIGHT and proper for the accused individuals to seek vindication. But how and when can these issues be adjudicated? And what should be done in the meantime?

If these events had taken place at lower levels of government, or in the affairs of a private institution, the customary pattern would be for the accused individuals either to resign or be suspended until the issues were clarified.

Apparently some such course has been discussed at the highest levels for the vice-president, and so far rejected. If the president has discussed his own position in such ultimate terms with anybody outside his family circle we do not know of it.

The method of adjudication for "high crimes and misdemeanors" as defined by the Constitution is impeachment by the House of Representatives and Judgment by the Senate, presided over by the chief justice.

Naturally this process has come to be regarded as a disgrace and scandal. It need not be. Impeachment is merely accusation, the same thing as indictment. It may be the only way to obtain adjudication.

THE HANDLING of lesser accusations of crimes is much more obscure. Vice-President Agnew contends that the Constitution "bars a criminal proceeding of any kind — federal or state, county or town — against a president or vice-president while he holds office."

Many lawyers believe the issue is not so clear. The language in the Constitution may merely mean that impeachment does not prevent prosecution for other charges, whether before, after or without impeachment.

Indeed, it prescribes that the president, the vice president, and "all civil officers of the United States," are to be removed by impeachment.

The clause "all civil officers," extends to many others, including members of Congress and federal judges. Many of them have been prosecuted and punished in recent years without the question of impeachment arising.

AT ANY RATE, very great clouds hang over the chief magistracy of the United States. They are infinitely more serious than any problems that have afflicted the presidency and the nation before. They cannot be fancied away.

As things look now, decisive stages will come in the courts. Once more we are being shown that ultimate power in the American government rests with the judiciary and cannot be overruled successfully by either the executive or the legislative branch.

Only constitutional amendment can change the built-in power of the courts.

Congress remains manifestly unwilling to exercise its impeachment power. But if the Supreme Court orders the president to do something which he refuses to do, the Congress can no longer stand aside.

That point need not be reached. Indeed, at every stage of the Watergate matter so far, there have been available ways of settling matters which have been rejected. The president, for example, could voluntarily have permitted the parts of his tapes bearing on criminal matters to be read by responsible officials.

Now the impasse continues, the impossible keeps on happening.

Reason For Our Problems: Time Machine's Gone Haywire

WASHINGTON — Americans are groggy from keeping up with all the things happening to their government in the past year. So far, the people being blamed for this are the press, overzealous aides in the Nixon administration, the Justice Department and the Senate Watergate committee.

But Teebold Ratameyer, a computer expert, has another theory. He thinks the Time Machine is out of synchronization. He feels that unless someone gets it back in order we will never be able to sort out our troubles.

"AS FAR AS I KNOW," he told me, "the Time Machine was working perfectly up until the election. Nixon received his mandate and the machine had been programmed to give us a peace with honor soon afterward. But then someone fed Watergate into the machine and it's been acting erratically ever since."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, for one thing, this is the first time in history that you've had gasoline rationing after a war was over. In fact it was only after we stopped fighting that we had shortages of any kind."

"It does sound haywire," I admitted.

"Now look at Watergate. The Time Machine was programmed for a scandal in Nixon's administration . . . every administration must have at least one. But Watergate produced a dozen, plus two constitutional crises in one year."

"Two?"

"That's correct. You have the question of the President being forced to give up his tapes, and you have the question of whether a vice president can be indicted for a crime before he's impeached. In the past, the Time Machine has only given us one constitutional crisis every 20 years."

"MAYBE SOMEONE has speeded up the machine," I suggested.

"That's a possibility," Ratameyer said. "It might explain the rate of inflation. We know that we must expect a certain amount of inflation every year, but what's been happening in the last six months is ridiculous. Only a Time Machine that's gone completely berserk could allow prices to increase at the rate they have."

"Do you think the Democrats have been messing with the Time Machine to make Nixon look bad?"

"I doubt it," said Ratameyer. "They're just as much victims of it as the Republicans. Here they have the greatest political scandal in the history of the nation, and they don't even know what to do with it. Anyone who could fix a Time Machine would be bright enough to have a plan."

"I must admit your theory has some validity."

"THE TIME MACHINE is not only out of whack politically, but it's also out of whack socially. More people are getting divorced than are getting married this year."

"That in itself is a constitutional crisis," I said.

"We've gone to the moon, but we can't heat our homes. And the higher the standard of living gets in this country, the more chance you have of choking to death."

"What can we do?"

"Someone has got to get to the Time Machine and repair it. We've got to put it back in working order before it gets to all of us."

"But who could do it?" I asked.

"It's really a job for Superman."

"Why not?"

"I called him," said Ratameyer, "but he told me he doesn't make house calls."

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 4, 1963

The office of Sen. Clair Engle said that an earthquake fault penetrated the bedrock of the Bodega Head site on which Pacific Gas and Electric Co. proposed to build a nuclear power plant.

Hurricane Flora ripped through Haiti and headed for Cuba and the Bahamas.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 4, 1953

San Rafael had its hottest October day in 12 years as the temperature reached 92 degrees.

A grand slam home run by Mickey Mantle featured a New York Yankees' 11-7 rout of the Brooklyn Dodgers for the Yanks' third World Series win.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Beware of the gent who keeps saying that "you can't take it with you." He's probably trying to take it with him.

Money is the root of all inflation. Which in turn is the excuse for most of our taxation.

One reason inflation is so successful is that folks are making money faster than Washington can print it.

These days there doesn't seem to be much use in trying to manage your finances. It's simpler to let the administration manipulate 'em.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Varied Resentments Close Door To Nixon-Kissinger Policy

NEW YORK — The drama of Henry Kissinger as the new secretary of state is summed up in this polyglot city with its complexities of race, color and creed. With the largest Jewish population of any metropolis in the world, New York is the focus of the opposition to what can with considerable accuracy be called the key to the Nixon-Kissinger policy.

As he put it in his opening address, that is the building of constructive relations with the Soviet Union. The door that must be unlocked if this relationship is to go forward is the granting of most-favored nation treatment and Export-Import Bank credits to the Soviet.

With feeling on this score so intense in Congress, the likelihood of its happening is remote. It is not only the conviction of the Jews that their fellow religionists are being repressed and denied the right of emigration to Israel, coupled with the reaction of civil libertarians at the treatment of dissidents, but the widespread belief that in the wheat and now the cotton deal the United States was outsmarted.

WITH THE SENATE virtually certain to follow the lead of the House in adopting the Jackson-Vanik amendment shutting the door on trade concessions to the USSR, the road ahead looks rocky for Kissinger. With detente out the window, the policy of the Soviet Union can harden. Hardening can even mean the replacement of Leonid Brezhnev as Communist party boss by a tough Kremlin faction secretly opposed to his opening to the West.

In that prospect are historical ironies so grim, so somber, as to be without parallel. The courage of the dissidents, Andrei Sakharov, the distinguished physicist, and Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the novelist, is of a kind that those of us living in a relatively open society cannot appreciate. They and others of lesser fame are defying the all-powerful apparatus of a police state and thereby courting exile in Siberia, prison camp, or worse.

They argue that by granting concessions the United States can only encourage the jailers in their repression.

But the other side of the coin, and it is the case Kissinger makes, is that by coexistence and a gradual interchange the excesses of a totalitarian state will be ameliorated. With the door shut, this group argues, the repression of both the Jews and the dissidents will toughen, with a return to something like the Stalinist era.

LAST YEAR 32,000 Russian Jews emigrated to Israel. This aroused the fury of the Arabs, who charged that Russia was deliberately abetting the buildup of the Jewish state. Hostile comment has come from a variety of sources in the Arab world.

Another consequence was the need for greatly expanded aid from American Jewry to finance the settlement of the new immigrants. On Sept. 8 Prime Minister Golda Meir made a telephone appeal to leaders of the Israeli bond drive, meeting in Washington, for larger funds to house and train the new arrivals.

When Prime Minister Meir was last in Washington, Kissinger, sitting in on a meeting with President Nixon, said to her, "You cannot ask us to dictate a change in the domestic laws of a sovereign power." In her re-election campaign she has resisted the right wing in refusing to give public support for the Jackson-Vanik amendment. But the need for American dollars is urgent.

THE IMPLICATIONS are far-reaching. Suppose the Kremlin should yield to demands for the emigration of 250,000 Jews, at the same time ceasing house arrests and other harassments in specific instances. What then of the Ukrainians, the Uzbeks, Lithuanians, the Latvians who want out? In what was once Lithuania, Catholics have demonstrated for religious freedom in the face of armed soldiery.

These emigrants, should they by some remote chance be free to emigrate, could not go to Israel. And it is hard to imagine the United States or any other western power reducing immigration quotas to take in large numbers.

Adding fuel to the fire of hostility toward the Soviet Union is the belief, or so members of Congress report, that the upsurge in food prices is due in part to the big Russian wheat deal. No more of that, their constituents are writing. The disillusion is with the way the administration has bungled the economy, with inflation through the roof. That could put a period to the Nixon initiatives in foreign policy and, in the end, spell isolationism.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

The Delights Of Traveling Aren't All In Guide Books

Spain has the same energy crisis as everyone else, but this was not the reason for the smile.

Spanish cars, mostly little Seats, which are Fiats built in Barcelona, have gasoline gauges which indicate the tanks are full when the needles are at the bottom, not the top. Thus, the service station man explained, the correct gesture in Spain is a downward pointed finger.

I don't know about other travelers, but for this one, it's little experiences like this that stay in the mind long after the statues, paintings, cathedrals and parks fade from view.

IT'S LIKE SPEAKING no Italian and walking through your first Italian city with a New York girl who also speaks only English and some Spanish. When she claimed she knew we weren't lost because the street sign was the same one as the street we had started on, I was almost convinced.

Or I was until I took another look at the sign and saw the big arrow running through it. "Senso unico," sure enough, turned out to mean "one-way" and the arrow means the same thing as around here.

Traveling is also teaching a jolly German man at an international breakfast table that the kind of eggs he is eating are called "sunnyside up" in America.

In fact, after he decided we weren't putting him on, he laughed all through breakfast and is probably now home telling his friends about his funny experience with the Americans.

It's also finding that "NBC television" is a phrase that, when used by a joking Italian who is pointing his movie camera around a group on a ship deck, can be understood in almost any language.

TRAVELING IS ALSO listening with disbelief as a loud New York voice proclaims that all the Goya, Velasquez and El Greco paintings in the Prado in Madrid are fakes and the real ones are stored in a vault somewhere.

Then there was the man who was told that he should push "C" for "comedor" in the Spanish hotel to get to the dining room floor. "Where's that 'Commodore Room?'" he asked loudly to noncomprehending ears.

Travel is also asking a guide in Florence if Americans tend to complain the most. "Well, they do complain a lot," he said with a slight smile, "but the English, who are very polite when we show them around and never say a word, tend to go home and write the president of our company, trying to get us fired."

"Nothing ever changes either way," he concluded.

Nothing ever changes much here either, or at least not for the good, but I still don't understand why we can't have sidewalk cafes in Marin.

Skelton Plans To Wed Again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Comedian Red Skelton disclosed yesterday that he plans to wed Lothian Toland, a Palm Springs, Calif., sportswoman.

Skelton, 60, who is performing at a hotel nightclub here, said the marriage will take place "in the next few days."

Press, President Subject Of Talk

The relationship between the press and the President will be discussed by former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger at 8 p.m. Oct. 23 in the College of Marin gymnasium.

Salinger directed John F. Kennedy's presidential campaign and was press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Murderer Of Oakland Policemen Is Sought

OAKLAND (UPI) — Crime technicians today examined bullet fragments for clues to the sniper who shot the pilot of a police helicopter which crashed, killing him and his patrolman observer.

Police Chief Charles Gain said yesterday that the fragments were taken from the head of Wendell Troyer, 47, a 22-year veteran of the Police Department and the holder of a commercial helicopter instructor's license.

Troyer died from the bullet wound while the observer, David G. Guider, 26, a decorated Vietnam war combat veteran who joined the force four years ago, died from burns suffered when the chopper crashed Tuesday night in a parking lot.

"Officer Troyer apparently was in shock and hemorrhaging from the wound and was unable to land the helicopter," a police sergeant said. "Guider died of thermal burns due to carbon monoxide poisoning."

Gain, calling the deaths of the two officers a "double murder," ordered all available detectives into the case.

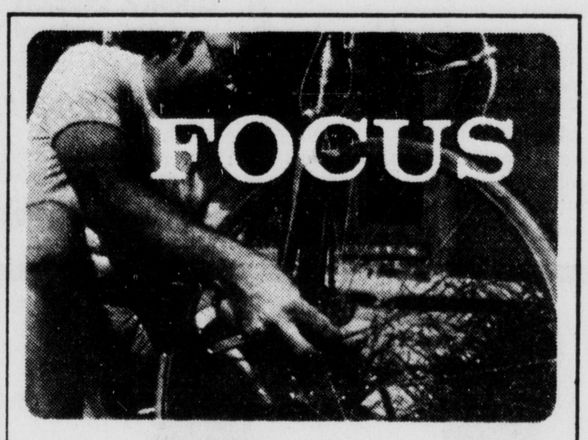
This was the second ground attack on a law enforcement chopper in the San Francisco Bay Area in 11 months.

A San Mateo County Sheriff's deputy was wounded by a juvenile with a high-powered rifle in November. His deputy observer took control of the copter and landed it safely near Stanford University. The sniper was arrested and convicted.

The Oakland Police Department craft crashed a short distance from a restaurant and near busy Foothill Boulevard. Several cars were damaged.

Witnesses said they heard several loud reports just before the crash.

Guider, son of a retired Piedmont, Calif., police chief, was a volunteer observer, replacing a regular officer who was off duty. In April he was commended for his work after a Navy jet fighter-bomber crashed in nearby Alameda, killing 11 persons.



Technological Marvel

Weight for weight, a person on a bicycle uses energy more efficiently than any other moving creature or machine — about four times more efficiently, for example, than a horse or jet transport. The tubular steel bike frame is able to support about 10 times its weight, a strength ratio not approached by any bridge, auto, or airplane. Its tubular design principles played a big part in early airplane construction. In encouraging the development of such things as ball bearings and pneumatic tires and good roads, the bike helped prepare the way for the automobile.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By MARY LEYDECKER

The Delights Of Traveling Aren't All In Guide Books

The attendant in a Mallorcan gas station just laughed when our American friend said, "fill 'er up", gesturing heavenward with his forefinger.

Spain has the same energy crisis as everyone else, but this was not the reason for the smile.

Spanish cars, mostly little Seats, which are Fiats built in Barcelona, have gasoline gauges which indicate the tanks are full when the needles are at the bottom, not the top. Thus, the service station man explained, the correct gesture in Spain is a downward pointed finger.

I don't know about other travelers, but for this one, it's little experiences like this that stay in the mind long after the statues, paintings, cathedrals and parks fade from view.

IT'S LIKE SPEAKING no Italian and walking through your first Italian city with a New York girl who also speaks only English and some Spanish. When she claimed she knew we weren't lost because the street sign was the same one as the street we had started on, I was almost convinced.

Or I was until I took another look at the sign and saw the big arrow running through it. "Senso unico," sure enough, turned out to mean "one-way" and the arrow means the same thing as around here.

Traveling is also teaching a jolly German man at an international breakfast table that the kind of eggs he is eating are called "sunnyside up" in America.

In fact, after he decided we weren't putting him on, he laughed all through breakfast and is probably now home telling his friends about his funny experience with the Americans.

It's also finding that "NBC television" is a phrase that, when used by a joking Italian who is pointing his movie camera around a group on a ship deck, can be understood in almost any language.

TRAVELING IS ALSO listening with disbelief as a loud New York voice proclaims that all the Goya, Velasquez and El Greco paintings in the Prado in Madrid are fakes and the real ones are stored in a vault somewhere.

Then there was the man who was told that he should push "C" for "comedor" in the Spanish hotel to get to the dining room floor. "Where's that 'Commodore Room?'" he asked loudly to noncomprehending ears.

Travel is also asking a guide in Florence if Americans tend to complain the most. "Well, they do complain a lot," he said with a slight smile, "but the English, who are very polite when we show them around and never say a word, tend to go home and write the president of our company, trying to get us fired."

"Nothing ever changes either way," he concluded.

Nothing ever changes much here either, or at least not for the good, but I still don't understand why we can't have sidewalk cafes in Marin.

Skelton Plans To Wed Again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Comedian Red Skelton disclosed yesterday that he plans to wed Lothian Toland, a Palm Springs, Calif., sportswoman.

Skelton, 60, who is performing at a hotel nightclub here, said the marriage will take place "in the next few days."

Press, President Subject Of Talk

The relationship between the press and the President will be discussed by former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger at 8 p.m. Oct. 23 in the College of Marin gymnasium.

Salinger directed John F. Kennedy's presidential campaign and was press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Murderer Of Oakland Policemen Is Sought

OAKLAND (UPI) — Crime technicians today examined bullet fragments for clues to the sniper who shot the pilot of a police helicopter which crashed, killing him and his patrolman observer.

Police Chief Charles Gain said yesterday that the fragments were taken from the head of Wendell Troyer, 47, a 22-year veteran of the Police Department and the holder of a commercial helicopter instructor's license.

Troyer died from the bullet wound while the observer, David G. Guider, 26, a decorated Vietnam war combat veteran who joined the force four years ago, died from burns suffered when the chopper crashed Tuesday night in a parking lot.

"Officer Troyer apparently was in shock and hemorrhaging from the wound and was unable to land the helicopter," a police sergeant said. "Guider died of thermal burns due to carbon monoxide poisoning."

Gain, calling the deaths of the two officers a "double murder," ordered all available detectives into the case.

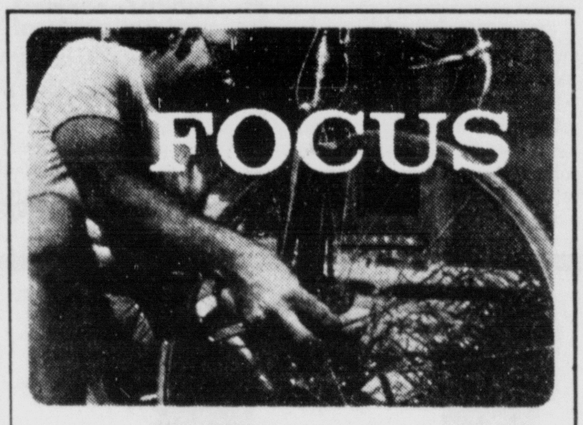
This was the second ground attack on a law enforcement chopper in the San Francisco Bay Area in 11 months.

A San Mateo County Sheriff's deputy was wounded by a juvenile with a high-powered rifle in November. His deputy observer took control of the copter and landed it safely near Stanford University. The sniper was arrested and convicted.

The Oakland Police Department craft crashed a short distance from a restaurant and near busy Foothill Boulevard. Several cars were damaged.

Witnesses said they heard several loud reports just before the crash.

Guider, son of a retired Piedmont, Calif., police chief, was a volunteer observer, replacing a regular officer who was off duty. In April he was commended for his work after a Navy jet fighter-bomber crashed in nearby Alameda, killing 11 persons.



Technological Marvel

Weight for weight, a person on a bicycle uses energy more efficiently than any other moving creature or machine — about four times more efficiently, for example, than a horse or jet transport. The tubular steel bike frame is able to support about 10 times its weight, a strength ratio not approached by any bridge, auto, or airplane. Its tubular design principles played a big part in early airplane construction. In encouraging the development of such things as ball bearings and pneumatic tires and good roads, the bike helped prepare the way for the automobile.

DO YOU KNOW — Which pioneering aviators began as bicycle makers?

Japan Failing To Remedy Frustrations

Marinite Cites Three Major Problem Areas

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Japanese society is growing increasingly frustrated because it lacks three vital "safety valves," reports a Marinite fresh from a visit there with national leaders.

Melville Owen of Ross, long active in state and national Republican politics, cited the lack of a referendum or initiative process, judges free from political pressure and periodic reapportionment of legislative districts.

The results, he told the Independent-Journal the other day, are to stymie public action when the government fails to solve a problem, a subservient judiciary and disproportionate voting strength by the leading party.

He added that since the U.S. occupation helped shape modern Japan, "we can take some of the blame" for these weak links.

The 41-year-old patent attorney also was struck by the severity of pollution. "They're on the brink of disaster, whereas we're headed for the brink," he said.

Owen declared he came back "convinced we have got to take stronger steps faster to pevent us from arriving at the same place they are. We have to do it within our government system; I am satisfied we can."

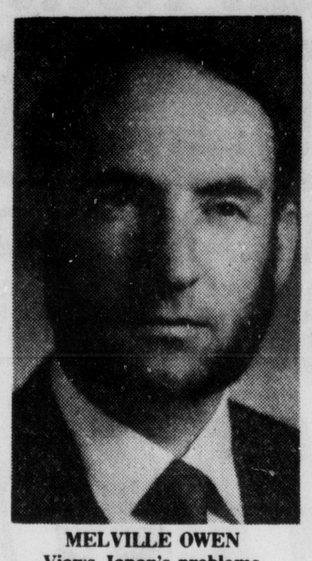
Owen, who toured Japan two weeks with a 16-member delegation from the American Council of Young Political Leaders, observed "the tolerance level of the Japanese people is much higher than that in the United States. That is why they have been able to go to the crisis point."

He suggested the greater tolerance springs from the society's "homogeneous nature. It's follow the leader. The leader is not an individual, however, it's a kind of collective thinking at the top.

"They are such a homogeneous people that everybody kind of moves together rather than have head-on confrontations. They like to avoid the confrontation, and will avoid it by trying to go around and find a concensus."

But, because the government moves slowly and tends to ignore the people's problems, he added, the communists are increasing their popularity. "They have real grass roots politics. They get down and take care of the man's problems and wax the ward heelers who listen to the problems and cure them for the individual who can't get to the big government."

Owen also found pollution and



MELVILLE OWEN

population pressures have inspired a growing movement to slow down the economy. With the skyrocketing gross national product "just running off the chart," he said, Japan will consume roughly 25 per cent of the world's annual production of resources within a decade unless they slow down.

He also found, however, that business leaders still "have not come to recognize or accept this slow-down philosophy. It's going to be very difficult because the Japanese have come to see success in terms of bigger and better, as we have in the United States."

He asked business leaders which of them would be willing to be the first to cut back on profits and sales, "and there weren't any volunteers." Such a change also will run into the "cozy relationship between the national government and industry," he said, adding the tie is "one reason they have been so successful in exporting and business in general."

Owen also found growing friction between Japan and the U.S. "We're now to the point where we understand each other," he said, "but the trouble is what we're saying is, 'Our best interest is not necessarily your best interest.'

"They are going to have to consider what is their best interest now, as we do, and it's going to cause friction. It's going to cause problems which cannot be avoided no matter how much you talk or how long you talk. Adjusting to the fact we are equal nations now also makes relations difficult."

Owen said differences between the two nations were widened by what the Japanese call the "Nixon shocks" — the President's trip to China "without warning to anyone in Japan," tariffs on textile exports to the U.S., and the U.S. embargo on soybean exports.

The last hit hardest, he said. 'The woman and the man in the street saw the United States, on which they had relied for so long, holding back soybeans, the staple of their diet." (The U.S. grows about 95 per cent of the world crop.)

"This brought home to them the fact that, 'Maybe we'd better look out for ourselves more.'

"The same thing is going to be true in oil. We are going to be competing for oil. They need it even more than we," since only about 2 per cent of their domestic supply is domestic. Roughly 90 per cent of all their raw materials must be imported.

Only a very small minority wants to rearm, Owen reported. Most like the present disarmament policy because it has allowed them to put all of their energy into nonmilitary production. "They've been well served by the umbrella the U.S. has provided," he said.

Detailing his remarks about "safety valves," Owen said the lack of a referendum or initiative deprives the people of the power to do as Californians did last year when they approved coastal controls the Legislature had refused to enact. (Owen is on the North Central Coast Regional Commission.)

As for judges, they frequently are replaced at the end of short terms, thus are subject to political pressure. "You won't see any basic decisions by the courts contrary to the national government policy," he said.

Because there is no requirement to reapportion legislative districts, the ruling Liberal Democratic Party controls the House of Representatives although the party is supported by slightly less than a majority of the voters. Rural districts are weighted disproportionately.

The delegation was led by Spencer Oliver, the Democratic National Committee official tapped at Watergate for two weeks after the first bug was found in the telephone of Lawrence F. O'Brien. Oliver watched the Watergate hearings live every night in Japan until 5:30 a.m., Owen said, adding "He was looking pretty dragged out by the time we were through."

Owen said such trips are "a long-term investment in relations with these countries" because of the personal ties formed with rising leaders. The program also has counterparts in the Soviet Union, Finland, Great Britain, and Belgium.

Owen became active in the council last year when he hosted a delegation of nine Diet members.

Zoologists Hit Desert Opening

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Fourteen University of California zoologists have criticized Interior Department plans to open up large areas of Southern California desert to off-road recreational vehicles.

The scientists said Tuesday trail motorcycles, jeeps and similar recreational vehicles cause serious damage to the ecology of the desert.

The bureau of land management has announced plans to open up 1,800 square miles of desert to off-road vehicles.

The group of zoologists called for a "major educational and policing program" to prevent further damage to the flora and fauna of the desert regions.

Japan Failing To Remedy Frustrations

Marinite Cites Three Major Problem Areas

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Japanese society is growing increasingly frustrated because it lacks three vital "safety valves," reports a Marinite fresh from a visit there with national leaders.

Melville Owen of Ross, long active in state and national Republican politics, cited the lack of a referendum or initiative process, judges free from political pressure and periodic reapportionment of legislative districts.

The results, he told the Independent-Journal the other day, are to stymie public action when the government fails to solve a problem, a subservient judiciary and disproportionate voting strength by the leading party.

He added that since the U.S. occupation helped shape modern Japan, "we can take some of the blame" for these weak links.

The 41-year-old patent attorney also was struck by the severity of pollution. "They're on the brink of disaster, whereas we're headed for the brink," he said.

Owen declared he came back "convinced we have got to take stronger steps faster to pevent us from arriving at the same place they are. We have to do it within our government system; I am satisfied we can."

Owen, who toured Japan two weeks with a 16-member delegation from the American Council of Young Political Leaders, observed "the tolerance level of the Japanese people is much higher than that in the United States. That is why they have been able to go to the crisis point."

He suggested the greater tolerance springs from the society's "homogeneous nature. It's follow the leader. The leader is not an individual, however, it's a kind of collective thinking at the top.

"They are such a homogeneous people that everybody kind of moves together rather than have head-on confrontations. They like to avoid the confrontation, and will avoid it by trying to go around and find a concensus."

But, because the government moves slowly and tends to ignore the people's problems, he added, the communists are increasing their popularity. "They have real grass roots politics. They get down and take care of the man's problems and wax the ward heelers who listen to the problems and cure them for the individual who can't get to the big government."

Owen also found pollution and population pressures have inspired a growing movement to slow down the economy. With the skyrocketing gross national product "just running off the chart," he said, Japan will consume roughly 25 per cent of the world's annual production of resources within a decade unless they slow down.

He also found, however, that business leaders still "have not come to recognize or accept this slow-down philosophy. It's going to be very difficult because the Japanese have come to see success in terms of bigger and better, as we have in the United States."

He asked business leaders which of them would be willing to be the first to cut back on profits and sales, "and there weren't any volunteers." Such a change also will run into the "cozy relationship between the national government and industry," he said, adding the tie is "one reason they have been so successful in exporting and business in general."

Owen also found growing friction between Japan and the U.S. "We're now to the point where we understand each other," he said, "but the trouble is what we're saying is, 'Our best interest is not necessarily your best interest.'

"They are going to have to consider what is their best interest now, as we do, and it's going to cause friction. It's going to cause problems which cannot be avoided no matter how much you talk or how long you talk. Adjusting to the fact we are equal nations now also makes relations difficult."

Owen said differences between the two nations were widened by what the Japanese call the "Nixon shocks" — the President's trip to China "without warning to anyone in Japan," tariffs on textile exports to the U.S., and the U.S. embargo on soybean exports.

The last hit hardest, he said. 'The woman and the man in the street saw the United States, on which they had relied for so long, holding back soybeans, the staple of their diet." (The U.S. grows about 95 per cent of the world crop.)

"The same thing is going to be true in oil. We are going to be competing for oil. They need it even more than we," since only about 2 per cent of their domestic supply is domestic. Roughly 90 per cent of all their raw materials must be imported.

Only a very small minority wants to rearm, Owen reported. Most like the present disarmament policy because it has allowed them to put all of their energy into nonmilitary production. "They've been well served by the umbrella the U.S. has provided," he said.

Detailing his remarks about "safety valves," Owen said the lack of a referendum or initiative deprives the people of the power to do as Californians did last year when they approved coastal controls the Legislature had refused to enact. (Owen is on the North Central Coast Regional Commission.)

As for judges, they frequently are replaced at the end of short terms, thus are subject to political pressure. "You won't see any basic decisions by the courts contrary to the national government policy," he said.

Because there is no requirement to reapportion legislative districts, the ruling Liberal Democratic Party controls the House of Representatives although the party is supported by slightly less than a majority of the voters. Rural districts are weighted disproportionately.

The delegation was led by Spencer Oliver, the Democratic National Committee official tapped at Watergate for two weeks after the first bug was found in the telephone of Lawrence F. O'Brien. Oliver watched the Watergate hearings live every night in Japan until 5:30 a.m., Owen said, adding "He was looking pretty dragged out by the time we were through."

Owen said such trips are "a long-term investment in relations with these countries" because of the personal ties formed with rising leaders. The program also has counterparts in the Soviet Union, Finland, Great Britain, and Belgium.

Owen became active in the council last year when he hosted a delegation of nine Diet members.

Zoologists Hit Desert Opening

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Fourteen University of California zoologists have criticized Interior Department plans to open up large areas of Southern California desert to off-road recreational vehicles.

The scientists said Tuesday trail motorcycles, jeeps and similar recreational vehicles cause serious damage to the ecology of the desert.

The bureau of land management has announced plans to open up 1,800 square miles of desert to off-road vehicles.

The group of zoologists called for a "major educational and policing program" to prevent further damage to the flora and fauna of the desert regions.
